Address to Councils by the New Mayor.
At 12 o'clock the joint convention was called to order by President Evans. Messra. Riddle and Baumgardner were appointed a committee to inform the mayor that they were ready to meet him to administer to him the oath of office. The committee retired, and in a few moments returned with Mayor-elect Morton and Mayor Rosenmiller. The eath of office was administered to the new mayor by President Evans. Mayor Morton then read the following inaugural:

Morton then read the following mangina:

Gentlemen of the Select and Common Councils.

FELLOW CITIZENS: Called to the office of chief magistrate of our city by a majority of the electors, without solicitation upon my part, I undertake the duties of this responsible position with the earnest desire to discharge them in accordance with the laws and the best interests of the municipality and all its citizens. all its citizens.

I believe that the administration of the city

I believe that the administration of the city government is a business matter, to be conducted upon business principles, and I carnestly invoke the co-operation of councils and of all citizens who have regard for the general welfare, in my efforts 16 promote it. Without that intimate knowledge of the city government and the workings of its several departments, which experience alone can furnish me, I can only at this time announce certain principles which in my judgment should direct the administration of the municipality. From time to time, as occasion may suggestor require, and at the time designated by law, I will communicate to councils my views upon the subjects which seem to merit their attention and action.

The last annual financial statement of the city authorities makes the gratifying exhibit that the a-sets of the city aggregate $1,017,-57.56, including $22,780.43 then in the city treasury, and $249,968.06, in the sinking fund; and that the funded debt of the city was $7.36,212.02, leaving an excess of assets of $281,650.54.

The present debt of the city, including sink ing fund bonds, bears interest as tollows:

As these loans bearing the higher rate of in-terest mature or become redeemable, it will be the duty of the fiscal authorities to refund be the duty of the fiscal authorities to refund such portions of them as remain unpaid, with loans not higher than 4 per cent, which past negotiations have shown can readily be obtained by a municipality of as high credit as ours. The yearly appropriations to the sinking fund, as required by law, must be accredly maintained, without diversion of any part to any other purpose.

The past valuations of the property assessable for city purposes have shown that the constitutional limit of the city debt has been reached, beyond which it cannot be increased without consent given by popular vote. No reached, boyond which it cannot be increased without consent given by popular vote. No such expression should ever be asked except for needed permanent improvements, and then their plan and purpose should be carefully considered and fairly presented. The corrected valuations for the present year are expected to show a slight increase upon those of former years. In this event it will be for your finance committee to determine the margin, if any such exists, for an inthese of former years. In this event it will be for your finance committee to determine the margin, if any such exists, for an increase of the funded debt in connection with projected improvements of some of the most important departments of the public works. Under no circumstances would any increase of the present tax rate be tolerable; but a lair equalization of the assessments of real estate in the city is a subject to which more earnest and systematic attention should be given by the citizens.

I am very firmly of the opinion that no permanent indebtedness should be contracted for temporary purposes; that all expenditures should be limited to appropriations previously made; that the expenses of each year should be paid out of the appropriations for that year; that all debts contracted without proper authority of law are itlegal, and the city is not liable for them; that contracts made in excess of the amount prescribed by made in excess of the amount prescribed by law, without inviting proposals, are invalid and not binding upon the municipality; and that all contractors with the city should be required to perform their stipulated service. I will use all the power of my office to pre-vent and restrain illegal payments out of the city treasury.

THE WATER QUESTION

The chief concern that must engage the attention of the city government, and the one of most general interest to its citizens is our water supply, storage and distribution, and the drainage. Fortunately, owing to past improvements and efficient management, there is less ground for apprehension now than formerly of a failure of a copious supply or lack of fair distribution; but in the near future increased storage facilities must ply or lack of fair distribution; but in the near future increased storage facilities must be provided. Likewise the growing population and rapid improvement of the northern and northeastern parts of the city require the speedy construction of new means of drainage for those sections. Upon these two projects of pressing concern there should be, during the coming summer, some preliminary survey and the formulation of some well-devised and intelligent plan; upon no other basis can there be that full information and discussion which should precede the submission of such an important subject to popular vote.

THE POLICE. I will, immediately upon his confirmation, communicate to my chief of police, the regulations which I expect to control that important department of the city government. I will expect from its members discipline and a strict enforcement of law and order; asking from all citizens their co-operation in the effort to maintain these, I will promptly and summarily dismiss from the police force any member proven guilty of dereliction of any member proven guilty of dereliction of duty, whether it be in the shape of abuse of authority, negligence of duty, favoritism or personal misconduct.

Moneys appropriated for street repairs or improvements should, in my judgment, be as evenly and fairly distributed as possible, so that the taxpayers who contribute them so that the taxpayers who contribute them have their respective share and benefits. A glance at some of the macdamizing recently done for the city shows that it is not in the character of permanent improvements. The experiment in the centre of the city with Belgian block pavements justifies councils in providing for at least one new square of this street pavement every year, to be laid where the street is most used and where fronting property-holders will most liberally ald in the work.

