

DAILY INTELLIGENCER.

PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING IN THE YEAR. (Sunday Excepted) BY STEPHEN S. BROWN.

INTELLIGENCER BUILDING, 8, W. CORNER CROWN SQUARE, LANCASTER, PA.

WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, (Eight Pages.) PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING. Two Dollars a Year in Advance.

THE INTELLIGENCER, LANCASTER, PA.

THE LANCASTER INTELLIGENCER. LANCASTER, MAY 27, 1886.

Battling Vicious Legislation. Ex-Gov. Curtin made a sensible and manly speech in Congress on Tuesday against the extraordinary and unconstitutional proposition to suppress the manufacture of oleomargarine, by imposing upon it an exorbitant tax, and committing the collection of it to the internal revenue department, which is exceptionally sharp and certain in the execution of its duties and the discharge of its responsibilities.

The whole case of the objections to such legislation was admirably presented by Congressman Curtin in two lines of argument. One of these is that there is no constitutional warrant for taxation to exterminate an industry, even if the trade be vicious. There is no pretense that the suggested oleomargarine tax is for revenue; it aims only to crush out the manufacture.

This is cowardly as well as unconstitutional. Gov. Curtin well said: "The question should be dealt with in a fair, open and manly manner. This is an evil correct it in the proper manner. Do not meet it by the imposition or indication of an onerous tax, but let this government go straight to the mark, and if there is in this country produced an article of food which the poor will buy that is injurious to health or spreads contagion, as the gentleman from New York has said, let us legislate it out of existence by an omnium bonum such as the bill provides for, and by adopting measures that will prevent its being given to the people.

In the second place people have a right to eat what they please, and so long as its sale is not prejudicial to health, they are entitled to have it made for them and sold to them. Good oleomargarine is better than bad butter and cheaper than good butter; to some tastes it is even preferable to any kind of butter, and concerning tastes it is not to be legislated. Gov. Curtin said with force:

The average American man is quite capable of judging whether butter made in this manner is good or bad for him; whether it is a wholesome article of food, or whether it is a source of contagious disease. With my experience of life I am willing to submit that to every American citizen, as to what is best for himself and family, and the Congress of the United States can neither regulate his independence of action or appetite.

As to food, there is a great variety of taste. When I was abroad I saw a man on the Nevada, from the frozen regions of the North, eat a tall candle, and he looked as happy and cheerful and contented, and smiled as pleasantly as my friend, the gentleman from New York (Mr. Hancock), and my colleague from Pennsylvania (Mr. Scott) would after an elaborate dinner at Belmont's.

There is much more sense and wisdom in this than in most congressional speeches; and Gov. Curtin never showed to better advantage than on the right side of this question, which involves some fundamental principles.

The Case of Maxwell. When the terrible weight of the testimony against him is considered, Maxwell appears to have developed a fairly respectable defense. There are points which appear weak, however, and it remains to be seen whether his cross-examination will not knock his explanation full of holes.

His description of his feelings after Preller's death will no doubt have its intended effect on the jury, and he made a good point when he said that being a foreigner he did not know that he would be permitted to testify in his own behalf, but thought that as in England he would not be allowed to make a statement in court. By the law of his own land it is pretty certain that he would hang, and yet there seems a probability of his innocence of murder. The weakest part of his evidence is that relating to his conduct when a fugitive from justice. Men overwhelmed with grief for the loss of a friend do not commonly indulge in diamond rings and flutes, but he will doubtless claim that he was intoxicated at the time of these purchases.

Death in a Kiss. The sad death of little George Cutler in Brooklyn a few days ago from the effects of a kiss given to a dying grandfather, who was suffering from blood poisoning, should call the public attention to the extreme peril of the practice of kissing the dying and dead. The little boy's sister had kissed her grandfather when his system was thoroughly impregnated with poison, and she was almost immediately stricken with diphtheria. She and her brother were constant companions in her illness, and she communicated her disease to him by kisses. He died and the girl now lies between life and death.

These facts are the most potent argument against the indulgence of the particular sentimentalism that sanctions as eminently proper kissing the pale lips of the dead and dying. When the life is departing out of its clay tenement, is no time for this emotional display. And the above recorded case shows how a giving away to the feelings that dictate this line of action may bring in its train quick death to the living.

