THE DEPRESSED CONDITION OF AGRICULTUBE,

"What is the cause of the depressed condi-tion of agriculture?" was next discussed. Nobody cared to say anything about it until Statesman Brosius opened by arguing that the whole trouble arose from free trade, and the whole trouble arose from free trade, and that protection was the panacea for the farmers.

Rev. T. Thompson thought one great reason for depressed agriculture was that there was not honesty enough in the world. Adam and Eye, the first farmers, were driven out of their pleasant farm because they were thieves; they stole the fruit they were forbidden to take. The farmers, he thought, were the most honest class of people, but there was much dishonesty even among them.

Epb. S. Hoover said that lack of confidence on the part of capitalists was the prime cause of depressed agriculture. A high tariff, he thought, would cause everything to been and go on swimmingly.

W. C. Pyfer held that tariff or free trade had very little to do with the matter; the strikes of laborers and mechanics for the purpose of bettering their wages, prevents them for the present from purchasing the same amount that they had formerly purchased.

The question was further discussed by F. Diffenderflar, Ray, T. Thompson, D. M. R. Diffenderfler, Rev. T. Thompson, D. M.

The New York Market. The Journal sams up the state of the market in seed leaf, Sumatra and Havana, for the week ending Saturday May 1st, 10 a. m., as follows: Seed leaf—No business, worth speaking of.

Sumatra Business insignificant.
Havana—Lazy and dragging.
Everybody looks bine and feels bine; no enterprise, no push, no energy visible anywhere. Cause: Labor troubles all through he country.

Following are the sales of seed leaf totace eported for the INTELLIGENCER by J. S. Gans' Son & Co., tobacco brokers, No. 131 Water street, New York, for the week ending May 3, 1886:

Total 1,900 cases. The Proposed New Tariff Law.

Says the N. E. Homestead : It appears that the proposed new law differs from the old only in omitting the "85 per cent, clause." As a large proportion of the Sumatra tobacco ima large proportion of the Sumatra tobacco imported can be so manipulated that 100 leaves or it will weigh less than a pound, it will be seen that the proposed law will offer very little if any protection to American growers against the slave product of Sumatra. We trust that the representatives from the tobacco growing states will see that when this measure comes up for consideration, it is either amended by inserting "70" for "100 leaves," or that the phraseology of the Buck bill is passed as a substitute. It is a good time for real work. Hon, John R. Buck, in a terrestal note. a personal note, regarding the Buck bill for correcting the tobacco tariff, says: "I shall of course do what I can for the measure, but as you can see see, it is at this time impossible Congress will adjourn without giving some refiel to the tobacco grower."

The crop of '85 has been lifted, with the exception of scattering lots that would not pay packers to run after. Nearly all the local packers have closed or are nearly ready to close their packing houses. The gross amount of cases packed is not known, but there is an impression that it will foot up very considerably less than was supposed earlier in the season. This fact, added to the scarcity of old tobacco, augurs well for those who bought largely of the new crop, as the price of cigar leaf will evidently advance in price.

There is as yet nothing to be said about the crops of 1886 further than that the seed-beds are coming on satisfactorily, and farmers are busily engaged in manuring, ploughing, harrowing and rolling their tobacco land to have it ready for planting-time which will begin three or four weeks hence.

RIO FOREPAUGH CIRCUI ALLENTLY STRAIN AWAY.

Crowds at the Afternoon Performance and Lesser Audience at Night-Features of the Entertalument Some Bare Faced Ras callly Permitted by the Management.

At the afternoon exhibition of Forepaugh's circus on Monday, the crowd was very large. All the seats in the monster tent were packed full and many people were obliged to stand In the evening the audience was much mailer and many empty seats could be seen. The almost unanimous verdici was that the show was as good a one es has ever visited the city. There is but one objection to the show and that is that there is a little too much of Adam Forepaugh, jr., or Young Ad," as he is best known. This young fellow is a hard worker and a great man in his line. He can do almost anything from assisting to put up the canvas to performing with the elephants. He figure most too extensively, however, as he makes his appearance in almost a dozen acts. Everything seems to have been arranged to bring the young man before the public as often as possible, and they become tired of seeing one man try to do everything. THE PERFORMANCE IN DETAIL.