The supply of light for the streets of the city for more than a year to come is provided for by contract recently ordered to be made. Within that time it is to be hoped that improvements in the electric system or satis-iactory arrangements with the gas company will be effected, which will enable the city at no long-deferred day to secure a permanent, uniform and well distributed service, greatly below the cost of the present contract. THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

There are reasons to believe that the efficiency of the present fire department is crippled and retarded by lack of proper apparatus. I need hardly remind you that the increased cost of securing greater efficiency and protection would be trifling, compared with the extent of the danger risked by an incomplete department. This subject should engage the attention of your bodies as soon as the committees are organized.

Renewing my engagement to communicate from time to time my views upon affairs of government, as they may become more familiar to me, and inviting the cooperation of your honorable bodies, and of all the heads of departments and appointees of the city government in the effort to secure an efficient, economical and progressive administration, I enter upon the duties of my office; in which my highest aim will be to render to the municipality the best service in my power.

in my power.

I desire to tender to my predecessor, Hon.
D. P. Rosenniller my slucere thanks for the kindness and courtesy shown me while seek ing information upon matters connected with the duties of my office.

After the reading the mayor retired. Mr. Borger made a motion that the thanks councils be extended to D. P. Rosenmilia, retiring mayor, for the efficient manner in which he had discharged his duties. The content on them adjourned.

Aft the adjournment of the convention the me bers of select council returned to their ch. aber, and the roll was called, all the mean on being present.

OLDEST OF THE CITY FATHERS.

Next to the new mayor, the most conspic nous figure in the city government and in the inaugural ceremonies of to-day was Robert A. Evans, president of select council, who has been identified with the city governother present member of it. In 1859 he was first elected to select council and has been reelected and served continuously ever since—a increased by two more when he will have finished his present term, having been again chosen and without opposition at the last February election. Frequently he has been sharply antagonized and severely cut by Republicans but he always commands a large vote from the opposition, who have about given up the idea of trying to beat him in the present state of parties here. He has often been president of councils, sometimes elected without receiving all the votes of his own party, and when not in the chair he has generally been on the finance and other important committees, In 1863 he was elected a member of the school board and has been in that Lody ever since, nearly always chairman of the finance committee. It is doubtful whether in the histor of Lancaster any individual has ever see more service in connection with its city gov ernment than Mr. Evans.

The original Evanses were of Welsh nativity, and John, the grandfather of the Lancaster family, settled on 500 acres of land in Little Britain and died there before this century was born. His wife was Jane Grubb and they had children seven, a distinguished family, of whom James, the old bank cashier and president, will be easily remembered by our citizens. His twin brother Robert, who carried on the mercantile business at the corner of Duke and East King street, was the father of Robt. A., of John J., Mrs. D. P. Locher and the other members of this branch Locher and the other members of this branch Robert A. Evans was born in this city Nov. 25, 1824, and was educated in the pri-vate schools and at Franklin college. Trained to commercial life, he entered upon it for himself and continued in it until 1833 when he established a private bank and con-tinued in it for twelve years. He was suc-ceeded by Evans, McEvoy & Co; the death of Mr. McEvoy changed the firm to R. A. Evans & Co.; and in 1871 they were suc-ceeded in turn by D. P. Locher & Sons. Mr. Evans, however, retains an office with the latter and is closely associated with its busi-ness.

He has several fine farms near the to city which he makes almost daily visitation; he is in the direction of Woodward Hill cemetery and many large enterprises, which with his private estate keep him constantly em-ployed. He is regular in his habits; an ployed. He is regular in his habits; an acute and systematic business man, and though he hews to the line in his financial transactions many institutions attest his benevoleuce. The Children's Home, Franklin & Marshall college, the Presbyterian church—of which congregation he is a trustee—have been the recipients of his generous bounty, and his last gift to the church was the old Empire bell, which was rung successfully with its new fixtures yesterday.

The newly appointed officers were sworn The newly appointed officers were sworn in at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the mayor's office. They reported at 3 o'clock at the station house, and some of the new force was at once assigned to duty. Pyle, Reilly, Rocicle and Welsh were assigned to duty on today's shift, Lewars, Leman, Wenninger, Kissenger and Beechier, will go on duty tomorrow.

This evening the members of the old city police force, who go off, will hold a ball at Miennerchor hall. The indications are that the affair will be very largely attended, and a good time is promised.

Sunday was Turnkey Shenck's last night as the official guardian of the station house.