A Celestial Lawyer. Hong Yen Chang, called in Anglo-Saxon Henry Chang, yesterday graduated from the Columbia college school of law. He is taller than most of the Chinamen one sees in this country and appears to be unusually intelligent. His intention is to settle in America for practice, and he hopes to be admitted to the New York bar with the rest of his classmates. Mr. Chang has been in this country sixteen years, and is extremely fond of it. He was matriculated at Yale college, having been admitted to the regular academic course at that institution. His abilities in legal Investigation are among the finest in the class, and in some special branches of the law he has been unequalled. Although a question of constitutional law might arise in his case when his application to practice in the New York court is presented, it is probable that he will be allowed the privilege through courtesy.

When Chinese cheap labor invades the legal profession there will be music in the air, and in Congress.

To-day's conference of the Liberal party will probably be fought with great results for Ireland.

CINCINNATI has gotten beyond the sordid notions embraced in the query: "Does it pay?" The musical festival here last week was a success financially, as there was a deficiency of about $5,000, but the papers claim it would have been cheap to the city of Cincinnati at five times that cost.

A MEMBER of American and German clubs in Hartford, Connecticut, have long denied that they were liable to pay the special government tax for selling to their members beer, liquor, and cigars in the club rooms. The clubs based their objections to paying on the fact that they were not doing a regular business, but restricted it solely to members of their associations; that it was in no sense open to the public. The commissioner of internal revenue has decided on the facts presented that the clubs must pay, and has notified the collector of internal revenue. He says: "Any course of selling, thought to be a restrictive class of persons, and to do so at a profit is within the meaning of the statute imposing a special tax, and that 'the internal revenue special tax stamp is not a license, but a tax on the sale of goods, and a possession of a social club does not imply that the club is a dealer in liquors or tobacco in a commercial sense."

The tariff flag is being wildly waved in the oleomargarine discussion in Congress. There is no need of this. Common sense is all that is required to knock a hole in this unconstitutional scheme.

The public debt reduction goes right on, despite the strikes. The May statement will show a decrease of $12,000,000.

In view of the rapid spread of materialism among the moderns, the following statement of the position of the Presbyterian Church, South is timely and interesting: "The church remains at this time sincerely convinced that the scriptures as truly and authoritatively expounded in our 'confession of faith' and catechism teach that Adam and Eve were created body and soul in the image of God, thereby preserving perfect reason; that Adam's body was directly fashioned by Almighty God, without any natural animal part; that any kind of matter previously created of nothing; and that any error, inasmuch as, by methods of interest, scripture which must demand, and in the consequences which by fair implication it will involve, it will lead to a denial of doctrines fundamental to the faith.

GENERAL BEAVER will not be a candidate for governor, unless it is the unanimous desire of his party. None have doubted that it has long been the unanimous desire of Gen. Beaver to have the office.

It is a pleasure to record the fact that a number of ladies and gentlemen of the Pennsylvania Historical society at Philadelphia, have taken steps for the organization of a commission to study the necessity of some such plan for preventing the wholesale tree destruction in this state has long been apparent. Professor J. T. Rothrock says that fifteen per cent. of timber land would be considered a death, but at present about sixty and a half per cent. of the timber country remains in timber land. The dangers from a timber death were a failure of water supply as well as of fuel, and an impure atmosphere. He suggested that taxes on forest land should be abolished. This state should at once take an interest in the subject, for Pennsylvania's timber lands are no longer self-supporting. Dr. James Anders said that it had been observed that villages in wooded districts enjoyed greater immunity from malarial diseases than those on open plains.

EMMONS beat the tom-tom very loudly when he started in to defend the Pennsylvania nomination. Mr. Harry's confirmation winds up the state list, showing that the Vermont senator did not have even the status of the fly on the wheel in the situation.

PERSONAL. REV. DR. PHILLIPS BROOKS has finally decided not to accept the position of assistant bishop of the diocese of Pennsylvania.

DR. FRANCISCO ANTONIO VIDAL has resigned the presidency of the republic of Uruguay. General Maximo Santos, at present vice president, has been appointed to succeed him.

THE YEAR and ezrina were welcomed with great pomp and ceremony at Krenau, on Wednesday, upon their return from Livadia. The address of greeting was delivered by the governor of Moscow.

HON. JOHN S. BARBOUR is stated, will in a few days announce an address to his constituents of the 8th congressional district of Virginia, announcing his intention to accept another election to Congress.

MR. HENRY IRVING, the distinguished actor, accompanied by Miss Ellen Terry and her eldest daughter, is to be in the city pool on Saturday, July 31, for New York, on a short tour for recreation.

