Begular Correspondence of INTELLIGENCES.

COLUMNIA, Hay 3.—On Saturday night between cloves and twelve o'clock Officer Wittick noticed a man walking down Front officer, along the Pennsylvania railroad. The man was about fix feet in height, weighed about 500 pounds and carried a dark-colored gip-sack over his shoulder. The officer tape a watch on the man until he seated himself on a box in front of Jacob S. Snyder's see, when he approached him and engaged him in conversation. The man took come lunch from his grip-sack and commenced eating and offered some to the him in conversation. The man took some lunch from his grip-sack and commenced eating and offered some to the officer. He then acted suspiciously about his grip-sack and and that it contained nothing but edibles and was willing to have the contents examined. At this moment the officer is advertiously exposed his star of office. The man said that he intended going down to the chute wall to see "Dad" Sheetz and the officer offered to accompany him. The two started to this place, watking along the Port Deposit railroad. At Bachman & Forrey's mill the man placed his satchel on the ground and then made an excuse to slip aside for a moment, when he made a jump over a filled bank along the railroad in the direction of Locust street. The man fell over a small sewer in front of Dr. Huff's coal officer but soon recovered his feet and ran up the short alley to the Reading & Columbia passenger station and in the darkness succeeded in cluding the officer. Wittlek pursued him for some distance, but could not find any trace of the missing man. He retraced his steps and made a search for the satchel which the man had placed on the ground. It was found and on Sunda, morning taken to the office of Squire Evans where its contents were examined. The following articles were contained therein: A complete set of burglars tools consisting of a new ratchet brace and several hits to fit, a steel jimmy, three dozen pocket knives of various sizes and a few pocketbooks. The articles are now at the office of Squire Evans and a lookout will be kept to discover any trace of the man, who succeeded in evading arrest. The man evidently had a robbery in view, but was foiled before he could commence any operations.

Last Saturday workmen were engaged in grading an alley running from Second to Third streets, just east of Maple. About two et below the surface of the ground the men unearthed a number of skulls, jaw bones and other portions of the human body. The discovery created quite an excitement in the neighborhood, and from the number found it was supposed the bones would make about six bodies. From the formation of the about six bodies. From the formation of the skulls it is supposed that the skeletons were Indians. A number of skulls and jaw bones were taken by people to keep as relics. It is said that this place was once an Indian burial ground. The balance of the bones were dumped over an embankment.

Quite a big lot of new buildings and much improving, remodeling and repairing is being done in this neighborhood.

Abram Aston, of Marticville, while setting post fence in Conestoga Centre met with a severe accident. While pointing rails with the broad-axe he struck a knot, which caused the axe to glance and strike him on the foot, splitting the toe next to the great toe and cutting the calf of the leg. He is improving slowly.

There was quite a sociable party at the residence of Mr. Bertzfield, on Friday evening, April 31. Dancing was indulged in and quite a fine time was had. The Marticville orchestra furnished the music.

The trees in this section have blossomed more than has been known for years, and judging by that we can expect a large fruit crop.

A CHAT WITH TON MARAHALL. Why He Thinks Heaver and Davies, if Nom-unted, Would Be Defeated, Pittsburg Dispatch to Philadelphia Times.

Thomas M. Marshall, who was famous in the gubernatorial campaign in this state as a leader of the Independents, has just arrived at his home in Pittsburg, from a trip through the state. In an interview on state politics he said the talk of renominating the old Republican ticket for "vindication" purposes will be the most dangerous experi-ment the ring has ever attempted in Pennsylvania. "The nomination of Beaver and Davies," be said, "will be flaunting a red flag Davies," be said, "will be flaunting a red flag in the face of the Independent party, and you know that a red flag means danger shead, I fear that it is the intention of the managers to force the nomination of Beaver, Davies Norris and somebody else on the people, and if they do the ticket will be defeated. The Independents are already slive as to the situation and to the necessity of forming themselves together. I have received letters from prominent Independent Republicans in the west and from a still larger number in the central and eastern part of the state asking me to take some steps in the matter. We shall protest against the nomination of Beaver and Davies, and if our protest is unheeded we will proceed to prepare ourselves for the battle.

"I believe that all the old strength of the selves for the battle.

"I believe that all the old strength of the Independents can and will be brought out, and that their vote will be increased by from thirty to fifty per cent. In the event of the nomination of Beaver and Davies we would endeavor to form a coalition with the Democrats and make a mixed ticket, with a first-class man like Chauncey Black on it. If the crars and make a mixed ticket, with a first-class man like Chauncey Black on it. If the Democratic ticket should not meet with our approval, then the Independent ticket would be put in the field. The Independents, in my Judgment, will not submit to the gross insult offered them and to a 'vindication,' which means that they were wrong four years ago. I hope that with Beaver, Mon-tooth and Brosius and other good men all these difficulties will be avoided, and even then Beaver would not poil as large a vote as these difficulties will be avoided, and even then Beaver would not poil as large a vote as Montooth. I fear that Powderly is only coy and not sincere in saying that he will not take the Domocratic nomination. It he would accept it and the rest of the ticket was of good material it would mean that with Bea-ver and Davies at the head of the Republi-can ticket there would he to pred of an aircan ticket there would be no need of an elec-tion. The Republican party would be dis-organized as it never was in this state. It is absolutely essential to make the Republican ticket as strong as it can be made."

MARIETTA'S MAIL FACILITIES. The Postoffice Department Declines to Grant

Where Mr. Myers Missed the Mark, of Saturday I notice "A Commissione Fires a Shot." Commissioner Myers seem o think the "afflicted tax-payers" might be more "intelligently informed" if " North Queen street" would echie out over his own signature, do. Now, my friend Mr. Myers has fred his shot at such close range, and "hit the target" so nearly "in the eye," that I will allow him a full score so far. But when he intimates a "little self-interest' and—" Ob, no, but in not giving it to his inan," he missed the target clean and clear he even don't make the dust fly. He makes an unaccountable, regular goose egg-one of those disagreeable shots that the best marksthose disagreeable shots that the best marks-men have so much trouble about. They are generally attributable to wrong elevation, cata-wampus, wind-guage, unsteady nerve, too much powder, heavy recoil, mirage, weather, had liver, dissipation and many other equally as good reasons. China Mattings.

(IN BASEMENT)

Fortunately we purchased a line of China Mattings before the recent advance in prices of these goods, and we are now selling them at prices ranging lower than they were last season. Within the past month China Mattings have advanced in the wholesale market from 10 to 25 per cent. The quality of Mattings this season is far superior to those manufactured last season, and the designs are better, one pattern especially, called the "Carpet Design," is admired by all who have seen it, and will be the leading pattern for this season. White and Colored Mattings in all qualities, from 125c, a yard up, and an elegant assertment in new colorings. Fortunately we purchased a line of China ap, and an elegant assortment in new colorings, t 28c. a yard. A new idea in China Mattings are the large Rugs with the border and centre woven to match the patterns of yard wide mat-

A known fact is that Corticines will stand don-A known fact is that Cort(eines will stand double the wear of a Linoleum, and a Linoleum double the wear of an Oil Cloth. We have these three makes, and it is a matter for yourself which kind to purchase. Of course the Oil Cloth is lowest in price and we are selling them from 20c. to Sec. a square yard. Linoleum ranges at double the price, and Corticine still higher. A year ago we laid a Corticine in the entrance to the opera house. After the rough usage it has received during the year it to at present not in the least affected by wear, and as bright as when laid.
