LANCASTER, MAY 15, 1886

An Important Measure. The act passed by the Senate to regulate inter-state commerce, with but four dissenting votes, will be very important and very beneficial to the business interests of the country if it becomes a law. It establishes a commission at Washington to which written complaint may be made of injustice in the charges of common carriers. Upon such complaint being received the amission notifies the carrier, and decides whether injury is done, and what recompense is needed. If the carrier fails to make it, the commission calls upon a United States court to intervene, which will make its decision after a summary hearing of the matter.

A most useful provision in the law is one requiring all common carriers to file their schedules of charges with the commission within sixty days, which rates they can change only on ten days notice. The commission will publish these rates so far as they deem it practicable to do so. This provision will be likely to be effective in securing to the public fair and equal rates of freight charges. The secrecy of their rates and the facility with which they can be changed makes it possible for the carriers to discriminate unjustly between their customers; and no commission would be able to redress the grievance if such secrecy could be maintained.

The law forbids rebates absolutely, which is another most important provision. It gives great power to the commission to determine what undue discrimination may be; and it is doubtless wise in this, as it seems to be impossible to define such discrimination in a law. This act declares that no greater charge shall be made for a longer than a shorter haul for like quantities and classes of freight from and to the same stations. It is clear that this provision has in itself little force and may be readily evaded; and that the action and interpretation of the commission are essential to make it effective. The law recognizes this, and gives to the commission the power even to authorize in special cases a greater charge for shorter than for a longer haul A limitation of a charge which depends upon the quantity and quality of the goods and upon identity of starting and delivering points would leave it in the power of the carrier to discriminate pretty much at its pleasure, if the discretion of the commission was not interposed by the law to check the action of the carrier and to compel a compliance with the law; which is that the charges made for carriage shall be

It has become very evident that the intervention of Congress is needed to make them so. The companies need as much to be protected from each other as their customers need protection from them. State legislatures cannot control them, because the rival companies run in different states. and a state law which would bind one to equal charges would cripple it in its competition for business with another, not so restricted, but able to make the class of freight that it has no competition for, pay for the carriage of other freight. It is to the public interest that railroads shall receive fair and compensating tolls for their service; and that these tolls should be equalized, laid upon all who require railroad service. This commission is established to secure their public interests; and no more important duty is laid upon any officers of the government.

just to the companies and all the people.

Partisan Pensions. The gleeful people who have been congratulating themselves that Pension Commissioner Black has not furnished evidence to support his charge of partisan abuse of his bureau under Dudley, have simply not been following the evidence. There is and has been an abundance of it. There never was any reasonable doubt about it. Everybody was cognizant of the party pressure brought to bear on this sort of government business. In every community Democrats could be seen yielding to it and Republicans profiting from it. The coincidences were too many not to arise from a generally vicious system and high-handed administration.

Two cases laid before the congressional investigating committee this week are samples of a great many, some of which have been misreported, and some have not been reported at all in the newspapers.

In one of these the claimant had applied for a pension six days before the expiration of the limit to the payment of arrears. The records of the adjutant general's office contained no evidence of disability. The original certificate of discharge states that claimant had been unfitted for duty by reason of a disease which he had contracted before he enlisted. Among the papers found in the pension office, inconsiderately left by Dudley, was a letter from Thomas Graham, county auditor of Jefferson county, Indiana, to Commissioner Dudley, asking, if consistent, that would look after the papers in this case, and if it were right, hurry along the matter, stating that it would "be of advantage to us in the way of politics." Mr. Graham added that they were having "a big fight against Holman," and asked that the commissioner should not fall to do any-ham was received about that time, upon which the case was reopened and sent to an examining-board in Indiana, resulting in granting the pension. In another instance was found a letter written by J. A. Fife to Senator Logan, in which he calls attention to the long time which a claimant's papers had been in the pension office unacted upon. He says claimant was a member of "the famous Springfield convention." Claimant was feeling ugly" because of the delay, and the writer thought it a good scheme to have the matter settled as soon as possible to make him feel better. The writer asked General Logan's aid to this end. General Logan sent the letter to Commissioner Dudley, with a request that the case be made "special," which was granted, and the pension was allowed.

These are a few from the many. The 'special" letters putting pension cases on political grounds were doubtless generally better taken care of than to be filed for Democratic inspection; but enough were carelessly left to prove the system, and Dudley will find it hot enough for him before he is through with it.

Not Taxing Profitable Properties.

