Drowned in the Susquehanna River

Near Peques Station. On Saturday afternoon Saturel Hoffman, der Wanner, Philip Fry and some other while engaged in repairing a broken dong the Susquehanna river, in Martic aip, beyond Pequea station, on the Coumbia & Port Deposit railroad, found the sedy of a child in the river. They brought body of a child in the river. They brought it to shore and telegraphed for Coroner Hona-man. He went down Sunday and held an inquest. The body was that of a male white child, about six years old, and had no cloth-ing on except a waist. The body bore every wridence of having been in the water for sev-eral weeks. The supposition is that the child was drowned at some point up the river, and was carried down by the current. The onroner cut the buttons from the waist and will keep them, hoping they will lead to the identification of the child. The face was scratched and swollen and it could not be determined whether the child was murdered or not. The verdict of and it could not be determined whether the child was murdered or not. The verdict of the jury was that death resulted from drown-ing or violence unknown to the jury. A cof-fin was made for the child and it was buried in a field near where it was found. The cor-oner's jury were Benjamin Charles, Joseph E. Dorwart, P. W. Fry, Samuel Hoffman, Samuel Shoff and Peter Wagner.

The desire of those accompanying is that all the ceremonies shall be strictly private. A committee of the Baltimore Cremation company, consisting [of Frank H. Hamble-ton, John R. Rennous, John W. Middendorf and G. W. Lehman, came over to Lancaster to-day to witness the cremation and to decide on which system the Baltimore furnace will be erected.

The Top of a Church Steeple Fired. The most peculiar fire that has ever oc-curred in Harrisburg was the result of a stroke of lightning on Saturday alternoon buring a thunder storm and heavy rain ball-lightning struck the extreme point of the steeple on the Market Square Presbyterian church, the most lofty edifice of its kind in the city. On the top of the steeple was an ornamental knob, which immediately caught fire, and was extinguished with great dffi-culty. The loss was $2,000.

Held on Three Charges.

George Ferguson has been held before Alderman Pinkerton on the charge of assault and battery, drunk and disorderly conduct and surety of the peace. George got drunk on Saturday and went to the house of Samuel Whitford, on whom he made an attack. He will have a good many explanations to make before he is through with these cases.
