LANCASTER. JUNE 21. 188

The Business Prospects. There is a general feeling of contidence ong business men that we are on the eve of more prosperous times. The fact is not shown as yet in an advance of prices utside the stock market, where speculative discounting of the future has set arply in. The prospect of a better business for the railroads is based upon the expectation of good crops, which may be moved at low prices. And of an increase in manufacture made necessary by the unnatural compression laid upon industry for some years past. The country has been practising severe economy. Nothing has been bought that has not been hadly need ad : there has been little expansion of business or extension of business facil-ities. The reward of such enterterprise was too doubtful. When this year opened there was every prospect that period of business depression had come to an end, and this confidence caused an activity that would undoubtedly have brought good fruit but for the sudden outbreak of the labor troubles. These seem now to have been composed, and confidence is established that for awhile at least the cost of manufacture can be estimated and its stability be relied upon. The renewal of business activity, when it is postponed beyond the spring, does not usually take place until the autumn ; the month of August giving the first note of the coming boom. This year, as the expectation is so lively, and the repression has been so violent, we have reason to believe that even before August we will have sound assurance of better business. There probably will be no great increase of prices, but a wholesome growth of business at a moderate advance. It will be much better for the business of the country if the profit of capital is kept steadily down to a fair figure and is prevented from mounting to those heights which it reaches for a little while in the excitement of booms, with the certain consequence that an increase of imports and an extension of home facilities will soon make the supply outrun the demand and

THE people of East St. Louis have made a It is to Your Interest To bear in mind that one Benson's Capelu pitiful appeal to the governor for the aid of Plaster is worth a dozen of any other porous the state militia to suppress the lawlessness plaster. Benson's plaster are a genuine midic nal article, endorsed and used by the medical profession from Maine to California. They cure that has made the lives of orderly citizens misesable. There is a tair amount of common sense in the governor's reply that a city of 10,000 inhabitants should be able to mainin a few hours ailments which no others wi in a few hours aliments which no others will even relieve. Cheap and worthless imitations are sold by dealers who care more for large profits on trash than they do for the sweets of an approving conscience. Beware of them, and of the "Capacita," "Capacita," "Capacitae" and "Capacitan" plasters which they sell to the unwary. These names are nothing but mislead-ing variations on the name "Capacitae." Note the difference, go to reputable druggists and you will not be decrived. The genuine Henson's has the "Three Seals" trademark and the word "Capacitae" cut in the centre. replace activity again with st gnation.

Too Late ! Too Late !

It is a significant fact that the sagarious Republicans of the state are viewing with alarm the prospects of party success this fall. Much as they attempt to belittle the defection of Mr. Wolfe into the Prohibition ranks, that act is regarded with grave concern ; for it is admitted that a very considerable body of independent Republicans, whose nostrils have been offended by the vindication of Cameron and Quay will follow where Wolfe's banner leads. An effort is being made to have the Prohibitionists draw the Republican chestnuts out of the fire, as is seen in an interview in the Pittsburg Dispatch with Senator Lee, as sound a Republican as the state

The senator says that the Republican platform "should unequivocally declare in favor of submitting to the voters as a nonpartisan question at a special election held for the purpose, an amendment to the constitution of the state, prohibiting the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquors as a beverage." This eleventh hour conversion of a prominent Republican to Prohibition views will strike the water-drinker as decidedly queer, if not quite ludicrous. It is too apparent that they are to be used as a cat's paw, and they will at once recognize the propriety of fearing the gift-bearing Greeks.

Another portion of this same interview shows how Republicans are recognizing the fatal error they made when Magee and Cooper were permitted to throw out the plank in the last Republican platform declaring in favor of the enforcement of the constitution in the matter of corporation legislation. Senator Lee says : " The constitution of the state, adopted by an overwhelming majority of votes, enjoins legislation enforcing certain constitutional provisions. The passage of such legislation should be demanded by the platform, in language so clear and earnest that a failure to fairly support such legislation would be regarded as a lack of party fealty. The feeling upon this question is not confined to the line of the proposed South Pennsylvania railroad from Pittsburg to Harrisburg, but exists in all parts of the state "

Too late! Too late! The Democracy occupy the ground on which the Republicans desire to rest, and they took it at a time when great courage was required for its firm maintenance. They will not give it up now, for the people plainly look to them for its defense. The Democracy can already feel upon its throbbing temples the cool advance breezes of coming victory.

Lancaster's Aid to Ireland.

Perhaps no other city of like size in the country has done so well for the Irish ement as Lancaster, with the German at largely predominating in its popution. This is not an Irish town, and the s that deck the fronts of the big busihouses have but rarely a Celtic sound. It is for this reason that the local branch of he Irish National League of America has ast cause for congratulation upon the sucis a tribute to the liberal citizen-bilities, for a late frost while the grain (late) is in bloom may lower the yield. Most of the crop is, however, out of the way of ordinary late frosts. Corn-We seldom have a year in which the condition of this crop varies so much in different portions of the state. Not only is this variation great in adjoining counties, but also upon adjoining farms. That which was planted in the eastern part of the state carly enough to get fairly up before the wet weather set in is in fair condition, but such fields as were planted just before the pro-longed wet spell set in are looking badly, and will, at best, yield but a partial crop. A GREAT DISCOVERY. The greatest discovery of the ninetcenth cen-tury is Dr. Leslie's Special Prescription for sick headache, which is the discovery of an eminent physician and used by him for over thirty years before giving it to the public, and it stands to-day without a rival.