JOSEPH C. GAHER, of Wilmington, has been appointed to the vacancy on the bench caused by the death of Judge Whiteley. Judge Garth is a native of Delaware, 44 years old, and a member of the Democratic national committee from that state.

REV. FRANCIS WENTWORTH, D. D., a prominent Methodist minister, died in Sandy Hill, New York, on Tuesday night, aged 75 years. In 1872 he was elected editor of the Ladies' Repository and of the books of the Western Book Concern at Cincinnati.

HENRY ROCHERON has just completed a very interesting and valuable work, "The Irish Ship," the first representation of which will take place in New York, probably during the next week. Mr. Rocheron fort means "The Irish Ship" to be the best of the Irish republicans.

WILLIAM F. HARTLEY has been confirmed by the Senate as postmaster at Philadelphia. The vote of the Senate is unknown outside of the Senate itself. It is understood, however, that Senator Cameron, who has been in favor of the prompt confirmation of appointments in Pennsylvania unless something could be shown to the contrary, was in favor of the prompt confirmation of the nomination itself, has been instructed to secure a prompt consideration of the case and the favorable action. This ends the state question by arbitration.

PRINCESS MARIE MARIE, daughter of the Count of Paris, who married Carlos, duke of Braganza, on Tuesday, wore a marvel of a dress. It was a heavy white material, the skirt made in large plaits and edged with orange blossoms. From the belt a shower of the blossoms fell to the feet. The waist is plain, with light-colored crepe and fastened in front by orange blossoms. The long mantle, four yards long, is lined with red and white crepe, with orange blossoms. The veil is of tulle d'Alencon, bordered with lace. The dress for the marriage contract is of white satin, with tulle, embroidered with fine seed pearls.

Buffalo Cigarmakers to Strike. It is reported that the cigarmakers in Buffalo will strike about June 1st. They now demand an increase of $2 per thousand for ten cent cigars and $1 per thousand for five cent cigars. The manufacturers say that the men now get $4 a thousand more than in the state. An effort will be made to settle the dispute by arbitration.

Fifty Thousand Sentences in Line. The Brooklyn Sunday school union on Wednesday celebrated its 50th anniversary by a parade of the pupils through the principal streets of the city. It is estimated that 50,000 children were in line.

A WAIF FROM THE SEA.

THE FAIR PRIZE THAT A FARBACH FISHING VESSEL CAPTURED.

Miss Journeaux Tells the Story of How She Went Out For an Evening Row and Stepped Ashore 2,300 Miles From Home - Affecting Details.

The remarkable incidents connected with a young lady's involuntary voyage across the Atlantic and its surroundings of romance have excited the attention of the two worlds.

On Sunday, April 18, 1886, at fifteen minutes past eight, p. m., after church, I left Victoria, B. C., in order to receive, it being turned the boat with the other car, and in doing so that one also slipped from his hand.

At this time the tide was running out very fast and the cars were soon swept away from the boat and I lost sight of them. Jules then jumped out of the boat and swam to the pier, telling me he was a good swimmer. In the course of a minute or so he got into the boat again, nearly turning her over in doing so.

He got in at the bow, then taking up his hat and coat, which he had thrown out to sea, he jumped into the sea again. At this time we were outside the pier heads, but I cannot say how far as I was not looking at the boat.

The boat which was a two-masted pleasure craft, was then right in the middle of the pier, and I jumped into the sea again. I could not see the car when my companion jumped into the water the second time, nor did I ever see them again.

He jumped from the boat and struck out toward the pier to get the cars. The boat being deeper in the water he considered that they must have been left some distance behind.

The boat evidently gained in speed; and in the short space of one or two minutes I had lost sight of the boat. He had been gone some five or ten minutes I heard his cry in French for help. The voice was evidently a good swimmer. After the first minute or two from his leaving the boat I never caught sight of him again, although it continued very long after I had heard his cry for help. It came two or three times and then ceased. When I heard his cry the first time I was not looking at the boat, but I heard myself, shrieking out until I became quite fatigued.

A NIGHT OF HORROR. "All that night I remained awake, expecting every minute to see the boat and to be coming in search of me. In order to guide searchers to where I was I kept on shrieking for help as well as I could at intervals all through the night, but from the time Jules jumped into the sea, which I think was about half past nine o'clock, I never saw him, and with the exception of his cries for help, heard no word of him. It was very dark, and cloudy and got rather dark, and I could still have seen any object as large as a boat on the water if it had come within a few miles of me. In the course of an hour or so after the setting of the clouds it began to rain heavily, and continued raining until about daylight.

