FORTY-FOURTH CREMATION.

WE BODY OF A CINCINNATI POITOS REDUCED TO WHICK ASHES.

of the Early Witnesses and Converts to the New Process-Newspaper Men Largely in Attendance.

ne years ago, it will be remembered, cremation was more novel than now, scineration of the body of Mrs. Benn on, at the Le Moyne crematory, near hington, Pa., was an event of great in-t to the country. Her husband was the der and is master of the famous school legign in Cincinnati; he had been tion and perfection of the system of phono-graphy which has become cosmopolitan and he had advanced notions of funeral reorm. The young ladies of his school made from their own wood carvings a casket for the on to the crematory, newspaper men flocked thither from all parts of the country. They were rebuffed by the eccentric founder and owner of that concern; denied admission and took their revenge, many of them, by writing most abusive and maliciously takes accounts of the whole affair. These distorted reports had a good deal to do with the early popular prejudice against cremation.

Among those present on the occasion, however, sympathizing as a friend and in hearty secord with the new method of disposing of the dead, was Florus Plimpton, of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette. Riding home from the cremation he said to his friend, Mr. McCormick, that when he died he hoped to have his remains disposed of that way. Last evening, within the walls of the Laucaster crematorium, Mr. Pittman and Mr. McCormick, with other friends and interested speciators, saw that Mr. Plimpton's wishes were carried out.

A MAN OF DISTINCTION.

A MAN OF DISTINCTION. Mr. Florus Plimpton was about 56 years of age; a fine-looking man, of good size, with fair complexion and gray mixed whiskers. He was long ago in the newspaper business ne Elmira, N. Y., and braved popular oppo-sition by fierce hostility to the Know Nothing movement; but his fearless course crippled him professionally and he went to Pittsburg, thence to Cincianati, where for a quarter of a century he has been associated in journalism mostly with the famous and dashing editor, Murat Halstead; and at the time of his death Murat Halstead; and at the time of his death was assistant editor of the great Republican organ, the Commercial Gazette. He has been in ill-health for a year and died last Friday of fatty degeneration of the heart. On Sunday the funeral services were held, addresses being made by Mr. Haistead and by Gen. Cox; and many manifestations being made of the high esteem in which he was held by his late associates. The semanticht the held; left the civilence of the high esteem in which he was held by his late associates. ciates. The same night the body left the city of his late residence for the cremation, in charge of his son, Mr. Lucian F. Ptimpton, is an architect and has in hand the designs for the new Cincinnati crematorium; Mr. Benn Pittman and Mr. Louis O'Shaughnassy, representing the editorial staff of the Commercial Gazette and correspondent of the New York Herald; Mr. McCormick, (the well-known "Macon") of the Philadelphia News, came on from the latter named city, representing also the Cincinnal Enquirer, which to-day prints an extended account of the cremation. The second section of the Day Express-being late, the body arrived here about 7:30 and was at once taken to the crema-torium. There the friends gathered; together with the committee of the Baltimore society, Prof. Maish, of the college of pharmacy, Philadelphia, and several gentlemen from

The night was very calm and still. The scene was impressive and solemn. The odor of the wild apple and flowering shrubs that grow thick upon the steep bank leading down to the Conestoga made the air heavy with perfume. The body had been brought on in a handsemefuneral casket, which is to be destroyed; it was taken therefrom, pre-pared for the retort and placed in it without ceremony of any kind. And then the spec-About 19:30 several of them paid another visit to the place and the furnace was still kept up to an intense degree of heat. A view of the interior through the peep hole dis-closed only the form, slightly sunken, as it had been pisced in the crate, the outlines of the alum-soaked winding sheet retaining its enclosing form, and that alone visible in the quivering of the crimson light. The newspaper men went East on the 2:35 a. m. train; the younger Plimpton and Mr. Pittman remained over night at the Stevens house, and went home this alternoon with the ashes of their dead. Both were very much interested in the processes, and satisfied with the control of the processes. much interested in the processes, fied with the operation as seen here.

AN ARGUMENT POR CREMATION.

Up to Their Knees in Mud and Water in the Graves.

The work of transferring all the soldiers with unmarked graves to the lot in the Laneaster cemetery dedicated to their special use and to be furnished with tombstones by the county, is attended with a good deal of unplessantness. The ground is most thoroughly saturated with water at this season; and in many of the graves the exhumations were made through mud and other disagreeable features. Coffins have had to be grappled features. Coffins have had to be grappled with hooks and ropes and drawn to the surface after the methods of the body snatchers. Some of the coffins are badly used by the tooth of the worm and the processes of decay, as certain if not as swift as flames: and a good many people who have been looking at the removals have been converted to cranation.

dam Forepaugh's Great Circus Exhibits in Lancaster May 3, On Monday, May 3, Adam Forepaugh's great circus, which is said to be much larger than ever this year, will exhibit on the Agricultural park grounds in Lancaster. Mr. Forepaugh is one of the oldest circus men in this country, and be has always had a nne show. He is honest with the people, and only advertises what he has. The menageric is very complete, and, he sides a herd of twenty five elephants, it con-tains all kinds of curious animals. The circus tains all kinds of curious animals. The circus includes such riders as Davy Belmont, Annie Carroll, Lizettle Forepaugh, William showles, Sam Watson and others. There are a half hundred acrobats, and a big feature of the show is Captain Bogardus and his great family of gunners. The success of frontier life is depicted by typical cowboys, Mexican lasso throwers, Pawnec Indians, desperate bandits, wild buffalo, bronchos and Texas cattle awakes the keenest interest.

The celebrated Elliott family, eight in numerous contents of the collebrated and the success of the collebrated elliott family, eight in numerous cattle awakes and the collebrated elliott family, eight in numerous cattle awakes and the collebrated elliott family, eight in numerous cattle awakes and the collebrated elliott family.

Interest.

The celebrated Elliett family, eight in number, and Westbrook and liacker do wonders on the bieycle and unicycle. The mid-air sensations are numberless and thrilling. The performance of Adam Forepaugh, jr s., 25 elephants, groups of lovely horses and ponies and the elephant which rides a velocipede and boxes four rounds with a famous puglist are truly attractions of an extraordinary order. The races of tions of an extraordinary order. The races of the hippodrome are run with great zeal and are a chief fecture of the stupendous performance. The street parade with a mile or more of blaz-ing chartots, bands or music, etc., is a big fea-ture of the show and is worth going many miles to see. Excursion rates will be allowed on the railroads to this city.

Amusements.

"Kit" To-morrow Night. To-morrow even-ing Henry Chanfrau opens at the opera house for two nights "Kit, the Arkinsaw Traveler." He has a large, strong company and many new features will be introduced. The show appears at very reasonable prices and it should draw well.

SPECIALTIES!

REFRIGERATORS: How few people there are who buy Refrigerators, know anything about them or will go to the trouble of examining into the merits of the different makes. Years of careful study has made us familiar with this line of goods and while we deal in all grades, we know the "Ridgeway" and "Alaska" are far superior to any other in the market.

FLOOR OIL CLOTH: We no doubt sell over one-balf of the Floor Oil Cloth sold in this city, and we do this by having at all times the Largest and Best Selected Stock and selling at the Lowest Price. We are daily receiving New Goods in this line.

BABY CARRIAGES: Our line of Baby Carriages is larger, finer and more varied than ever, and prices are lower. Express Wagons and Velocipedes in great PARLOR PRIDE : Before putting away your stoves for the summer polish them with "Parlor Pride," and they will not rust.