At yesterday afternoon's performance full and very lengthy programme was given, but in the evening, as is always the case, it was badly cut and many good leatures were left out. The performance was given in two rings and on an elevated stage. At times there was so much going on that i was impossible to see half of it, and many sighed for the good old times of the one-ring circus. Immediately after the grand entry by the entire circus company, Bogardus and his four sons gave a wonderful This was followed exhibition of shooting. This was followed by an exhibition similar to that given in Cody's "Wild West." Cowboys rode bucking horse, threw lassos and Indians danced and sang. An exhibition of the Pony Express was given and the attacks of a stage coach by real Indians was very exciting. A great many other excellent features were intro-duced in the show. The lockey somersaud and hurdle riding by Messrs. Watson and Showles was very good, as were the equostrian acts of Misses Belmont and Carroll. Adam Forepaugh, jr., put the monster elephants through their wonderful acts and Jacken dorfer showed that he was a remarkably trong man. The trapeze performance of the strong man. The trapeze performance of the different people was excellent and the acrobats pleased. A little elephant with a boxing glove on his trunk, created lots of fun hy his set-to with young Forepaugh. The Elliott family showed that they were great performers on the bicycle and their act was about the most popular one in the show.

WIDELY ADVERTISED, BUT POOR. An act that is widely advertised as one of the big features of the show is rather poor, and that is the rope-walking of the Blondin horse. Instead of walking a rope, the ani-mal crosses over a plank at least a foot wide, which is about twenty-five feet above the which is about twenty-rive feet above the ground. Of course it is very difficult to perform with a horse at that height, but the plank is amply wide enough to do anything of the kind. In the afternoon the horse fell from the plank, strange as it may appear, and dropped in the net, escaping injury. The show winds up with a hippodrome conformace. It includes races by drome performance. It includes races by horses, elephants, camels, mules, etc. The three-horse and charlot races were very exciting, and all were very good. After the show the usual concert, by a lot of ham actors was given, and many people remained. The side shows with the show, were well patronized. The attractions included several bushy-headed women, a tal roung man, and his tattooed friend, a very homely fat woman, several white-haired and pinked-eyed individuals, two Alaska street darkeys fixed up to represent Zulus and a very bad band.

They have two ticket wagons, at one of which the regular 10 cent admission tickets are sold, while of another tickets cannot be had for less than 60 cents. The highest-priced wagon stood near the entrance yesterday, and it was the first that people came to; the majority stopped at it, and many were obliged to take the extra-priced tickets because the wagon man got their money first and they did not like to protest.

The street car line did an immense business and backmen were not far behind, although there were many of them.

Gray & Stephens Open at the Opera House to A Big Audience. The Gray-Stephens combination made its first appearance in this city last evening when a week's engagement was begun at the opera house. The troupe shows at popular prices. Although it was believed that the audience would be small last night owing to the facthat the circus was in town, such was not the case. The opera house was very the case. The opera house was very well filled, and plenty of standing room was sold down stairs by 8 o'clock. The audience was one calculated to make a Lancaster manager smile, as the business here has been very bad of late. The plece presented last night was "Without a Home' and people who witnessed the production of it say that no better cheap show has ever been in the opera house. The play is of the sensational kind, but it is one that is popular. Miss Gray, a splendid little actress, appeared in the characters of Rays, Scotty, Briggs and Mabel Poyne and did them all well. Mr. Stephens played the part of Dudley Stoot, a lawyer, in excellent style. The support throughout was fine.

The acting dogs, Romeo, Zip, Hero, Leo and Major, are a feature of the show. They display great intelligence and at times seem to take as much interest in the play as the other actors. The scenery used in the piece is very good and the snow scenes in the fourth is as fine as can be seen anywhere.

CAPTAIN REA'S APPOINTMENT. An Old Lancastrian Named for a Judgeship by Minnesota's Governor. Gov. Hubbard, of Minnesota, has appointed John P. Rea, of Minneapolis, judge of the Fourth judicial district, vice Judge M. B. Koon, resigned. Judge Rea was indorsed by 108 members of Hennepin county bar, and numerous prominent citizens of Minneapolis. His opponent, Daniel Fish, was endorsed by seventy-six members of the Hennepin county bar, ten members of the Wright county bar, and a number of Wright county citizens.

