released; and their investigation led to the confession by him of his part in the plot. There is no reason to doubt the story because of its improbability. It is just what might be expected. It is doing no injustice to the men who are tarred with Jay Gould's stick to believe that they will be guilty of any imaginable deceit.

The Miners' Grievances.
A committee of the Clearfield county miners have addressed to the governor a representation of their grievance in the failure to execute the laws that have been passed for their protection; and the governor, we think, will find here a far more important field of examination and a much more serious evil to correct than in the soldiers' orphans school investigation, fruitful as that has been in the discovery of negligent administration.

We have such knowledge ourselves of the situation in the Clearfield region as to be able to confidently say that all these statements are founded, at least, on fact. The wages of 40 cents per ton would be amply sufficient if the miners could obtain regular work and proper weight and fair prices at the stores. The Berwind, White company employ a great many more miners than they need, giving each but the pittance that will keep soul and body together; with the cruel intention of weakening their labor element for its better control.

Some operators probably weigh fairly and some not. All the operators obtain a percentage upon their miners' orders at the stores. The Pennsylvania railroad company is managed in the region for the benefit of the Berwind, White company, who have its operators very much by the throat all around, and are aiming for its complete control. The operators who have given the advance and resumed mining, to take the back track. They had to keep on the right side of the big concern, upon which they were dependent, having stores, and expecting droppings of various kinds from the big table.

We are pleased to note that certain judges of the supreme court of Pennsylvania who formerly travelled on free passes now pay their fare.
The constitution of the commonwealth—it must and shall be enforced.
The Harrisburg Telegraph on Saturday contained twelve pages, fifty-four columns of which were advertisements. Its news and other departments were complete, and all through the paper was very interesting.

It warns the Democratic heart to remember that now the nation, and the state and the city are under Democratic administration.
A vigorous effort is making to stir up strife between those interested in the American fund for Ireland. It will have the same success as the attempts to cause dissension in the Parnell ranks in Ireland.
GRAY'S "Elegy" was composed, revised and finished with most painstaking care and conscientiousness of form. But Mr. Lowell says some of the verses which Gray discarded from the Elegy would have made the fortune of another poet. Take for example this stanza, omitted because the writer thought it was too long a parenthesis in this place—just before the epitaph:
"Here scattered oft, the earliest of the year,
By hands unseen and unknown of violet found;
And here to build, and here to lay the stone,
And here to lay the stone, and here to lay the stone."

OVER $11,000,000 have been spent on Philadelphia's public building, but there are few who will contend that it is a thing of beauty.
A preacher of Petrolia, Pa., has had some difficulty with his flock. It will have the same result as the notice of the Erie Methodist conference some of his misdoings twelve years old, and recently the presiding elder suspended him from his charge until the next conference meeting. The committee which in March gave him a hearing sustained the charges. One of the grave charges against him was that at a children's festival, where there was a shortage of cake, the accused had remarked that "some of the members had taken the cakes with a view to covering them to their own use." The people at Petrolia are not unanimous in sustaining the findings, for a large number of them (probably those who didn't take the cake) gave him a grand supper, at which Rev. A. L. Campbell and others spoke, and gave the suspended preacher a prize of $100.

educational bill by a vote from the Southern members will should brand every one of them as a mongrel. It is the respect of the constitution as it has been taught."

EDGAR FAWCETT, author of "The Bunting Hall" and quite a variety of poems, stories and sketches is a good deal laughed at by the literati for his egotism. It is said that for "pot boilers" he writes popular tales, that appear in the weekly story papers; such tales as "Phil, the Policeman," "The Mystery of the Little Attie Room," etc., etc. He is now published under the non de plume of "Hugh Howard."

JUDGE JOHN BAXTER, circuit judge of the United States for Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky, and Tennessee, who died suddenly at the Hot Springs of Arkansas on Friday, was a distinguished lawyer, and as a judge enjoyed a high reputation for integrity. When the civil war broke out he was a practicing lawyer in Knoxville, and remained an uncompromising Union man through the whole struggle. It was before whom the telephone suit was ordered to be brought.

MISS GRACE DODGE is the granddaughter of the late William E. Dodge, to whom her grandfather left $200,000 more than to his other grandchildren because of her devotion to philanthropic work. She is the head and front of an exhibition now open in New York of which the idea is to show that children can be taught to do excellent work of various kinds without interfering with their studies and without crowding out the more profitable play. A boy of 14 took the gold medal for a carving in oak of woodcock.

DION BOUCHEAULT is the youngest old man back of the footlights, though he takes no pains to conceal his years. His head is as bald as an egg, and the fringe of hair that grows around its base is as white as snow, yet there are no wrinkles more than to his forehead. He is as straight as a man of 30, and his step is quite as elastic, and he is as bright and keen as a young boy. He wears the longest and whitest of wigs, and the lightest of trousers peeping out from beneath, and the brightest of diamonds fastens his shirt-collar, which is guillette of neck-cloth.

HENRY E. JACKSON, minister to Mexico, who has just come home on leave, returns principally to look after the bond of the recently confirmed postmaster of Atlanta, J. W. Renfro. Years ago Renfro was treasurer of Georgia. He was charged with some financial irregularity. Jackson, his friend for years, stoutly defended him. The charge was never proved, but Jackson's friendly defense was very highly prized by Renfro. Now Jackson has come all the way from Mexico to go on Renfro's bond, and he won't allow anybody outside of the Jackson family to go to it with him for $100,000, but Jackson is worth four or five times that much himself.

Some fashionable ladies are not satisfied with ready-made fashions, but must have their order; they are, however, satisfied with Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and take it regularly.
One fire burns out another's burning, and most pain suffers more to cure, but salvation is painless and certain. It costs only 25 cents.
REY. W. M. LEVINSKY, D. D., Nashville, Tenn. publicly endorses Red Star Cough Cure.

What the body receives daily a proper amount of nutrition, and expels the worn-out parts, health is the certain consequence. But by a sudden change of weather, the pores of the skin may not perform their office well, and matters are retained which should have passed away through the skin.

Attend to it Now.
Many suffering people drag themselves about with falling strength, feeling that they are slowly sinking into the grave, when by using Parker's Tonic they would find cure commencing with the first dose, and vitality and strength rapidly coming back to them.