After leaving their employ he was for a time in charge of the Reading express business at the King street station. Subsequently he worked two years for the Union transfer company of Philadelphia. For the last five years he has been employed in several of our tobacco warehouses during packing seasons. He was also night bar-tender at the Globe hotel for some time. He was in charge of the warehouse, operated by Skiles and Frey, at the corner of Duke and Chestnut streets, when notified of bis appointment. He recently lived in the Ninth ward and this spring removed to No. Il East James street, in the Sixth ward. He has always been a Democrat.

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 5.—At the conflict Saturday between the police and structure of the conflict was shed. In addition to the three officers wounded in the conflict with the strikers, one of whom has died, it turns out that one of the rioters was killed and two of them were wounded. A procisination is been issued closing all the saloons in F Worth until Wednesday. The riot is caused a large force of milita to be sent to be battery of artillery had arrived last night.

St. Louis, April 5.—The chief excitoms in St. Louis this forenoon was on the lev where 300 Knights gathered to induce teamsters who had returned to work for transfer company to desert their posts. In many cases they were successful; nearly all of the old teamsters yielded to the strikers' request and went out, as did some of the new go out.

To-day opened with resumption of business at all freight houses; but, with the exception of the Chicago, Burlington & Quivey, the strik ers succeeded in getting all the men to go out before noon. The Ohio & Mississippl, Vandalia, Louisville & Nashville, and Indianapolis & St. Louis freight houses are closed and Aothing doing further than a few clerks are on hand to receive what freight may be received. All roads are sending out. may be received. All roads are sending out trains as usual except the Chicago & Alton, the strikers not attempting to interfere. The latter road began all right, but the switch engineers quit saying they did not propose doing anything more until the strike was indicted on seven counts by the Believille grand jury, was arrested this morning and omptly gave bail in the sum of $7,000.

THE STRIKERS ENTHUSIASTIC The action of the general executive board of Knights of Labor in revoking the order to resume work causes considerable enthusi-asm not only among the strikers, but within the ranks of the order. Contributions of money are pouring in and the men are re-ceiving assurances that money will be fur-nished without stint. A prominent Knight this morning says: "Mr. Gould evidently believes he has conquered the strikers, and beaten the order. In this belief he is and beaten the order. In this belief he is assisted by reports which carefully concess the true state of affairs. However, I am prone to think that Mr. Gould will find that he has not yet taxed our resource to anything like exhaustion. We are stronger to-day than ever because the world now fully underlike exhaustion. We are stronger than ever because the world now fully up stands the case. We are fighting the battle

The Outlook From New York.
NEW YORK, April 5.—The news from Fort Worth, although of an alarming nature, dees not in the least seem to disturb the tran-quility of the Missouri Pacific officials here, and they profess to believe that there will be little or no difficulty experienced in moving

Vice Pres. Hoxie, of the Missouri Pacific, is in constant communication by wire with the office of the company, in this city, and this morning he telegraphed that everyti was quiet at Ft. Worth; seven companie state troops, and a company of artillery had arrive there from Dallas. Three trains from the South on the Missouri Pacific and two trains on the Texas Pacific moved vosterday with-out meeting with any resistance either at Fort Worth or in the country. Much anxowing to the arrival there of a large number of other strikers from other points along the line and it is feared that their appearance at the present time means trouble. The adju-tant general of the state is in command of the state troops which consist of 326 men and two pieces of artillery. THE SITUATION IMPROVING. From Parsons, Kans., Mr. Hoxie telegraphs that the situation on the road is sleadily but slowly improving and that to-day all trains were moving freely without any attempt being made to obstruct them. The best men of those who were out on the strike are specially and to-day do of plying to be re-employed, and to-day 40 of their number have been taken back. The master mechanic of the road has a surplus of applications from new men but is giving the old hands employment in preferen REPORTS FROM PARSONS.

At Parsons a general feeling of uneasiness prevails and the adjutant general has ordered the citizens of the place to organize for the protection of business so as to be prepared for any outbreak that may occur in case the militie are withdrawn or sent to the under secretary for foreign atfairs, stated that Greece had definitely declined to accept the advice of the powers, counselling her to avoid hostilities with Turkey. The government, he added, had no information which would case the militia are withdrawn or sent to the other threatened points.

JAY GOULD'S ADVICES, A dispatch from St. Louis received to-day by Jay Gould says that from appearances at that place the executive committee of Knights of Labor has come to an agreement with the local assembly leaders of the orders in St. Washington, April 5.—By a strict party vote the House committee on elections de-cided to report in favor of Weaver, the sitof time be granted for taking rebuttal testimony in the Page Pierce contest from Rhode local assembly leaders of the orders in St.

Louis, and that now the committees claim that Vice President Hoxie has not lived up to his New York agreement with them.

It was said to day by Jay Gould's representative that Mr. Hoxie would probably not consent to meet the executive committee of the Knights of Labor again to discuss the present strike, and will not consider any proposition except that which was considered at the conference held by Mr. Powderly.
Mr. Hoxie claims that he is living up to the agreement.
