Denney be notified to make pavement along Sixth street, from Chestnut to alley G, at their properties. The highway committee were instructed to notify these gentlemen to make pavements and gutters within 60 days. The different frie companies were granted their quarterly appropriations of $112.50 each. The law and order committee were instructed to prepare an ordinance repealing the tax on dogs. An ordinance was presented in relation to the grade of alley G from 7th to 9th; alley E from 2d to 3d; and Eighth from Chestnut to Union streets. Under the rules the ordinances were laid over for one month. Might Have Drowned. Joseph Fisher, a one-legged man, was out on the river in a boat above the dam and getting too close to fish chutes, the boat was drawn through. The water is very swift at this piace, but Fisher managed to keep the boat righted, although is was half full of water. After the boat went through the chute it drifted towards an island and landed there. here. Some fishermen went to his rescue. Gave Birth to Triplets.

The wife of Joseph Mummaw, a fireman on the Reading & Columbia railroad, living on Union street, gave birth to triplets, two boys and one girl, on Tuesday morning. One of each sex has since died and the attending physician, Dr. D. I. Bruner, predicts that the other boy will not survive. This is the second case of triplets in our town.

For Memorial Day. The committee of the Grand Army posts ppointed to make arrangements for a proper observance of Memorial Day, met at Alderman Barr's office last evening. The committees on hearse, carriages, flags, and music reported that they had attended to their duty and everything referred to them had been arranged for. No Cause of Action. The arbitrators in the Amwake-Grau suit, to recover damages for alientating the affections of Amwake's wife, met on Tuesday afternoon and after a short deliberation rendered a decision that there was no cause of action. The case will probably be appealed to court.

SETTLING A WIPE'S ESTATE.

An Adjudication of an Administrator's Account A New Way to Collect Old Debts. From the Philadelphia Bulletin. Some three weeks ago, Judge Ashman, of the orphans' court, adjudicated the account of William Loeb, administrator of the estate of his wife, Mrs. Lottie Loeb, who died intestate on March 9, 1884. Credits taken in the account for funeral expenses of the decedent, medical attendance in her last sick-ness, and for board and nursing of her children after her death, amounting to $500.50, were stricken out because they were debts for which the husband was primarily liable, and it had not been shown that he was insolvent. An additional credit in the sum of $3,062.50, money said to have been paid to Jacob Loeb, the father of the secountant, according to a receipt produced, was also disallowed. The receipt was dated January 5, 1886, and was "for debts and interest for money loaned on the list day of June, 1881, interest at five per cent. per June, 1881, interest at five per cett. per annum." The judge in disallowing this credit, stated bat "council for the accountant explained that this payment, which amounted to more than one-half of the entire estate, was ensitted from the account, because the administrator forgot he had made it. Some after her husband's failure, carried on business as a femme sole trader in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, and for that purpose a certificate from the prothonotary of the court of common vania, and for that purpose a certificate from the prothenotary of the court of common pleas of Lancaster county was produced, which certified that decedent's petition, applying for the benefit of the act of April 3, 1872, had been marked filed and recorded in the recorder's office; but the petition itself was not set forth. The allegation was that she used in her business the late stock of her husband, which had been sold by the sheriff
on a indemnent heid by the businend's taken.

one month be granted him to close his duplicate. Granted.

The property committee reported the repairing of the line fence between Potter's field and ground of Columbia water company. Plans and specifications were presented for the erection of fire escapes at the opera house. The plans were adopted and the committee instructed to advertise for bids.

The highway committee reported the issuing of 14 building permits since last report: macadamizing of different streets with gravel and limestone; grading of alley E. from Second to Third, between Poplar and Mapie streets; planked over gutters at railroad crossings at Perry and Mills streets; issued paving notices to property owners along Eighth street, between Locust and cemetery and owners along alley E. to have the same paved.

Gas and water committee reported fire plug at Fifth and Wainut streets out of repair and will be attended to. A report was received that the electric light at Second and Perry streets is out frequently. A communication was received from borgouch regulator and the based in her business the late slock of her husband's thates the state on a judgment held by the bustand's thater, Jacob Loeb, and bought in by the latter, and then transferred to the decedent. The transactions were not proved, and the ctaim is the rejected.

The same claimant, William Loeb, again appeared as a creditor of another of his relatives according to an adjudication filed by Judge Penrose this morning. The adjudication was received from the committee of the calmant, left an estate of over $83,000 in trust for the benefit of his relatives. William Loeb put in a claim against the estate in behalf of the shall of the state of the committee of the calmant, left an estate of over $83,000 in trust for the benefit of his relatives. William Loeb, and Albert Loeb, which the court rejected. Judge Penrose, in disposing of it, held that the "chaim was presented on behalf of William Loeb, as next frequently. A communication was received from bergular to the state for the state of the friend of his children, fivin J. S. and Albert S. Loeb, and as administrator of his wife, Lettie Loeb, for an amount alleged to be due for moneys loaned by her to the decedent; and objection was made to the credit claimed for payment of a due bill for $1.500. The claim and objections are of the same character, each being alike discreditable in the highest degree to the party making them. The due bill was given by the decedent to Wm. Loeb in his individual name, and was paid to him by the accountants. At the time of presenting it for payment he crased his name as payee, for the purpose, as he stated, of concealing from his creditors the fact that he had received so much money. This crasure he now sets up as a reason for friend of his children, layer J. S. and Albert mittee, with the regulator, will give the proper grade.