The Mt. Joy Stor and News very properly calls attention to the fact that the property owned, occupied and operated by the management of the soldiers' orphans school in that borough, has been for many years exempt from taxation by virtue of some laws passed for that purpose. One of them is an act of April 10, 1867, which exempted their lands and buildings not exceeding $35,000 in value; and another is the act of April 24, 1869, which more expressly says "no tax shall be assessed or collected on any property used or entered upon for the purposes mentioned in said act, after the date of and during said occupancy, the assessed valuation of which shall not exceed the sum mentioned in said

At the same time the act says that these institutions, exempt from taxation because designated and employed as soldiers' orphans' schools, must be "literary or charitable" institutions. It is very clumsy legislation and was manifestly made to fit a particular case; but it is certainly inequitable, if not also unconstitutional. These schools are run as a private business and run to profit. Investigation has shown that the profits are inordinate, and that everything is sacrificed to make profit. There is no reason why they should not pay tax. A soldiers' orphans school that pays forty per cent. is a more legitimate subject for all kinds of taxation than a farm that does not pay three per cent.

Time to Speak Out.

Our esteemed contemporary the New Era, in answer to Quay's gentle intimation that if he were in Lancaster county he would support Summy, and to the Times' comment that Editor Geist and Boss Quay are therefore " for once " in accord,

Mr. Quay says if he were a citizen of Lan-caster county he would support Mr. Summy. Geist is a citizen of Lancaster county and he is not supporting Summy, and does not in-tend to do so, and still "there is peace and harmony in the Republican ranks," and Geist's admiration for Quay's "delightful simplicity" in politics remains unabated.

This attempt to set things straight is open to the cavil that, as Geist is not a citizen of the Summy-Stehman end of Lancaster county, his declaration that he does not intend to support Summy is still open to an equivocal construction.

Our esteemed contemporary may as well set things entirely straight. It requires dainness of speech to make the public understand that he does intend to support Stehman.

GRANGER R. H. THOMAS, of Mechanicsburg, is talked of as a Republican candidate for lieutenant governor. "Talked of!" Republican ?"

THE Cullom inter-state commerce bill which has just passed the Senate, provides for a commission of five persons to be appointed by the president. Each commisdoner is to have a salary of $7,500 a year. The commission is given authority to inquire into the business and management of all common carriers subject to the provisions of the bill, and to obtain full and complete information as to such business; it may require the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books, papers, agreements, tariffs and documents relating to any matter under investigation, and may to that end invoke the aid of the United States courts.

COL. DECHERT has picked out Valley Forge for the summer encampment of his Second regiment. That is fit and proper. Valley Forge and Gettysburg are our greatest battle-fields, and their historic associations should inspire soldiers tenting on these old camp grounds.

ONE of the greatest curiosities in social statistics is the numerical preponderance of females over males in many parts of the world. Prof. Richmond Mayo Smith has figured out that the number of females to 1,000 males in each country of Europe is as follows: In England and Wales, 1,054; Scotland, 1,096; Ireland, 1,014; Sweden, 1,067 , Norway, 1,036 ; Denmark, 1,029 ; Holland, 1,029; Germany, 1,039; Austria, 1,041; Hungary, 1,002 ; Switzerland, 1,046 ; Russia, 1,028; France, 1,008; Belgium, 905; Italy, 989; Servia, 940; Greece, 953; all Europe, 1,021. In the United States as a whole there are only 965 women to 1,000 men, showing the effect of the immigration from Europe. But in New England and the Eastern states generally, there is an excess of females, from exactly the same reason as in Europe namely, emigration; and in the Southern states there is also an excess from natural causes. On the other hand, in the Western states and the territories, there is always an excess of men; in Colorado, for instance, there are 1,000 men to 504 women.

The "long and short-haul" clause, reads as follows: That it shall be unlawful for any common carrier to charge or receive any greater compensation in the aggregate for the transportation of passengers or of the like class and quantity of property, subject to the provisions of this act, for a shorter than for a longer distance over the same line in the same direction and from the same original point of departure, or to the same point of arrival; but this shall not be construed as authorizing any common carrier within the terms of this act to charge and receive as great compensation for a shorter as for a longer distance; provided, however, that upon application to the commission appointed under the provisions of this act, such common carrier may, in special cases, be authorized to charge less for longer than for shorter distances for the transportation of passengers or property; and the commission may from ime to time make general rules exempting such designated common carrier in such special cases from the operation of this section of this act. Those offending against this act will be guilty of extertion according to the magnitude of their offense.

