GOING TO DISTRICT SCHOOL Barefoot boy and little girl,

She with rosy cheeks and curis ills a forehead brown with tan, Sturdy little farmer man. Old straw hat, with broken rim, Is the least that troubles him, As the dinner pail he swings, Full of mother's choicest things.

From the shady farmhouse door, Mother watches till no more She can follow—out of sight They are gone, her heart's delight. Can you see them sitting there, On the benches hard and bare, Tired feet swinging to and fre,

Sitting at the noon of school,

By the gargling streamlet cool, Mong the brakes and bending trees, Esting up the bread and cheese! Or, with merry laugh and shout, When the boys and girls go out, Books and pencils cast away, See them jump and swing and play

Hark ! the fernie on the pane, Rap, and rap, and rap again, Rushing in, with cheeks aglow, Half reluctantly they go.

Happy, healthy girl and boy Till the warm sun's western Blant across the open door, And the hours of school are o'er Happy, healthy girl and boy,

Full of simple, careless joy, Free from tyrant fashion's rule, Going to the district school. In the busy noon of life,

Memories of these morning hours. Songs of birds and scent of flowers, Bleat of lambs and song of rill Will come sweetly o'er you still ;

And your thoughts go yearning back And your thoughts go yearning the O'er that simple oblidhood track, When the longest road you knew Was the one that led you to The schoolhouse, just a mile away, Where the birch and role held sway.

BRE HAD A WOODEN LEG

When Her Husband Drinks too Much Takes It off and Makes a Club of It, n the New York World. "Give me ten days or a month, I don't care pleaded John Hart, a tall, stout prisoner charged with intoxication, before Justice Duffy at Essex Market.

"If you do," said the prisoner's wife, a little woman, "who will do the supporting for my five children and myself? He'll be for my five children and myself? He'll be reading novels all day in the city prison and live on everything that's good."

"You don't know what you're talking about," the husband said in disgust. "We only get hash and beans for dinner and dry bread and coffee for breaktast and supper."

"That's more than me and the children would get," urged the wife. "We would probably starve."

"That's a queer request of yours," Justice

"That's a queer request of yours," Justice Duffy said to the husband. "Everybody wants to be discharged and you alone want to be locked up."

"You'd know why if you knew my wife better," bustered out the husband. "Shall I tell him, Kate." "Go ahead, I'm not afraid," she replied. "Well, sir, my wife ha-ha-has a-a-a-"— "Well, out with it," remarked Justice

Duffy.

"A wooden leg," sir, shouted the husband, getting excited, while the wife blushed. "Every time I get drunk, and I get so about three times a month, she just unfastens her leg and I get knocked around the room like a foot ball. That's why she wants me home. She's anxious to get another well at Justice Duffy discharged the husband, who waiked meekly home by his wife's side. Magazine and Newspaper.

From the Princeton Review. The periodical literature of an age is better index of its intellectual life than its books. The periodical not only samples the literary wares of the day, but is from its very nature more ex tempore in its topics and its treatment. Moreover, one of its chief func tions is to pronounce the critical judgment of the period upon its books. There never was a more accurate name for this class of publialogous to that ingenious arrangement of re-flectors outside of our windows, whereby persons living on a thoroughfare observe the whole moving procession of the streets while themselves unobserved. The newspaper (the journal proper) is the mirror of the day. The magazine of the times, in a more day. The magazine of the times, in a more extended, and yet in a more restricted sense. We go to the journal to find out what the world is doing—at least what it did do yesterday. We go the magazine for what the world is thinking, or, thinking of its thinking. In other words, the one gives us a view, and the other a review, of the time.