The appointee is well known in Lancaster, having been born on the borders of the lower and of this county, and a resident of the city for years, during which he held high positions and enjoyed great popularity. Capt. Rea is in the 46th year of his age: he served a full term during the late war and after graduating law with the late Hon. O. J. Dickey, of this city, and was, April 12, 1869, appointed assessor of internal revenue by President law with the late Hon. O. J. Dickey, of this city, and was, April 12, 1839, appointed assessor of internal revenue by President Grant, for the Ninth district of Pennsylvania, which office he held until it was abolished by law in 1874. He continued practicing law in Lancaster until December, 1875, when he removed to Minneapolis, Hiscousin, John A. Rea, now of Bismarck, was at that time actively engaged in newspaper work in Minneapolis, and in conjunction with A. G. Wilcox, James I. Hendrix, and Charles F. Hendrix, Judge Rea and John A. Rea purchased the Tribune, and the subject of this sketch became the editorinchief. In May, 1876, a controlling interest in the Tribune, then a merning paper, was purchased by the Pioneer Press and converted into an evening newspaper. Judge Rea, a minority stockholder, continued as editor until May, 1877, when he resumed the practice of law and became a member of the firm of Rea, Hooker & Woolley. The firm was subsequently changed and became Rea, Woolley & Kitchel, and subsequently Rea, Kitchel & Shaw In November, 1877, he was elected judge of probate, and served for four years with conspicuous ability. He continued his relationship, however, with the law firm with which he was connected. Judge Rea has been very prominent in the G. A. R., and was regarded as the most probable choice of the order for grand commander of the United States. He has also been active and prominent in Republican politics, and is a ready and them typeaker. Personally he is exceedingly popular, and his appointment was petitioned for by a large share of the bar of the county. The law firm of which Judge Rea has been the senior member has been an exceedingly prosperous and busyone, and has now pending a number of important cases, among them the Emery divorce case. A short time since Mr. Kitchel was elected president of the guaranty title and trust company, which promises to take a share of his attention, and this fact has influenced Judge Rea in the acceptance of the appointment.

ones of Enthustasm That Will Long Be Re membered by Those Who Witnessed Them-litue and the Gray Hereniter to Stand Shoulder to Shoulder.

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 1. - There was a gree throng of persons yesterday to witness the opening of the Chatham Artillery centennial elebration. A grand military parade, reviewed by Governor McDaniel and Jefferson Davis, was the feature of the day.

Considerable of sensation was created at last night's banquet, given by the Chatham artillery by an interruption during the regular toasts, Captain Saunders, of the old guard, of New York, rising and proposing the health of Jefferson Davis, who was pres ent. The toast was accompanied by appropriate remarks. Intense excitement prevailed. "Dixie" and "Star Spangled Banner were played by the band, and the guests ros to their feet, cheer after cheer resounding. At the subsidence of the applause, Captair Wheaton, commanding the artillery, and called on Mr. Davis to respond. Mr. Davis rose slowly from his chair. yells greeted him. Volunteer soldiers waved their hats and handkerchiefs, rattled bottles, knives and forks on the table, and a tumult indescribable ensued.

When quiet was restored Mr. Davis, in calm and earnest manner, acknowledged the compliment of the gallant soldier from the said it was significant of the strength and popularity of this great republic that men, brave and gallant, honoring a past and clinging to the memories of a heroic struggle to what they deemed a constitutional right, should thus mingle in social intercouse and give free expression to their love and feelings. It was an indisputable evidence that there is in this country no necessity for a standing army, that the strength of the government lies in its citizen soldiery. This magnifi-cent demonstration to-day under the existing government showed that while the people of the South clung with tenacity to the ries of the past, they were faithful and loval. This grand ovation to him, he regarded only in the light of a personal compliment, and remembrance of the cause of which he was a type. Those who paid him this honor, no that he was powerless to reward them, could be animated by no other motive than disinterested regard for one who had striven to do his duty in the position to which he had been alled, and who had always remained steadfast to the principles he had deemed just and

These remarks elicited great applause which was redoubled as " Hail Columbia' was played by the band, followed by "Dixie." This was a feature unexpected at the ban just and it was regarded with intense satisfaction. The speech of Lieut. Bachelder, of the United States army, which shortly foilowed, was emipently patriotic, and its comments on remarks previously made were frequently applauded. Bachelder's declaration that in the event of a foreign evasion the boys in blue and gray would be found shoulder to shoulder, was greeted enthusiastically. The night will be ever memora at Downingtown and extends to New Holland, 29 miles.