SENATOR RIDDLEBERGER took a party of fifteen to the circus in Washington; obtained fifteen tickets from a premium ticket-seller, but was not allowed to enter the circus with his triends as the tent was full. He protested with some vehemence against this proceeding, and demanded that the police arrest the men under false pretenses. He was arrested by the police and immediately released, but insisted on going to the station house with the officer, and after reaching the station and explaining matters he rejoined his friends.

The Catholic University.

In Baltimore, Md., a meeting of the board of directors of the Catholic University, held on Wednesday, was attended by Archbishops Gibbons, Williams, of Boston : Corrigan, of New York; Ryan, of Philadelphia; Bishops New York; Kyan, of Philadelphia; Bishops Keane, of Richmond; Spalding, of Peoria; Marty, of Dakota; Monsignor Farley, of New York; Fathers Foley, of Baltimore, and Chappelle, of Washington, and Messrs, Eugene Kelly, Michael Jenkins, B. The committee of prelates appointed to make colcommittee of prelates appointed to make col-lections reported most gratifying results. The selection of a rector was left to the four archbishops, their choice to be announced at archbishops, their choice to be announced at the next meeting. Ten plans for the build-ings were submitted and three were selected from which the final selection is to be made. Father Kelley is thought likely to succeed to the bishopric of Washington. It is under-stood that Bishop Spalding, of Peoria, is to be rector of the university, and that Father Chappelle, of Washington, will occupy the chair of history.

The Republican Temperance Party.

rom the Independent, Rep. There is no hope in either New York or New Jersey for temperance legislation from the Democratic party. The temperance element is too small to make itself feit in party councils. But the Republican party, which embraces the larger part of the Chris-tian moral sentiment of the two states, is in a tian moral sentiment of the two states, is in a position to fight the saloons and re-establish itself in the confidence of thousands of earnest temperance men, if it will. It may, perhaps, he forced to do this. A movement having this object in view has already been inaugurated in New Jersey, a number of influential Republicans having called a state convention, to be held in Trenton, May 25, to express their views in opposition to the liquor cause, and to elect delegates to the Anti-Saloon Republican mational convention, soon to be held in Chicago. The unanimity and determination shown in the large and representative preliminary conference promise a convention and an expression of no ordinary character. It is an effort to save the Republican party. If it shall succeed, well and good. If it fail, there is not salt enough in the party to save it.

OUR PLAC AND HONOR SAVED. $1,800 Voted to the Turkish Minister to Up hold the National Diguity.

In the House of Representatives on Wednesday the committee of the whole took up the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill. Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, criticised an item in the bill appropriating $1,800 for a steam launch for the use of the minister at Constantinople. He said that the late Re publican minister got along with $1,000. Mr. Morrison, of Illinois, moved that the appropriation be reduced to $1,000. Former ministers had been able to get along with that sum, and he could not see why the pres-ent minister could not. Mr. Hewlit, of New York, read a paragraph

Mr. Hewilt, of New York, read a paragraph from a private letter from Minister Cox, stating that it cost $1,800 to hire a steam launch, and that no one could live in Constantinople in summer without it. He had been to Constantinople himself, and he knew that it was absolutely impossible for the minister to get along with a steam launch which would cost less than $1,800.

"The late Republican minister did," suggested a Republican.

"The late Republican minister did not do it," replied Mr. Hewitt. "I went out with him on the launch, and the British launch came out and went by us, and the Italian launch came out and went by us, and the beauty launch came out and went by us, and the beauty launch came out and went by us, and the French launch came out and went by us, and as the only American flag that floats in those waters is the flag in the steam launch, we had to submit to the humiliation of see Democrat can get along with it."

Mr. Morrison—The last minister did not ask for more.
"Oh, yes he did," replied Mr. Hewitt; "and he appealed to me as an American citizen to come in here and make a statement of the humiliation we both felt on that occasion, and I have not recovered from that humiliation yet; and if you ask General Lew Wallace be will tell you that he was never so humiliated as when in that broken-down launch, [Laughter.] This $500 will save the honor of the American flag." Inter-State Compensation.

From the Record. According to the Tioga Agitator, the loss in marriage fees to Pennsylvania parsons through couples who go over the line into New York to get married is more than made good by the New York couples who come to Pennsylvania to get divorced. The marriage fee is regulated somewhat by the generosity of the bridegroom ; but the divorce fee is a matter of conscience with the lawyer. It may be surmised that it costs a great deal more to get united in Pennsylvania than to be tied up in New York.
