Columbia Rolling Mill Shats Down.

The Columbia rolling mill shats Down.

The Columbia rolling mill uses about eventy tons of coal daily in the manufac-ure of all grades of merchantable iron, em-loying about two hundred workmen to do be various kind of work. Owing to the the various kind of work. Owing to the strike of the men in the bituminous coal regions, the supply of coal necessary to the running of the mill cannot be obtained and this industry has been compelled to shut down for the time being. By the striking of men in other places our town is indirectly effected, as can be seen by the shutting down of the Columbia rolling mill.

Miss Minnie Cogley, of Lancaster, who known as M'lle Titiens, queen of the cornet, is visiting her brother, Joseph L. Cogley, foreman of the Columbia Herald. Miss ast night a dance was held at Millersville, which was very largely attended, especially by the fast women and men of Lancaster. The back lines were kept very busy nearly all night and did a The back lines were kept very busy nearly all night and did a thriving trade. At the party a young countryman named Williams swore he could whip any man from Lancaster and made a great noise. After a time he was knocked out by a young fellow from town, who struck him in the face. It was not long until Williams renewed hostilities and began throwing stones, one of which passed through the window of a hack owned by Patrick Cherry. Another young man had a finger broken by hitting some one on the mouth. The whole affair was very lively.

Double Funeral of Soldiers. The funeral of George Saltzgaber, the soldier who died on Wednesday, was to have oldier who died on Wednesday, was to have aken place to-day, but has been postponed until Sunday when the funeral of James Jonas also will be held. Both men will be buried by the Grand Army committee in the Lancaster cometery. And the members of both posts will strend. Jones will be buried from his residence on Mulberry street, and Saltzgaber from A. C. Rote's undertaking establishment. At the latter place both funerals will meet and proceed to the cemetery together.

The Salvationista.

The Salvation Army had quite a crowd to hear them pray and sing in Centre Square last evening. There were but two members of the regular army present, but one convert made a twenty-word speech. Several of the members were ever in York attending a hig meeting there. That town seems to be a great field. A big army is kept stationed there, while that of Lancaster is very weak.

ny pages of Thomas Jofferson's "Notes irginia" are devoted to the discussion of Buffon's statements, first, that the animals common to both continents are smaller, in the new world; second, that those which are peculiar to the new are on a smaller scale third, that those which have been demon strated in both have degenerated in America, and, fourth, that on the whole America exhibits fewer species. He successfully over-throws the specious and superficial arguments of the eloquent French naturalist, who, it must be remembered, was at this time considered the highest authority living in such matters.

"Not content with this," continued Mr. Goode, "when minister plenipotentiary to Europe a few years later, be forced Buffon himself to admit his error. The circumstances shall be related in the words of Daniel Webster, who was very fond of relating this anecdote: "It was a dispute in relation to the moose, and in one of the circles of the beaux-exprits in Paris, Mr. Jefferson fought for some characteristics in the formation of the mimal which Buffon stoutly denied. Whereupon Mr. Jefferson wrote from Paris to General John Sullivan, then residing in Durham, N. H., to procure and send him the whole frame of a moose. The General was no liftle astonished at a request be ed with Mr. Jefferson, he knew he must have sufficient reason for it; so he made a hunting party of his neighbors, and took the field. They captured a moose of unusual proportions, stuffed it to the bone, and sent the skeleton to Mr. Jefferson, at a cost of £50 sterling. On its arrival Mr. Jefferson invited Button and some other savants to a supper at his house and exhibited his dear-bought specimen. Buffon immediately acknowledged his error. "I should have consulted you, monsieur," he said, "before publishing my book on natural history, and then I should have been sure of my facts.","

From the Detroit Free Press.

The other day a farmer-looking man en tered a Griswold street bank with a check which he handed to the paying-teller, and which was at once returned to him with the remark :

"No money here." "What !" Are you out of money ?" asked the caller.

"Oh, no. I mean that the man who name is signed there has no money on de-posit here."
"Is that so? Why, he's one of the nicest men I ever met."
"That may be, but his check isn't worth anything here."
"Isn't, eh?" Why, he boarded with me a whole month, and we think everything of him. Maybe he's got money here and it's misiald somewhere."

"The check is worthless, sir. He never had a dollar on deposit here."

"Never did, eh." I den't see how it comes about. When I asked him for his board money he wrote this check out as quick as money he wrote this check out as quick as wink. You couldn't pay it and trust him for the money, eh?"

