es of the York Haven Paper Mil Work Imbibe Too Freely, and by Roll Off the Casal to Ireath. Who the Unfortunate Were,

On finituring the INTELLIGENCER stated but the bodies of two men had been found at the canal at Collins station. Since that more has been I learned concerning the finit. On Esturday morning, Demas Delber, the locktender at Collins, found the dead rodies of two men in the wickets of the lock. They were taken from the water and, upon examination, it was found that both men were about 35 years of age. One had a brass check with the number 318 upon it, and $18.02 in money on his person. The other had a check numbered 158, and $6.83. As soon as the checks were discovered it was believed that the men were employed at the York Haven paper mill, on the York county side of the river opposite Collins. Word was sent to the mill and the superintendent of the works notified Deputy Coroner M. W. Smith, of Concy, who had charge of the bodies, that the one with check 318 was J. Hart and his companion was M. Fogerty. Both had been paid in full for a month's work on Monday.

WERE DRINKING HEAVILY.

WERE DRINKING HEAVILY. It appears that after the men received their pay they began drinking very heavily. In the evening these two with three others, all pay they began drinking very heavily. It the evening these two with three others, all of whom were under the influence of liquor, started from Collins station to walk up the towpath. About 8 o'clock a canal boat stopped at the lock at Collins, and the driver said that he had seen five men, who were drunk, sitting near the edge of the canal about two hundred yards above the lock. At 10 o'clock another boatman reported that he seen the men a little farther up the tow path, they asked him for a knife which he did not have. Some time during the night Railroad Officers Pyle and Kennedy, brought three of the men to the Collins telegraph tower. The men were very drunk and wet and the officers said they had taken them from the canal where they found them floundering around. The next morning these three men disappeared, but it is said that one of them has been seen since the bodies were found. In reply to a question concerning the matter he said: "We had enough work to saveourselves."

A THEORY OF THE ACCIDENT.

The men had been talking on Monday of leaving York Haven and going in search of work to some other place. One of them spoke of going over to Elizabethtown. The supposition is that they laid down along the towpath to sleep, when one or perhaps more fell into the canal and the others went to their assistance. Deputy Coroner Smith impannelled a jury consisting of Jacob M. Hanlen, Benjamin Dunkel, W. H. Abel, Shaeffer Smith, George T. Wiseman and David Metzler, and an inquest was held. The jury rendered a verdict of "death from asphyxia, the bodies being found in the canal at Collins station with no marks of violence upon them." After the inquest the bodies were interred at Collins by the deputy coroner. Sunday morning a brother of Fogerty, one of the drowned men, came to Collins. The dead man was taken up and the brother identified him. It appears that Fogerty was about 35 years old and unmarried. His home was in Conshohocken, Montgomery county, but he was of a roving disposition and preferred to roam around the country rather than remain at home. Fogerty's body was taken to Conshohocken for interment this morning by his brother. No one seems to know where Hart belonged and his body yets remains at Collins. A THEORY OF THE ACCIDENT.

acob Neff, of Manor Township, Farmer, Very Suddenly Called. Jacob N. Neft, an old farmer residing at In diantown, Manor township, fell dead from heart disease in a blacksmith shop in Millers-ville, this morning about 7 o'clock. It appears that Christ au Neff, a son of the old gentleman, had made arrangements to take his family on a visit to friends in Cumberland county. They drove to Millersville in one carriage, and the old gentleman and a grandson in another, their purpose being to take the two carriages bome after Christian Neif and his family had started for Cum-berland. Mr. Jacob Neil's wagon needing some repairs he took it to the smithshop to have them made, and while there was strick en down by heart disease as above stated. His sudden death caused great consternation. His body was carried to the drug store of Dr. Reeder, near by, and efforts made to restore life but without avail. The visit to Cumberland was of course abandoned, and the whole party returned sadly to the late residence of the aged patriarch. Mr. Neff was over 70 years of age. For several years past he has been a sufferer from heart disease, and has not been able to lie down in bed, but has been obliged to sleep in a sitting posture. Otherwise his health has been tairly good. He was a farmer during the active years of his life, and accumulated a competency by tilling the soil; but long ago he relinquished the farm to his sons and lived retired. Hensel, of Quarry-ville, this county. Mr. Uhler was about 50 years of age. He was a son of the late Levi Uhler, deceased, of Manheim, and was himself native of Lebanon county. When a young man he removed with his father to Manheim and thence went to Quarryville, as an assistant in the store of his brother-inlaw, Mr. Hensel. About the opening of the war he engaged in business in Columbia with the late Gen. Thomas Welsh, and for a period they transacted a trade in groceries and canal boating supplies. The partnership was dissolved by Gen. Welsh's enlistment in the Union service, and Mr. Uhler returned to Quarryville and for three years was in partnership with Mr. Hensel in the business of general merchandise; he subsequently was engaged for several years in the same business in the village of White Horse, Salisbury township. From there he removed to the West, and with his brother and in an individual enterprise did business in Shiloh. Later he sold his interests there, bought a farm about 14 miles from Seymour, Ind., the seat of Jackson county, and has lately been operating it. He was married to Miss Caroline Harr, of Hawksville, this county, and his widow and several children survive him. Deranged By Loss of Position The following telegram from Peoria, Ill., relates to Mr. Hoke who is well known in this city and was graduated from Franktin and Marshall college in 1869. His fine residence has already been sold. The bank officers say that his accounts are all right, and no cause for his flight has yet been discovered. Hoke was until recently interested in nearly a degree mercantile and interested in nearly a dozen mercantile and manufacturing enterprises here, and in addi-tion speculated on 'change. The latter ac-tion caused the bank to dismiss him recently. He then sold most of his personal property, paid all his debts, so far as is known, amounting to about $3,000, and left. It is thought that the loss of his position in the bank has deranged his mind.

In the evening they escorted the posts to the court house and afterwards met in Centre Square. The Liberty band passed down West King street daying a lively tune and their opponents oflowed them also playing. Each organizaion tried to cut-play the other and the people in the streets soon saw what was the matter. A great crowd followed the band to Prince street, to go to a strawberry festival, and the other kept on out West King. Things were pretty lively for a time and the friends of each band claim that their favorites got the best of it.

Fell Through an Elevator Hole. Sauday afternoon while everything was uiet around the Stevens house, the attaches of the hotel down stairs were startled by cries which seemed to come from the cellar. Upon examination it was found that John Mc-teehan, the bell boy, aged about 13 years, had fallen into the hole of the elevator and was lying at the bottom. It appears that he had been trilling with the elevator when it ascended and he tumbled into the hole. When he had been rescued from his position, it was found that his left arm was broken in two places, and he was badly bruised about the body and head. Dr. McCormick attended him and he was taken to his home.

Close of Ida Lewis' Engagement. On Saturday night the Ida Lewis dramatic company closed their engagement at the opera house and the audience was by far the argest of the week. This has been the case with every cheap show that has appeared in Lancaster this winter, and the big business has always been reserved for the last performance. The house on Saturday night was packed in every part. The play was that very old and very poor piece entitled "Ten Nights in a Bar-room," and the company made the best they were able out of it. Apparently the audience was pleased.

Samuel M. Hershey's Disappearance Nothing has been learned of Samuel M. Hershey, of Bird-in-Hand, who mysteriousy disappeared on Saturday the 22d of May. Inquiry had been made at every place where he would likely have gone, but he had not been at any of those places. To-day his wife issued execution against him for $15,000, and the sheriff will levy on his real estate. The only other judgment against him is for $1,000, and his property is ample to pay both these obligations. Mrs. Hershey cannot give any reason for his disappearance.
