REAR END OF THE COLUMBIA & PORT DEPOSIT ROAD.

An Accident That Detained Trains for Several Hours. But Fortunately Did No Other Damage—Injuries to Passengers.

Special Notes About News.

Regular Correspondence of INTELLIGENCER.

COLUMBIA, May 6.—A wreck occurred on the Columbia & Port Deposit railroad yesterday morning at the station through freight train, down by engine No. 531, Michael Wain, conductor, and Joseph Elmer, conductor, by which the road was blocked for several hours.

The train was running at the rate of ten miles an hour, and was between Shenk's Ferry and York Furnace when the brake rigging of one of the cars fell from its position and by striking against the ties caused ten cars to be thrown off the track.

The cars were shoved about in all directions and effectively stopped the running of trains in both directions. The passenger train, leaving Columbia at 10:35 a. m., was unable to run any further down the road than York Furnace, where the passengers, baggage and mail matter had to be transferred to another section below the wreck, and by that means were able to proceed.

The Columbia wreck crew left town at 1:15 p. m. for the scene of the wreck, and after clearing away the blocks returned home at 2:30 p. m. The cars were not damaged by being thrown off the tracks, and fortunately none of the employes received any injuries.

Drakeman John W. Smith, of crew 17, P. R. R., living on Perry street, on Wednesday morning, in the 62d street yard, at Philadelphia, was engaged in coupling cars. He had his right hand caught between the dead ends of two cars, and in attempting to jump was badly injured. The injured man returned to his home last night after his injury had received medical attention. It was found necessary to amputate two fingers of the hand.

Last night the employes of the Pennsylvania railroad on crew No. 102 were engaged in putting off a car on the Chester siding, William Niehl, the conductor of the train, was standing on the tank of the engine, which was running at a high rate of speed, when he jumped to the ground at the switches. In so doing he was thrown very violently to the ground and was rendered senseless, for some time. The mishap did not result in any serious manner.

Hayard T. Lockard, yard man of the Pennsylvania railroad, on crew No. 102, was engaged in putting off a car on the Chester siding, William Niehl, the conductor of the train, was standing on the tank of the engine, which was running at a high rate of speed, when he jumped to the ground at the switches. In so doing he was thrown very violently to the ground and was rendered senseless, for some time. The mishap did not result in any serious manner.

Another generous deed.

Mr. H. H. Houston, of Philadelphia, very generously donated to the P. R. R. church of Columbia, a lot of ground on Locust street, between Third and Fourth, upon which this congregation will erect a church. The congregation is located on the adjoining property of Mrs. Maria Christinger, so that they will be able to build a church of large dimensions. This fact coming to the knowledge of Mr. J. H. Houston, he displayed his munificence by declaring his intention of paying for the additional purchase.

The Old Folks concert, held in the armory last night, was well attended and a neat sum will be realized for the object for which the concert was given.

This evening the Bible class of the Second street Lutheran church, will hold a social at the residence of their teacher, Mr. L. W. May, on Locust street.

The Salvation Army will hold meetings last night for the purpose of holding meetings in that town. The owners of the hall would not allow the meetings to be held unless the rent was paid in advance. The meetings were held in the street. About fifty young men from town, including the choir, went over to the meetings and assisted in the singing of their stirring "battie songs."

F. W. Ebbart, corner Third and Walnut streets, has added a three-horse power engine to his establishment for the manufacture of ice cream.

A short time ago an article appeared in the Tobacco Journal containing a statement that trade in this business was very dull in Columbia and that the business was not paid for the manufacturing of cigars. The tobacco dealers in town say that this statement is an untruth and that the trade compares favorably with other towns, and that the prices are paid for the making of cigars.

LI. Gov. Black on the Irish Question.

From his letter to the Pittsburg Parnell meeting.

It ought to be a pleasure to any genuine American to meet those sons of Ireland who, while serving their adopted country with devoted patriotism and gallantry, remember over the bitter sorrows of the old land, and maintain the struggle for freedom here as they might have done at home. Here, in a splendid tribute to the noble character of these scattered children of the green isle, the world over, as they have fallen on the sword, descended from one generation to another, that at last civilized mankind had been taught to respect the rights of man, and that the noblest of all nations, the Irish, were at last recognized as a people.

THE BEAUTIFUL CAMPUS.

Franklin and Marshall's Pride in Its Full Blossom—Notes from the Hill.

Franklin and Marshall always has had the reputation for having an fine college campus, and this year is no exception. The campus is especially beautiful during the present season of the year; the trees are clothed in their foliage of dark green, the lilacs are in full bloom, leading every breeze with their rich perfume; the grass is kept short and green; the college society halls are nicely situated at the further end of the campus, having their walls neatly overpainted with green, reaching well high to the top of the college cupola, now in full bloom. To the east are the private residences of the professors; toward the west Hartshorn hall, the observatory and academy building. All this is enclosed within an area of twenty-two acres of ground, having the appearance during this season of the year, of a beautiful and well-kept campus.

The number of members of the "College Student" came out to-day.

Joseph Burkholder, the attorney for the complainant, testified that he had a lot of chickens stolen from his premises on last Tuesday evening. He identified two of the chickens as his property. The defendant had the men for trial at court. Snyder furnished bail and Hoover was committed. After the chicken case the two prisoners were heard on charges of burglary. They were charged with burglary by J. H. Leman, residing at Camargo, Eden township. It was alleged that on the night of Saturday, May 4, Hoover and Snyder broke into Leman's house from which they stole a large quantity of meat, butter, &c. It was further claimed that they had stolen a quantity of clothing from the same house. The case was continued until next afternoon when a decision will be given.

These consisted of foul cesspools and hog-pens, clogged gutters, stagnant pools of water, disease-breeding and decaying meat and vegetables in alleys and ash piles, offensive manure piles and many other filthy and noxious things likely to generate disease. The sanitary commissioner will do well to give careful heed to the application of the health authorities for financial aid to enable them to carry on their good work.
