COLUMBIA, May 20.—A hearing was given yesterday atternoon, at the office of Squire Frank, to Julius B. Barnes, the man who was arreated at Parkesburg for stealing clothing from Howard Barnes, the bar-tender at Howard Barnes, the bar-tender at Howard Barnes, the bar-tender at Howard Barnes and a revolver were stolen from his room at the Bosel on Tuesday night. This man had been boarding at the place for a few days and engraving watches. Another witness saw the man leave the place with two bundless under his arm. Officer Hardnele testified that he found the man in the lockup at Parkesburg and he was wearing the suit of clothers. The revolver and overcost was also in his possession. The man had changed clothing near the coal chutes and his discarded suit was found behind a pile of wood. The man admitted to the theft. In default of $300 ball he was committed to jail for a trial at the August term of court.

During yesterday Joseph Kenna and Charles Swartz, two employes of the Colum-Charies Swartz, two employes of the Columbia rolling mill, got on a drunk and entered the liquor store of Charles Grove, corner Commerce and Walnut streets. Swartz took a check from his pocket and desired that Mr. Grove advance some money on it. The check was drawn to the order of Swartz and was signed by Schall & Co. The face of the check called for $7$ and Mr. Grove gave Swartz $8$. After the men left the store Mr. Grove went to the bank of E. R. Smith & Co., to have the check cashed, when he found that the check was bogus. Suit was entered against these men at the office of Squire Frank, and they were arrested by Officers Hardnele and Wittick. A hearing was given to the men yesterday afternoon, when Swartz admitted passing the check, but said that it was done in a joke. The three dollars were returned to Mr. Grove, and upon payment of costs, the men were discharged.

Actident to a Railroader.

Accident to a Railroader, Albert Arms, a brakeman on the market train of the Pennsylvania railroad, met with a very peculiar accident during yesterday. coming from Philadelphia towards While coming from Philadelphia towards Columbia the train broke in half, between the cars where Arms was standing. The buil nose of the car dropped to the ground, and by hitting against the ties was thrown back towards the car, striking Arms in the right leg, resulting in a very painful bruise. The accident will prevent his working for some days.

A New Charity Commissions Chas. J. Harrah, the street railroad president of Philadelphia, who has been appointed a member of the state board of charities, by Gov. Pattison, vice Mahlon H. , is now in his 70th year. Asearly as 1838 he called attention to the wretched as 1838 he called attention to the wretched condition of the Harrisburg jail; but his most important work was done in Brazil, where he lived from 1843 to 1874. At the request of Emperor Dom Pedro he corrected many serious abuses and defects in the St. Paulo prison, and in 1871-2 visited England and Ireland to examine the prisons and insane asylums there with a view to introducing reforms into the penal institutions of Brazil. He established a hospital for the maimed and wounded in Rio Janeiro in 1867, and built the first public school in Brazil. For this he was make a commander of the Imperial Order was make a commander of the Imperial Order da Rosa by the emperor. fast borse is more valuable in the minds of Chester county jurymen than a woman. The jury in the case of Dr.J.W.Crumbaugh[formerly of Lancaster] against the township o Kennett rendered a verdict of $196 in favor of Kennett rendered a verdict of $196 in favor of the plaintiff to compensate him for the injury which his mare received while crossing a bridge over a small stream in that township, while the jury in the case of Susan J. Huston against the township of New London rendered a verdict in favor of the defendant. Mrs. Huston had her arm and wrist severely hurt by reason of being thrown out of her sleigh because of the bad condition of the road. Yet the jury said that she not only is entitled to no compensation, but must even pay the costs incurred in the suit.

Accidents to Teams, This morning a young man named Lyons and a companion were driving a horse, an open wagon, belonging to hitched to an open wagen, belonging to Jacob Gable, along East Vine street. Near Rockland street the harness tore and the horse began to run. Lyons held on to the reins, but his companion was thrown from the wagen and considerably bruised. The horse ran down Vine street, and, when near Christian, his wagen collided with a large wagen, leaded with stone. The runaway horse was then stopped after the harness of Gable's had been torn, the shalts broken and a wheel damaged. The stone wagen was not injured.

