HAGER & BROTHER.

Leap to the highest hight of spring,
And trill thy sweetsat note,
Bird of the heavenly plumes and twinkling And silver toned throat!

Sing, while the maple's deepest root That lights its buds. Blow, blow thy tender Thy reed of rich desire!

Breathe in thy syrinx Freedom's breath, Quaver the fresh and true, Dispet this lingering wintry mist of death And charm the world anew!

Thou first, sky-dipped spring bud of song, whose heavenly cestasy Foretells the May while yet March winds are strong, Fresh faith appears with thee! Ah! how sweet, how magically rich,

Through filmy splendor blows,
The hopeful voice, set to the promise pitch
Of melody yet unknown:

Oh! land of mine (where hope can grow And send a deeper root With every spring), hear, heed the free bird Hope's charmed flute!

Ab ' who will hear, and who will care, And who will heed thy song.
As prophecy, as hope, as a promise rare,
Budding to bloom ere long:

From swelling bulbs and sprouting seed, Sweet sap and fragrant dew, And human hearts, grown doubly warm at Leaps answer strong and true

We see, we hear (thou liberty-loving thing, That down spring winds dost float).
The promise of thine empyrosa wing.
The hope that floods thy throat!

—Maurice Thompson.

The mismuations had been plain and unmistakable, but they were utterly unfounded. He was a better riend to the man with whom other members were trying to bring him into conflict than they were, and their efforts would not succeed.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Curious to think that desks and chairs kill people, but they do. Taken in large quantities office furniture is fatal as yellow fever. We sit and write ourselves away. Sedentary habits produce constipation; that begets dyspepsia; thenmatism and kidney trouble follow in their train and death ends the chapter. You whose lives passed over desks and in the confined at of office sought to keep Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy "always on hand for the stomach and brain.
