ANOTHER SERIOUS RUNAWAY.

THE SAN ACCIDENT THAT PROKE U A SUNDAY PLHASURS PARTY.

m M. Doen and Family With Other et on a Trip to Hartman's Island, Their Horse Russ Away and Mr. and Mrs. Does and a Boy Badly Hurt.

nday morning Wm. M. Deen and family Sunday morning Wm. M. Deen and family Albert Drachbar and family, George Weber and family, Thos. Deen and family and Charles Peters, each family in separate vehicles, left this city for a drive to Hartman's island, on the Susquebanns. All went well until the party were descending the steep hill leading to the river between McCail's Ferry and York Furnace. Here the horse in charge of Wm. M. Deen balked and began to kick, knocking the dash-board and began to kick, knocking the dash-board clear through the roof of the vehicle, and then ran at full speed down the hill. Mrs. Deen, who had her little grandchild (a son of Albert Drachbar) on her lap, threw the child out of the wagon, thinking that the best thing that could be done under the es. She then attempted to circumstances. She then attempted to get out of the wagon herself by climbing over the back seat, but a lurch of the vehicle threw her out and dangerously injured her. It is feared her hip is broken or dislocated. Meanwhile Wm. M. Deen remained in the carriage with his son Frank, aged eight years, endeavoring to get control of the runaway horse. On reaching the raiload at the bottom of the hill, the carriage was upset, and Mr. Deen and his son were thrown out. Mr. Deen was badly bruised, his face cut, and it is feared some of his ribs are broken. The boy Frank was through the middle and one of his eyes so completely closed up that it is not yet so completely closed up that it is not yet known whether the sight is destroyed or The accident created the greatest consterna tion among those who were following Mr. Deen's team in the descent of the hill. Their several teams were stopped and the men hastened forward to the assistance of Mr. Deen and his family. They first found Mr. Drachbar's child, that had been thrown from the wagon, lying by the roadside uninjured. Some distance below Mrs. Deen was found lying helpiess, as above described, and at the foot of the hill the boy Frank was standing covered from head to foot with his own blood, and his father too badly hurt to assist him.

Mrs. Deen, being unable to walk, was placed upon a settee and carried to the landing, where the whole party were soon gathered together, and taken over to the island where they were hospitably cared for by Mr. Casper Hartman and his family. A doctor was summoned, but as he lived five miles from the place it was some time before he reached the place it was some time before he reached

Towards evening the families that had accompanied Mr. Deen returned to this city. Dr. Yeagley was notified of the accident, and this morning he went down to the island to

THE HORSE'S PREVIOUS ESCAPADE. The animal which ran away from Win M. Deen, belonged to him and his partner. Samuel Frankford, who deal in fish. On Saturday Andrew Yackley started out to deliver some fish with the horse, taking with him Benjamin O. Conn. As they were driving along Manor street the horse frightened and jumped aside. He upset the wagon, and, after both men had been thrown out, he ran off. Yackley was badly cut about one of his legs and Conn was terribly bruised and cut. The wagon was badly wrecked before the borse was caucht. horse was caught.

Hurt in the Zook Runaway. The runaway of J. Gust Zook's team on Saturday, caused more havor than was re-ported then. John Musselman, of West Hempfield township, who with William Dunn was driving towards home on the Columbia turnpike, received serious injuries in the collision with the Zook team. market wagon of Musselman when struck was completely turned around; his horse did not frighten or attempt to run, but the sud-den turning threw both from the vehicle. den turning threw both from the venicle. Mrs. J. Gust Zook, who was thrown from a carriage on Saturday by runaway horses, is badly injured. Since the accident she has suffered great pain, but last night she rested comfertably. It appears that Mrs. was thrown out when she endeavored to get bold of the reins to stop the horses.

The Horses Still At It.
On Saturday afternoon two horses of R. B. Martin, which were hitched to a heavy wagon, frightened in the lumber yard on Water street at a board which fell on one of them. They ran out of the yard and down Water street almost to Orange where they were caught by some repairmen of the Reading railroad company. The wagon had the coup-ling pole broken and one wheel badly "dished."

Reckless Driving.

On Saturday evening a young countryman who was drunk and probably wanted to show off, gave an exhibition of reck driving on East King street. He drove out of the archway at the Lancaster County house, of the archway at the Lancaster County house, and when reaching the street whipped his horse. The animal ran out East King at a terrific rate of speed, and the countryman's face was covered with froad smiles as the policemen along the way yelled to him to stop. The street was full of people at the time and it is a wonder that some person was not run over at one of the many crossings. The name of the reckless young "Reuben" could not be learned, or he would have been could not be learned, or he would have been made to suffer. Racing on the Street.

A couple of young bloods were racing their fast horses on South Queen street. They will be complained against by Officer Eich-oltz to-day. It is the intention of the officers to stop fast driving on the streets.

EXPLOSION OF A KITCHEN RANGE. A Servant Girl Lights a Fire When a Tremen dous Crash Follows.