Some time early in the morning of Monday I found the boat had so considerable a quantity of water in it that my feet were covered by it. I had been told that the boat, which was of hard felt, and this I did at intervals until I was rescued. I was in great fear that the boat would be blown away by the wind, and I was very anxious to get out of it. I was in the boat until I was rescued, and I was very anxious to get out of it.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

My Grandfather's Clock. Was once a very popular song, but like many of the sentimental times it doesn't wear well. The following is the story of the clock which was owned by my grandfather, and which was sold to me by my father.

to me or cease to thank them for it. It was on Sunday evening, I am sorry to say, that I left Jersey on Sunday afternoon I arrived in Bay St. George and on Sunday afternoon in the kind care of the Rev. Mr. Weary, a native of Jersey, and a missionary of the Church of England, at Greenpoint, on the steamer Carlew, after a run of four days from Bay St. George. To the captain and steward of the Carlew, and to the many friends met with on the way I give my best thanks for kindness to me.

On last evening at St. Mary's church, in St. John's, I had the happy opportunity of returning my thanks to Almighty God, as I had also done at Bay St. George, where I partook of the holy communion for His wonderful preservation me. My gratitude to Him was and is all the warmer from the fact that, within few hours after my rescue, the weather became very stormy, and I lost a man who slipped from the yard into the sea.

ERNEST NICOLINI. Sketch of the Life of the Man Who is to Marry Adeline Patti.

Ernest Nicolini who is to be married to Adeline Patti, the son of a hotel keeper of Dinard, Brittany. He was for a short time a pupil at the Paris Conservatoire and in 1860 gained a second "diplome" in comic opera. Shortly after he was engaged at the opera Comique, remaining until 1867 with but poor success. In that year he went to Italy and sang at Florence, Turin, etc., with fair success, returning to Paris in 1868, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1869 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1870, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1871 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1872, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1873 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1874, where he sang at the Salle Ventador.

Sketch of the Life of the Man Who is to Marry Adeline Patti. Ernest Nicolini who is to be married to Adeline Patti, the son of a hotel keeper of Dinard, Brittany. He was for a short time a pupil at the Paris Conservatoire and in 1860 gained a second "diplome" in comic opera. Shortly after he was engaged at the opera Comique, remaining until 1867 with but poor success. In that year he went to Italy and sang at Florence, Turin, etc., with fair success, returning to Paris in 1868, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1869 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1870, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1871 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1872, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1873 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1874, where he sang at the Salle Ventador.

Sketch of the Life of the Man Who is to Marry Adeline Patti. Ernest Nicolini who is to be married to Adeline Patti, the son of a hotel keeper of Dinard, Brittany. He was for a short time a pupil at the Paris Conservatoire and in 1860 gained a second "diplome" in comic opera. Shortly after he was engaged at the opera Comique, remaining until 1867 with but poor success. In that year he went to Italy and sang at Florence, Turin, etc., with fair success, returning to Paris in 1868, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1869 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1870, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1871 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1872, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1873 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1874, where he sang at the Salle Ventador.

Sketch of the Life of the Man Who is to Marry Adeline Patti. Ernest Nicolini who is to be married to Adeline Patti, the son of a hotel keeper of Dinard, Brittany. He was for a short time a pupil at the Paris Conservatoire and in 1860 gained a second "diplome" in comic opera. Shortly after he was engaged at the opera Comique, remaining until 1867 with but poor success. In that year he went to Italy and sang at Florence, Turin, etc., with fair success, returning to Paris in 1868, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1869 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1870, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1871 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1872, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1873 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1874, where he sang at the Salle Ventador.

Sketch of the Life of the Man Who is to Marry Adeline Patti. Ernest Nicolini who is to be married to Adeline Patti, the son of a hotel keeper of Dinard, Brittany. He was for a short time a pupil at the Paris Conservatoire and in 1860 gained a second "diplome" in comic opera. Shortly after he was engaged at the opera Comique, remaining until 1867 with but poor success. In that year he went to Italy and sang at Florence, Turin, etc., with fair success, returning to Paris in 1868, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1869 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1870, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1871 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1872, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1873 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1874, where he sang at the Salle Ventador.

Sketch of the Life of the Man Who is to Marry Adeline Patti. Ernest Nicolini who is to be married to Adeline Patti, the son of a hotel keeper of Dinard, Brittany. He was for a short time a pupil at the Paris Conservatoire and in 1860 gained a second "diplome" in comic opera. Shortly after he was engaged at the opera Comique, remaining until 1867 with but poor success. In that year he went to Italy and sang at Florence, Turin, etc., with fair success, returning to Paris in 1868, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1869 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1870, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1871 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1872, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1873 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1874, where he sang at the Salle Ventador.