A Gallant Irishman Boston's streets were recently rivers of slush and practically impassable for pretty One of the prettiest, with skirts daintily raised, stood perplexed at the Comdaintily raised, stood perplexed at the Com-mon gate, ruefully eyeing the Stygian stream between the Tremont street curb-stones. Exquisite youths were helpless to aid, but a good natured laborer gailantly came to her aid with a snow-shovel, and, while a gentleman steadled her by holding her hand, the stalwart laborer lifted the shovel and carefully bore her to the other side dry-shod. "I don't believe Sir Walter Raleigh could have done that," said she, "Faith miss." was the quick rent, "and he "Faith, miss," was the quick reply, "and he was no man if the sight of your pretty face wouldn't put strength enough into his

A Dueillat's Banquet. M. Piennyi, the Hungarian duellist, has just celebrated at the town of Peath, his thirty-fifth duel by a unique banquet. Only those were invited who could prove that they had lought in six duels. Many heroes of note were present, some with faces covered with scars, others minus an ear, and others again without an eye or with two or three ingers missing. The least presentable of all the guests was a French gentleman who had lost his nose in a combat with M. Andrasay. The "six dueis" qualification was strictly adhered to, except in one instance, that of a lady who had actually killed her man.

Delicate diseases, as nervous debility and pre-mature weakness, however induced, radically cured. Send 10 cents in stamps for treatise, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 623 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Nil desperandum, never despair." Jacobs Oil absolutely cures rheumatism.

"Doctor, I can neither lay nor set. What shall I do?" "I think you had better roost," was the reply. Now if the doctor had prescribed a bottle of Salvation oil for the poor fellow rheamatism. It would have relieved his patient at once. Straw hats and linen dusters will not be so very popular as heretofore; Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, however, will be as popular as ever at 25 cents.

SUDDEN CHANGES,

If the body receives daily a proper amount of nutrition, and expels the wern-out parts, health is the certain consequence; but by a sudden change of weather, the pores of the skin may not perform their office well, and matters are retained which should have passed off by that avenue. All causes which impede insensible perspiration are fraught with danger, because matters which should have passed away through natters which should have passed away through the skin are turned again into circulation Brandreth's Pills will remove all impurities from whatever cause they may come, curing pain, inflammation and colds arising from above cause in a few hours.

SPROIAL HOTICES.

Curious to think that desks and chairs kill people, but they do. Taken in large quantities office furniture is fatal as yellow fever. We sit and write ourselves away. Sedentary habits produce constipation; that begets dyspepsis; rheumatism and kidney trouble follow in their train and death ends the chapter. You whose ityes passed over desks and in the confined air of office sought to keep Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" always on hand for the stomach and brain.

A YER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. "IT SAVED MY LIFE"

is a common expression, often heard from those who have realized, by personal use, the curative powers of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, "i cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died from lung troubles,—E. Bragdon, Falestine, Tex.

About six months ago I had a severe hemorrhage of the lungs, brought on by a distressing Cough, which deprived me of sleep and rest. I had used various cough balsams and expectorants without obtaining relief. A friend advised me to try

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I did so, and am happy to say that it helped me at once. By continued use this medicine cured my congb, and I am satisfied, sayed my life.—Mrs. E. Coburn, is second street, Lowell iffe.—Mrs. E. Coburn, is second Street, Lowell, Mass.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for over a year, and slacerely believe I should have been in my grave, had it not been for this medicine. It has cured me of a dangerous affection of the lungs, for which I had almost despaired of sver finding a remedy.—D. A. McMullen, Windsor, Provence of Ontario.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life. Two years ago I took a very severe cold, which settled on my lungs. I consulted physicians and took the remedies they prescribed, but failed to obtain relief until I began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Two bottles of this medicine completely restored my health.—Lizzie M. Allen, West Lancaster, Ohio.

A Few Facts.

Housekeepers in selecting wares for your tables, etc., especially those just buying new outfits, it is important that you select the best in the market. How embarrassing to a lady, especially if she has table pride, and what lady should not have, to find that her ware is all full of small cracks, and that grease has penetrated and made it look black and ugly.

A cause and a remedy. All semipercelain or granite ware in its biscuit state is porous. It is then covered with natural or artificial glass to prevent its penetration by liquids. This is termed glazing. The glaze must vary as it must fuse or melt according to the ware upon which it is placed.

portion to the biscuit or else it will crack or craze and produce the above result. Unequal or insufficient firing or burn-

It must also dilate or contract in pro-ing may and will sometimes produce the same results. You may, and will no doubt ask, " How then can you tell whether you are getting a good article?" Simply and only by buying those makes which experience has taught dealers to recommend as the best and take their guar-