About half-past five o'clock this morning all East Walnut street was shaken up by a terrible explosion equalling in noise the bursting of dynamite bombs. Jumping from their couches the terrified residents rushed to the windows and stuck their nightcapped heads far into the street. Mr. Fred Hoefel, living at No. 133 East Walnut, rushed down stairs en deshabille, and on reaching down stairs en deshabille, and on reaching the back kitchen found his hired girl standing like a statue in the centre of it, and the range blown into a thousand fragments, strewn around her.

She didn't know what had happened; she only knew that she bad made the fire, had heard a tremendous crash, was almost blinded by smoke, ashes and pieces of iron that enveloped her. Instinctively she rushed for a bucket of water which she threw upon the burning coals that were lying around the burning coals that were lying around loose, and like Marias of Carthage, stood among the ruins to discover the extent of the destruction wrought so suddenly.

The cause of the accident is not positively known; it was of much the same character as that at the residence of Mr. D. A. Altick last winter. It is a supposed that at the formal of the same character winter. winter. It is supposed that owing to some defect there was no water in the water-back when the fire was built, and that it becoming overheated burst when the water was let into it. Whatever was the cause the destruc-tion of the range was as complete as it could have been had it been charged with dyna-mite.

PORTUGAL'S KOTAL MARRIAGE. splendid Festivities in Honor of the Crown

Prince's Nuptials.

The wedding procession in Lisbon for the approaching marriage of the Prince's Ameile D'Orleans and the Crown Prince of Portugal took place Sunday and was a most imposing affair. When the procession reached the church it was met by twelve of the oldest marquises of the kingdom, who supported a canopy under which the king and queen passed to the entrance of the church. The interior of the editice was richly decorated, and five hundred chandeliers illuminated the scene. The church was crowded with members of the Chamber of Deputies and other distinguished persons. The patriarch of Lisbon officiated, and at the conclusion of the service and ceremonies salutes were fired from the forts and the menof-war in the harbor, and the bells of the of-war in the harbor, and the bells of the churches in the city rang out their music. The weather was beautiful and the streets were crowded with obsering citizens. Toright the city is illuminated and bands are parading the streets playing the national airs of France and Portugal.

The Count and Countess of Paris (father and mother of the bride) have decided to remain in Lisbon until the 27th instant. From here they will go to Madrid, deferring their return to France for some time.

That "Pickle Barrel" at Mount Joy Our attention has been called by the Mount Joy Herald to an inaccuracy made in our report of the condition of the boys' bath room report of the condition of the boys' bath room at the recent examination of the Mount Joy soldiers' orphans school. Our report stated that "the boys' bath room is as bad as the Philadelphia Record reported it—containing only two old worn-out tubs and the pickle barrel so often mentioned by that pajer." Our reporter wrote hastily. On refreshing his memory he recollects that the "pickle barrel" was in another school, and what he mistook for it was a big caldron standing in the middle of the bath room and said to contain water for supplying the bath tubs for tain water for supplying the bath tubs for

Having made this correction the reporter here reiterates in stronger language than he used in his report of the examination that the boys' bath-room at the school is a small shabby concern, that the two old tubs it contrains are entirely insufficient, for bathing so great a number of pupils—over 1.0—and that it is a shame to require four of them to bathe in the same water.

A WRECK AT COLUMBIA.

Horse-Recent Notes About Town.

Regular Correspondence of INTELLIGENCES. COLUMBIA, May 24 .- On Sunday morning about 8:30 o'clock, a slight wreck occurred in the west yards of the Pennsylvania railroad, in front of the dispatcher's office. Engine 597, with a train of stock cars, was running into the yards and was struck by the rear end of the train drawn by engines 923 and 1.102. The latter train had pulled over the switches in order to back a passenger car on the north track, but the diagman was unable to draw the belt from the coupling and signalled for the engineer to come back. The cars was pushed back at a lively gait, and the rear end run against engine 297, causing the wreck. The passenger car was badly broken at both ends, and a car loaded with bailed hay was demolished. The hay was scattered about the tracks in all direct tions. The smoke box of engine 307 was also broken. The Columbia wreck crew were called into service and cleared away the broken cars. The tracks were blockaded for about one hour. Almost a Serious Fire.

About 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, a small boy came running into the dispatch er's office of the Pennsylvania ratiroad and told the men at that place that an oil-tank car in the west 'vard was on fire. An investiga tion quickly followed and it was found that the top of one of these cars was burning. About 70 others of the same kind of cars were in the vicinity and considerable excitement prevailed in the neighborhood. The car was detached from the train and taken out of the way of the other cars. The round-house employes extinguished the fire with patent in extinguishers. The fire was fortunately pu out before the contents of the tank caught on fire, which would have caused a serious con-flagration. The burning of the top of the car caused an alarm of fire in town, and part of the fire department was out. The neighborhood was soon full of people, expecting to see a large blaze.