Sketch of the Life of the Man Who is to Marry Adeline Patti. Ernest Nicolini who is to be married to Adeline Patti, the son of a hotel keeper of Dinard, Brittany. He was for a short time a pupil at the Paris Conservatoire and in 1860 gained a second "diplome" in comic opera. Shortly after he was engaged at the opera Comique, remaining until 1867 with but poor success. In that year he went to Italy and sang at Florence, Turin, etc., with fair success, returning to Paris in 1868, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1869 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1870, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1871 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1872, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1873 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1874, where he sang at the Salle Ventador.

Sketch of the Life of the Man Who is to Marry Adeline Patti. Ernest Nicolini who is to be married to Adeline Patti, the son of a hotel keeper of Dinard, Brittany. He was for a short time a pupil at the Paris Conservatoire and in 1860 gained a second "diplome" in comic opera. Shortly after he was engaged at the opera Comique, remaining until 1867 with but poor success. In that year he went to Italy and sang at Florence, Turin, etc., with fair success, returning to Paris in 1868, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1869 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1870, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1871 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1872, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1873 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1874, where he sang at the Salle Ventador.

Sketch of the Life of the Man Who is to Marry Adeline Patti. Ernest Nicolini who is to be married to Adeline Patti, the son of a hotel keeper of Dinard, Brittany. He was for a short time a pupil at the Paris Conservatoire and in 1860 gained a second "diplome" in comic opera. Shortly after he was engaged at the opera Comique, remaining until 1867 with but poor success. In that year he went to Italy and sang at Florence, Turin, etc., with fair success, returning to Paris in 1868, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1869 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1870, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1871 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1872, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1873 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1874, where he sang at the Salle Ventador.

Sketch of the Life of the Man Who is to Marry Adeline Patti. Ernest Nicolini who is to be married to Adeline Patti, the son of a hotel keeper of Dinard, Brittany. He was for a short time a pupil at the Paris Conservatoire and in 1860 gained a second "diplome" in comic opera. Shortly after he was engaged at the opera Comique, remaining until 1867 with but poor success. In that year he went to Italy and sang at Florence, Turin, etc., with fair success, returning to Paris in 1868, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1869 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1870, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1871 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1872, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1873 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1874, where he sang at the Salle Ventador.

Sketch of the Life of the Man Who is to Marry Adeline Patti. Ernest Nicolini who is to be married to Adeline Patti, the son of a hotel keeper of Dinard, Brittany. He was for a short time a pupil at the Paris Conservatoire and in 1860 gained a second "diplome" in comic opera. Shortly after he was engaged at the opera Comique, remaining until 1867 with but poor success. In that year he went to Italy and sang at Florence, Turin, etc., with fair success, returning to Paris in 1868, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1869 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1870, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1871 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1872, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1873 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1874, where he sang at the Salle Ventador.

Sketch of the Life of the Man Who is to Marry Adeline Patti. Ernest Nicolini who is to be married to Adeline Patti, the son of a hotel keeper of Dinard, Brittany. He was for a short time a pupil at the Paris Conservatoire and in 1860 gained a second "diplome" in comic opera. Shortly after he was engaged at the opera Comique, remaining until 1867 with but poor success. In that year he went to Italy and sang at Florence, Turin, etc., with fair success, returning to Paris in 1868, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1869 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1870, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1871 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1872, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1873 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1874, where he sang at the Salle Ventador.

Sketch of the Life of the Man Who is to Marry Adeline Patti. Ernest Nicolini who is to be married to Adeline Patti, the son of a hotel keeper of Dinard, Brittany. He was for a short time a pupil at the Paris Conservatoire and in 1860 gained a second "diplome" in comic opera. Shortly after he was engaged at the opera Comique, remaining until 1867 with but poor success. In that year he went to Italy and sang at Florence, Turin, etc., with fair success, returning to Paris in 1868, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1869 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1870, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1871 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1872, where he sang at the Salle Ventador. In 1873 he visited England and sang at Liverpool's concert at St. James Hall, and at Covent Garden, London, returning to Paris in 1874, where he sang at the Salle Ventador.

Sketch of the Life of the Man Who is to Marry Adeline Patti. Ernest Nicolini who is to be married to Adeline Patti, the son of a hotel keeper of Dinard, Brittany. He was for a short time