A. C. Bruner, esq., presented petition from citizens of Third ward asking that W. H. Gilbert be allowed to build dwalling houses at intersection of Fourth with Union and Perry streets, as has been cogun. In a lengthy speech Mr. Bruner advocated the granting of the request, and declared that passage at this point would not be interfered with. The matter caused considerable discussion and the petition was received and filed. Orders were granted for $100 for the redemption of a bond; for $24 interest on coupons, and $50.32 for sinking fund.

The property committee were instructed to look up the matter of fire insurance on the opera house. The highway committee were instructed to procure terra cotts pipe for the construction of sewers at the foot of Union street, and at Second and Lawrence streets. The ordinances in relation to the opening of Chestnut streat from Seventh to Nint.

mouth, as against the party making the pay-ment, to set up his own distonesty, or to al-lege that he detrauded the estate of which he is the protector. So as to the claim for moneys loaned, it is not defied that the whole amount has been received by the claimant, but as part of it was paid to him before be became administrator. he now asserts that such payment was im-proper, and in his official capacity demands that it should be paid to him a second time, but in receiving the money before the grant of letters of administration he acted either as his wife's agent or as executor de son tort (of his own wrong), and the possession thus acquired would enure, by way of remitter, to the benefit of her estate the moment the to the beneat of her estate the moment the letters were granted; if in the meanwhile he embezzled the amount, which appears to be the theory upon which the sclaim is based, it has been shown, in the present proceeding at least, that he is insolvent; and even if this should be the case, as he is husband as well as administrator, the money as embezzled can be awarded to him. moneys so embezzled can be awarded to him in distribution as part of his share of her estate. The clain is disallowed and the objection to the credit overruled. In view of what has thus been alleged on the part of William Loeb, it would be proper that an application should be made on behalf of his minor children for the re-reference of his account as administrator of his wife to the judge by whom it has been adjudicated, in order that he may be surcharged with moneys belong-ing to her estate received by him, in his in-dividual capacity, and with-held from the children of whom he is the father and, so called, next friend." The Late John M. Barry's Funeral. The funeral of the late John M. Barry took place from his late residence, No. 215 East Orange street, this morning, and the concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends of the dead was very large. Solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Dr. P. J. McCullagh, at St. May's Catholic church. The choir sang Onnewald's mass for the dead, and "Jerusalem, My Happy Home" was pathetically given. At the conclusion of the mass, the absolution of the body was performed by the officiating clergyman, after which the luneral procession wound its way to St. Mary's cemetery, where the remains were laid to rest. The casket was borne by Potkemen Stormfeltz, Cramer and Elcholtz and ex-Policeman Holman. The bonoary carriers were James Stewart, John W. Lowell, Michael Mactionigle and Alderman H. R. McConomy. The New Supreme Court Reporter. State Reporter American has just com-pleted and sent to the printer the remainder of the manuscript for his first report-American. It will contain one hundred cases, making a volume, with the table of cases and index, of 700 pages. Forty-seven of these cases were argued during the term of his predecessor, Mr. Outerbridge, and the of his predecessor, air. Outerorage, and the opinions were delivered by the supreme court on the first day of Mr. American's term. The report, he hopes, will be in the hands of the legal profession during the summer traction.

A Fortune Awaits Them J. H. Schneider, of the Freis Presse, has received a letter making impury of the whereabouts of the children of Jacob Erhart Held. They lived many years ago at Washington borough; where it is supposed the parents died, Jacob, one of the sens, remained there for some years and his two sisters went to Nebruska to live. A legacy is held in trust in Germany for them, if their whereabouts can be learned. If any person having information of them will feave the same with Mr. Schneider, he will forward it to the authorities in Germany.

Suit for Damages. Josephine Syfert, by her attorney, B. F. Davis, has entered suit in the court of commore pleas against the Penusylvania railroad dompany for damages. Snyder's, on North Queen street, three Spanish students appear each evening, and at Excelsior hall, on East King street, the Zyllertheller quartette and Tyrolean warblers hold forth.

O'Brien's Circus, -John O'Brien's circus will be here bright and early to-morrow morning. It was in York on Monday and the Duily says "Every scat was occupied and all the standing room was taken. In fact, the crowd was en-tirely too large for the size of the tent, and the people were compelled to stand close to the ring, thus shutting out the view of the parties occupying the lower seats. At ten oclock a street parade was given and passed through all the principal streets. Among the features of the parade were the ten elephant camels, two band, etc. The performance was til that could be expected for the price of admission. It consisted of performing elephants, aerial tight wire acting, which was very rood, bare-back riding, aerobatic feats, hurdle act, contortion act, somersaul triding, performing dogs, clowns, a five-horse act, etc."