The original road, it will be remembered, extended only to Waynesburg. Its length is eighteen miles and all its property is covered by a first mortgage for $140,000 at 7 per cent, interest, payable semi-annually. This interest was always promptly paid until the local residents built an extension of the road to New Holland and mortgaged the extension for $200,000. The Pennsylvania railroad company owns all this mortgage on the extension and $132,000 of the $140,000 mortgage on the East Brandywine & Waynesburg road, leaving a balance of $8,000 in the hands of individual bondholders. On this $8,000 no interest has been paid since 1875, and the company has also defaulted on the principal due in 1885. In consequence Thomas Matlack, jr., the executor of Thomas Matlack, a holder of $600 of the bonds, has brought suit in the Chester county court of common pleas demanding that either the accrued interest and principal be paid, or that the road be foreclosed. In answer to all this the Pennsylvania railroad claims that the East Brandywine & Waynesburg does not earn its expenses, and in proof of this submits above figures. The item of maintenance of way absorbs so much of the gross receipts of the road that it is regarded by those who hold the $8,000 of bonds as an attempt to squeeze them out. The company has gathered most of them in at 40 cents on the dollar freight charges, and 60 per cent. cash. Some of the bonds are held in this city by parties who are in sympathy with the movement to make the company pay the principal and defaulted interest, seeing that the road actually earns quite enough to afford this.

New Light on Soldiers' Orphans.

New Light on Soldiers' Orphans A committee from Post 58, Grand Army of the Republic, Harrisburg, engaged in trying by court-martia! James L. Paul and George W. Wright, for abuse of soldiers' orphans, on Monday visited Mt. Joy soldiers' orphans school, and heard the evidence of the principal officers and teachers on the method of conducting the school. Manager Wright was present, and the scholars, in his presence told a far different story from what they told the governor. They said they were well fed and well treated, and liked the school. The boy who wrote the letter to the Philadelphia Press some time ago, complaining of the school, said he did it because he had been there nine years and wanted to get away. Dr. Ziegler, of Mt. Joy, and Dr. Herr, of Lancaster, testified to the good health of the school. The investigation will be continued on Tuesday next, in Harrissate last night from the headquarters of the Socialists, 54 Westlake street.

"Revenge! Workingmen, to arms! Your masters sent out their bloodhounds—the police; they killed off your brothers at McCormick's yesterday. They killed the poor wretches because they, like you, have the courage to disobey the supreme will of your bosses. They killed them because they dared ask for the shortening of the hours of toil. They killed them to show you, "free American citizens,' that you must be satisfied and contented with whatever your bosses condescend to allow you or you will get killed. You have for years endured the most abject humiliations; you have for years sunfered immeasurable iniquities; you have worked yourselves to death; you have endured the pangs of want and hunger; your children you have sacrificed to the factory lords; you have been miserable and obedient slaves to satisfy the insatiable greed to fill the coffers of your lazy thieving masters. When you sak them now to lessen your burden, they send their bloodhounds to shoot you, kill you.

Jon.

If you are men, if you are the sons of your grand sires, who shed their blood to tree you, then you will rise in your might, hercules, and destroy the hideous monster that seeks to destroy you. To arms, we call you, to arms.

(Signed).

A Bloody Fight.

A party of men who were engaged painting a roof at Rieker's brewery, on West King street, got drunk and raised a fight among themselves this afternoon. The contest was very fierce for a time and one man was badly cut about the head. Bricks were thrown and several men were injured. Officers Kissinger and Glil went to the place and arrested Larry Presslay and John Gumpf, who were laken to the station bouse. Presslay's abirt had been torn from his back and his head was bleeding freely from a cut. Neither of the men had any hats. Several of the fighters who got away will likely be arrested later.
