At Dow Postoffice, Schuylkill county, while the Wayne township supervisor was pulling down an old stone fence with which to macadamize the roads, he found several hundred dollars in silver and gold which had been stolen six or eight years ago from the house of Postmaster John Baldorif. The thief was Peter Fessler, since deceased. A lad named Augustus Helminck, aged 11 years, employed at the Reading cotton factory, was engaged on Friday in cleaning a machine called the "mule," when by some mischance the machine ran together, catch-ing the boy between the head and shouldors. The steel points of the machine lacerated his head frightfully and tore off one ear. He bled profusely and died while being conversed to the home of his parents. ABOUT EASTER EGGS.

The Large Business That a Lancaster Firm Doing This Year.

People who do not give the matter any attention have no idea of the amount of business done in Easter Eggs, and coloring in Lanca-ter. Every season the trade grows much larger. John F. Long's Sons, the well-known druggists, do an immense business in this line. They are the inventors of the Marbled Easter dyes, which re no idea of the amount of busines while Joseph Rothgable was handling a red-hot bar of iron at the rolls in the Penn-sylvania nut and bolt works, at Lebanon, it twisted from its course and around his right arm, burning the flesh from the elbow to the hand into the bone. Rothgable had a similar accident some time ago at the same place, when a hot bar twisted about his enlire body, burning him frightfully. But he was eviare put up in liquid from and are used to color any smooth surface that can be made warm such as Eggs, glass, &c. They also invented the Magic Chips, which come in packs of three colors each, and are used for work on ribbons, grasses &c. The factory of the Messrs. Long is in the econd story of their drug store, where a for of people ranging in number from sixteen to twenty-two, have been constantly at work since September making coloring. Of late a great deal of work has been done coloring glass of proclain eggs. These eggs are purchased in porceiain eggs. These eggs are purchassed in large quantities by the Longs, and, after being colored, are shipped to every part of the United States. They can be found in all the principal cities from Boston to Omaha, and as far south as New Orleans. The firm has shipped as high as New Original, The first has a support of the Messis. Long have been engaged in this branch of the business for four years, but this year they have done twice as much as any previous one. Durog the Easter season this store is an attractive place for children as well as older people. The large front windows were closed during the greater part of yesterday, as they were begreater part of yesterday, as they were or-ing fitted up for the season. Last evening they were opened and presented a beautiful appear-ance. In the windows are eggs of all kinds, from the size of a marble to that of a peck neasure. All are handsomely colored, as are the chandelier globes, bottles and in fact near-iy everything in the window. Some of the eggs are of the most expensive kind. In the middle of the north window and towering above everything else is a beautiful specimen of a blue Heron. He looks like a glant and from his bill is suspended a small package of the firm's goods. Among the things in the other window are two large eggs, which are only partially are two large eggs, which are only partially colored. In there can be seen a lot of miles, which were once white but have also been touched up with coloring. In this window are a number of white eggs which have been beauti-fully painted by hand by a young lady of this city. The windows also contains colored grasses and numerons other articles showing the style of the firm's goods. The store looks well and it is evident to all who enter that the business is very large

Ferris Bros', Country Directory in July.

BAKING POWDER. The publishers of the Lancaster city and ounty Directory, Messrs. Ferris Bros., find that some kind friend has been assuring the people of Lancaster that their county directory would not be published until fallmay be not until winter-tact is he has reli(e)s-ble information that it will never be published at all ; and of course that being the case, the which the obliging constable gave him, as well as a coat, when he arrested him, and hauled him to jail, where he now stops till thing to do, is to patronize a nice little direct trial at next week's quarter sessions. Ben was badly fooled that time and will no doubt have less confidence in any one in the future. tory, which will go at least to a few people, and will be out by the First of May sure-if every will be out by the risk of Lawy Shite in Every body keeps sober, and it doesn't rain. While appreciating the disinterested kindness of this friend, Ferris Bros. desire to assure their pa-trons that their city and county directory will be published at the earliest date consistent with accuracy and completeness, and would request them not to believe any tales about the County Directory unless the name "Ferris Bros." Is blown in the bottle. When Ferris Bros. County when a tramp who happened that way stop-ped, sat down with them, related his adven-tures, &c., and mistaking them for members of his clau, asked them which way they were travelling, east or west. They informed the familiar itinerant that the east was their objective point. He then filled his pipe and smoked it in their company, after which he departed, ignorant of the fact that he had been conversing with two of Christiana's most prominent citizens. Directory is dead, they will have the funeral notice published in the Lancaster papers. In the meantime, those who want their advertis-ing to reach the people of Lancaster county. and who want a complete city and county book will reserve their orders for Ferris Bros., whose COUNTY Directory will be ready for de

The following is the copy of a communication from a well-known Pittsburg journalist. addressed to the publisher of the paper issued in the eastern part of this state as an advocate of cremation :

Editor Lancaster Crematist

Editor Lancaster Crematist: In your useful and entertaining periodical you offer the public a great deal of valuable information on the subject of post mortem cremation. I like your ideas; I enter into them with zest and discriminative delight; I hall them as evidences of the march of pro-gress, which from the half-cooked mission-ary of the savage hurries us on to the wholly incinerated "dear departed" of the civilized American. When I am no more, I want to be disposed of by your favorite method, and have my ashes distributed among my friends in dainty little boxes of French make, on each of which shall be in-scribed something to this effect: cribed something to this effect :