The teller looked at him in a sorrowful way for a moment, and the man continued:
"You'd better do that way. I hate to hurt his feelings, you know!"
"Say, that check is worthless, and I don't want you to bother me!" exclaimed the

"You don't, eh? Well, I won't; but I "You don't, eh? Well, I won't; but I think it's a mean sort of a trick on your part. When a man goes and writes a check right off like he did it ought to be paid. When I go home and he asks me if I got the money do you 'spose I'm going to tell him what you've said? Not much! I don't hurt nobody's feelings, if I can help it."

"T. D." writes as follows to the editor of the Auburn Advertiser: "In all the translations of the Hebrew Bible into English, viz, the version of King James, and the Oxford and American Bible Society editions of the same, in the Douay versions of the Roman Catholic church, as well as in the new versions of the English and American divines, occurs the common oversight or blunder in stating in the Second Chronicles blunder in stating in the Second Chronicles that King Ahariah was forty and two years old on his accession to the throne of Judea at the death of his father, who died at the age of 40, thus making King Ahariah two years older than his father. See Second Chronicles, xxi., 20, and xxii., 1. See also Second Kings viii., 25, where his age is correctly stated. It is certainly a literary of the second Kings viii. rectly stated. It is certainly a literary curectly stated. It is certainly a literary cu-riosity that with all the comparison, colla-tion, study and controversy about readings and meanings of the text, greater in regard to the Bible than in regard to any other book, all its learned scholars, commentators and controversialists should have in common overlooked an absurd blunder such as this. Although in the original manuscript, and a manifest blunder, it should not have been allowed to pass without correction, it being the Word of God."

A SPIRITUALIST CREMATED

Thomas Gales Forster's Remains Incinerated at the Crematorium.

The body of Thomas Gales Forster, a spiritualist lecturer, who died in Baltimore, Md., on Wednesday, arrived in this city last evening, at 6:45, and was at once taken to the Lancaster crematorium and prepared for in-Lancaster crematorium and prepared for incineration. The remains were accompanied to this city by John N. Gardner, H. W. Jackson and Joseph Clemens, of Baltimore, and J. H. Jennings, of Washington, D. C.

The body was placed in the retort at nine o'clock this morning, and the ashes will not be removed until five this evening.

Mr. Forster was born in North Caroline, and was at the time of his death about 70 years of age. In his early manhood he was an officer under Gen. Sam Houston in the war between Texas and Mexico. He was editor of a St. Louis paper. He has been an invalid for ten years past, and it, was at his own request he was cremated.

Scarcity of Soft Coal. On account of the searcity of soft coal i number of industrial establishments in Reading and vicinity have been compelled Reading and vicinity have been compelled to close, throwing a large number of men out of employment. Samuel R. Seyfert's rolling mill closed and 200 men are idle. Sternbergh's rolling mill suspended, but received a small supply of coal which will keep the mill running for a few days. If the strike in the bituminous coal region been tinues, the Reading iron works and other large concerns may be compelled to shut down.

What It Costs.

One who has figured it all up says two drinks of whisky cost a pound and a half of beelsteak ; two beers, a dinner of mutton chops; one cocktail, an egg plant or head of cauliflower. "What will you take, Charlie" stands for a nice cyster stew for the whole family on Sunday morning. "Set'em up again!" means sugar in the house for a Juicy Beef and Sermons. An English clergyman, the brother of G. W. Wills, the dramatist, is opening cheap butcher shops for the poor in London. He appears to think that there are times when a der and juicy cut of beef is more useful to a man than a sermon, and a great many peo-ple agree with him.

Sale of Horses. Samuel Hess, auctioneer, sold at public sale on Thursday, for C. K. Rohrer, in Manheim borough, seventeen head of Illinois horses at an average price of $305.38 per head. Two out of the lot brought $508.

Felt in the Harnes To-day about noon a mule belonging to ohn Musser, James street, took sick and fell to the ground while harnessed, near Bilckenderier's foundry. As the mule was unable to rise, it was rolled upon a sled and hauled back to its stable.

Suit Against the Teacher Withdrawa Christian Leeking, who brought suit against Cyrus Gibble, teacher of the Rome school, for cruelly whipping his boy, withdrew the suit by Gibble paying the costs.

Fenton Harris was prosecuted before Alderman Barr last evening by Benjamin G. Smith for assault and battery and surety of the peace. The face of Benjamin bore evidence of his having received a beating. The parties are brothers-in-law. The accused entered ball for a hearing. Entered Ball.