As one of Hartman's large lime wagons was crossing the railroad track at Prince and Walnut streets, this morning, a wheel caught in a rail and was broken so badly that the lime had to be taken from the wagon before it could be removed.

About noon to-day a cab belonging to Edward McGeehan, had a spring broken striking a telegraph pole in West King near Prince street.

Must Bahave Themselves For several years past the neighborhood of Vest Lemon street and the railroads have been very much worried by a crowd of young been very much worried by a crowd of young men lounging around Landis' grain warehouse and behaving in a disgraceful manner, insulting people as they passed by. Lately it has grown to such an extent that people living in the immediate vicinity can stand it no longer. Last Sunday they amused themselves in post jumping, rope walking, and games of all sorts for amusement, behaving in the most disorderly manner. The mayor has been notified of the conduct of the young men, and declares it shall be broken uplast evening they assembled in full force. If it happens again the whole party will be prosecuted.

Settled Their Difficulty.

They had fairly proceeded on their way when the horse, (Jumbo by name) from some unknown cause refused to go (arther. He was coaxed and whipped, but no amount of moral inducement or corporal persuasion could make him resume the now almost hopeless journey. As there was no alternative but to unhitch and take Jumbo home, Mr. Musselman did this with as good grace as possible. The folks were badly disappointed at this premature termination of their visit and to add further to their discomfort the rain was pouring down and they received a thorough drenching.

Henry Bush, while whitewashing for C. Harnish, of Refton, fell from the ladder and severely sprained his ankle.

The rains have rotted the corn in some places and the farmers are compelled to replant.

AN OLD-TIME CANTASS IN GEORGIA. Gen. Gordon and Major Bacon on the Stump for the Gubernational Nomination.

The gubernational canvass in Georgia, from being a still hunt between Major A. O. Bacon and Judge T. J. Simmons, has developed into an old-time appeal from the stump, with Gen, Gordon and Bacon as the principals. Simmons saw the coming tribulation and returned to the bench, where he is now busy reading charges to grand juries. Gordon' reading charges to grand juries. Gordon's sentrance into the arena was made under cover of the Jeff Davis demonstration, which was an excellent time in which to jog up the old Confederates. Major Bacon's friends objected to this appeal to the war, friends objected to this appeal to the war, whereupon the Gordon people asserted t at well he might, since he resigned the adjutancy of the Ninth regiment in 1862, and went around the state collecting tax in kind. The Bacon people retorted that Gordon's resignation from the United States Senate was suspicious. The first stump meeting between the candidates was in Eatonton, where Bacon got into a wrangle with the chairman, but subsequently got back to his subject and denounced the statement that either in peace or war he had resigned a public trust which he was physically able to fulfill. "And let him come who dare to fulfil. "And let him come who dare to deny it," said he yesterday.

The candidates met in Sparta, where Gen. Gordon said: "I put the gentleman on notice from, this hour that I shall strike back for from this bour that I shall strike back for every insinuation against my character. I mean to handle him with gloves off, and carry the war into Africa. Major Bacon has spoken of my resignation. I will do so, too. Somebody resigned in 18%2, but it was not me. That was a good time to resign. Those times were enough to make a man sick and wantto go home. It was prudent to resign then. If he had not resigned he might not have been here to run for governor now. He is a friend of mine, indeed. He says he has been so for thirty years, and yet, while saying he will not impute improper motives to me, he has for the past hour tried to blacken my character."

This brought out the declaration from Major Bacon that whatever friendship there

Major Bacon that whatever friendship there might have been between them, it was now ended. He had no friendship for such a man The depate was full of mutual mud flinging. and was greatly enjoyed by the people. Go don and Bacon speak in Augusta to-night.

Why Philadelphia Loses Her Trade. from the Record.

A Nashville merchant buys $1,000,000 worth of dry goods every year in the Eastern market. Calico prints constitute a large porportion of his purchases. The railroad rate from Philadelphia to Nashville on this class from Philadelphia to Nashville on this class of shipments is $1.09 per 100 pounds. The rate for the same goods over the same railroad from New York to Nashville is 73 cents per 100 pounds. Although the Philadelphian can manufacture as cheaply as his New York rival, the Nashville merchant can save money by buying in New York, and he buys there.

"Seeking Rest from Their Daily Life."