How much better such an arrangement will be than that necessitated by the common plan. If my body were buried in the ordin-ary fashion the only expedient left me in order to furnish my friends with substantial and entirely personal tokens would be to have my bones resurrected and equitably dis-tributed. But this would not do. A human bone, especially when it belongs to a near and dear departed friend, is not much craved by people. If any one sent me a thigh bone, for instance, belonging to my old school-master or to the red-haired girl with whom I firted years ago, what could 1 do with How much better such an arrangemen I firted years ago, what could I do with it? Hang it up over the mantlepiece by a blue ribbon? or use it for a paper weight or hollow it out, fasten legs to it and turn it into a pen-holder? Not I. There is that within me which would make me shrink from such a mockery of the happy visions of the past. Sir, I would be constrained to have that thigh-bone decently interred and a monument erected to its memory. But should I receive a thimbleful of ashes from the oven where some dear friend was reduced to where some dear friend was reduced to his primordial elements, then would the equine be of a different tint. Those re-mains would rest confortably in any spot in my house; and I, without the faintest possibility of my thoughts reverting to the dissecting-room or the schindery, might commune in pensive silence with my dead.

Accompanying ;this expression of my sentiments on the momentous question which you so ably handle I enclose my subscrip-tions to your journal for the next 400 years Should my death occur before this term expires you may continue sending it to the man who has the most ashes. He will be my legal representative. Yours consumedly.

An Infamous Traffic. In Quebec, wholesale trading in young ad innocent girls for purposes of prestitution has come to the notice of the authorities. Disreputable houses in Chicago, New York, Bostos, and other cities in the United States have agents here who ingratiate themselves with young women and in-duce them to go to the states, where they are drawn into a life of in-famy. Their trade has been carried on to an alarming extent, sometimes 15 females being shipped in a week. The prices pid to the agents are in accordance with the looks of the girls, varying from $20 to $200. The police, government authorities and charge as the sound and a consultation over the ab-discont of the girls, varying from $20 to $200. The police, government authorities and charge as the sound and a consultation over the ab-discont of the girls, varying from $20 to $200. The poor girls left by the Grand Truck railway on Monday might, and every attempt has been made to arrest the culprit within the Canadian line. The A merican consult has been drafted for the British consult at Washington. It is stated that over filty girls have sent to one Chicago house within a year. themselves with young women and in-

Sout to Jail.

Yesterday Andrew Miller, a tramp, who was drunk, went to the house of Mr. Hershey in the Wabank road where he annoyed the milly. He was arrested and Alderman Deen mye him 30 days.

Arrested and Discharged Last evening William Eckert, of Leaman Place, gave Nathaniel Myers, who resides at Paradise, a $20 gold piece to get change at the former place. Instead of doing this Myertook a freight train and came to Lancaster. He was arrested by Officer Barnhold in the neighborhood of the Pennsylvania station, alter a telegram had been received from Leaman Place. Myers had about §9 on his person when arrested, and be said that he between when arrested, and no said that he had lost the remainder playing cards in this city. This morning Eckert came to Lancas-ter and stated to Alderman Deen that Myers' folks had arranged to make good the missing money. Myers, who was much affected and shed bitter tears, was dis-charged.

At the Opera House,

A very small andience attended the per formance at the opera house by the People's Dramatic company last evening. The play was "A Celebrated Case," and Gustavus Clark was very successful in his impersonation of Jean Renaud, and the whole com pany did well. The costumes were very fine, and it is a pity that the show was not better patronized. This evening the company appears for the last time and plays "The Streets of New York.

Calling the Salvationists Nuisances.

Representatives of the Monument assoiation have filed complaints at the station house. They claim that the meetings of the Salvation Army in Centre Square attract a large number of boys who get on the grass around the monument and damage it. They desire the nuisance abated and suggest that the meetings of the Salvation Army be held in a room, if the boys can't be kept off the Generosity of the Vanderbilts. The late William H. Vanderbilt's great gift of $500,000 to the New York College of Physicians and Surgeons was an example which his children are generously tollowing. Not long ago Mrs. Sloane and her husband made ample provision for establishing a model maternity hospital on the new college land, and the four Vanderbilt brothers have united in a gift of $250,000 for the special pur poses of the clinical department.

The Damages Assessed

The viewers this afternoon filed their report as to the damages sustained by Samuel I. Demuth by reason of Grant street being opened from Christian to North Queen They agreed upon $19,031.66 as the amount of the damages of which the city is to pay $4,821, and the county $14,210.66. The county will appeal from the award.

The Feast of the Passover.

Monday evening, the 19th instant, at sun set, begins the Jewish Feast of the Passover, which will continue for eight days. During that time the bread eaten is unleavened, or shew bread. This feast commemorates the departure and flight of the children of Israe from Egyptian bondage.

A Lost Girl.

A little girl about 10 years old belonging to family that has just moved from Harrisburg and settled on John street, was found by Officer Kissinger on West King st., while wandering sround last evening. Ste was taken to the station house and was afterwards called for by her parents, who were greatly worried.

Case Dismissed.

Louisa Doman, who was charged with as sault by Lydia Miller, had a hearing before Aiderman Spurrier last evening when the Alderman Spuriter last eventue case was dismissed. Albert Reidenbach, who was charged with assault and battery by Edward Miller, had a hearing before Alderman Deen this afternoon. Miller did not know who had struck him and the case was dismissed.
