LANCASTER, JULY 9, 1886.

Batoum and Russia.

The famous treaty of Berlin has been violated many times, but never in such a manner as to offend any of the great powers. The frontier guaranteed to Greece thereby was never actually secured for her and in her dealings with the smaller owers Turkey has totally disregarded it. But now Russia makes a hole in that part of the document that relates more particularly to the interests of the greater powers by calmly announcing that the port of Batoum, on the eastern coast of the Black sea, shall no longer be a free port, notwithstanding the express declaration of the treaty that it should always be free. This port is strongly fortified and is a point of considerable strategic importance, being connected by rail and water with all parts of Russia and by a railroad to the shores of the Caspian, making it the back door to

The straightest possible route from England to Afghanistan would be by the Mediterranean, the Bosphorus, the Black sea to Batoum, thence is the Caspian by rail, across the Caspian to Astrabad and thence to Herat, and an alliance of two of the great wers with Turkey might accompaish this with an English ironclad et roling the Black sea and Batoum as a base of supplies.

It looks as though the struggle, when it does come, would be fought on that line with Northern India as the prize of the victor, and in placing her hand firmly on the key to the situation Russia is only acting with the prudence and forethought that the situation demands. Although the powers will make a grand commotion over this contemptuous disregard of their treaty rights. Russia will stick to her declared purpose. and it is hardly probable that it will be made a cause for war. In choosing just this time for her move in the diplomatic game, Russia has shown her old unerring judgment, as the English, who are the most vitally affected by it, are so deeply engrossed with their political struggle at home as to care little for anything that may happen so far away; and Germany, the power that is lely feared by all b tions, is not directly menaced by the action and is too deeply absorbed in watching France, her natural enemy, to pay close attention to the Eastern situation

The Republicans and Prohibition.

Judge Rhone, of Wilkesbarre, is credited with the sentiment that if the Democratic party is wise it will follow in the wake of the Republicans, and at the coming state convention insert a plank in the platform submitting the temperance question to a vote of the people. It will be a sorry day for the Democratic party when it is so barren of ideas that it will need to borrow its policy from the Republicans. It will be time for its obituary then. But it is written in the stars that the Democratic party will never die. because it is founded on the true principles of government. If, therefore, it is not doomed to death, it will live in perennial vigor, and that vigor will always be sufficient to enable it to cut out a path way of its own and not follow that dictated by its natural political opponents.

The truth of the Republican stand on Prohibition at the recent convention, is known of all men with a few grains of common sense. The Republicans, in recommending the submission to the people of a constitutional amendment prohibiting the liquor traffic, simply conceded to the Prohibitionists a right which they knew they already possessed. It was thought to be a clever mode of carrying water on both shoulders; but it was so transparent as to prove a boomerang to its wily projectors. The Republican party has fallen upon evil days when it must go into an important state campaign with a most transparent but very heavy millstone tied around its neck.

A False Prophet.

A caldron of boiling oil awaits the unfortunate prophet who has been prating of a cool wave that took its rise in the neigh borhood of Manitoba, and which was to bowl gently along eastward and make the mercury in the thermometers cower in the bottoms of their respective tubes before its might. A mocking echo only answers the query as to the whereabouts of this cool wave, and he who had staked his all on the truthfulness of the prediction, is now deeply meditating how true it is that hope deferred maketh the heart sick. But while everything abroad is scorching under the sun, it behooves the sensible citizen to keep cool. It may be easier to rive this advice than to follow it, but that not to the question. Let every one keep cool, even if warm work is required to bring about this happy consummation. Above all things, avoid thermometers. To a man desirous of keeping cool, they are dly traps. Let them be avoided as mad deadly traps. Let them be avoided as mad dogs are in August. For the heat in man always makes an effort to keep even with the height in the thermometer.

Hopeful Irish Prospects.

The more the English political situation idered, the better look the prospects or some measures of justice for Ireland. gh the Gladstone-Parnellite members will be in a clear minority in the next Parimment, they will not be required to face a solid anti-home rule opposition. That opposition will be made up of Liberal Unionists and Tories, and their coalition cannot be anything else than a rope

It is not correct to say that the friends of Ireland are exclusively those in alliance with Gladstone and Parnell. The more advanced of the Conservatives and the Hartington Liberals are pretty well agreed that Ireland has not been well treated. but they differ as to the means whereby redress may be effected.

It is therefore most unlikely that the extreme anti-Irish people will be allowed to rule the anti-Gladstone coalition. If it is permitted, the end of the coalition chapter will have been reached. The present election will clear the decks for the autumn engagement, and through present chaos justice for Ireland will emerge clothed with perennial youth.

PHILADELPHIA councils should not best tate to advance the salaries of the Quaker City teachers the 25 per cent, desired. These salaries are far below those in cities much smaller, and good talent must have good pay.

How generous man becomes when spend ing money not his own! Here is Senator Sewell introducing a bill directing the secretary of war to have published additional vol umes of "The War of the Rebellion" sufficient to supply all posts of the Grand Army of the Republic not now receiving them and to distribute as they are published from time to time one set to each post. It is a mournful sight to see a senator using his official position to mend his shattered political fences.

SATURDAY'S ISSUE OF the INTELLIGENCER will maintain that high standard of excellence which the readers of this journal have come to expect as an important feature of their Saturday night and Sunday literary entertainment. There will be presented, with portrait, a racy sketch of one of Lancaster's solid business men, a representative of the thrifty German immigrants who have done so much for this city and county. An inter. esting article on swimming will make good reading to this sweltering weather. "Sindbad" will discuss the need of a new cemetery and other more cheerful topics. In the vacation papers will be found a fine review of the industrial problem from an ethical standpoint. "Uncas" talks charmingly of a new book. For light reading a thrilling English tale is given, and these, in addition to the many regular features of the decisions sue will make it a paper that Lancastrians

Permaps it Congressmen had it to do over again, they would work hard in cool weather and ojourn over this torrid season.

---Nor many years ago the government of India offered a prize of $25,000 for a machine that would successfully prepare the fiber of the ramie plant. It is exceedingly difficult and expensive to work the plant in its dried state. as 25 tons, or a full year's growth of one acre will at best yield but one ton of the prepared fiber in a workable state, and by the dried process there is a loss of 20 to 25 per cent, of this which adheres so firmly to the inside woody pith that it cannot be recovered. And by the process now in use the fibre is so discolored as to seriously impair its commercial value. Dr. R. H. Colyer, of New Orleans, has suc ceeded in inventing a machine that answers all the requirements and has won the prize, but this is but the first drop of a heavy shower of good fortune that will come to Dr. Colyer and to the people of the Southern states through this invention; for the cultivation of the ramie plant will before many years add largely to the agricultural wealth of that region, and the manufacture of material from its fiber will add greatly to our industrial prosperity. The ramie, or China grass, it is a succulent plant the product of marshy lands, allied to jute, consisting of the cortex containing the fiber protected by an outer flesh-color covering, and the inverpithy core. It yields three full crops of eight tons each to the acre per year under favorable circumstances. It is a native of India, but can be readly cuitivated in the southern states when the means of working the fiber are once provided.

Mr. Kirk, of Pittsburg, who built the suessful machine for the inventor, and is interested in it, says there are but 25 acres of this plant now cultivated in the United States but that his machine will make many acres o waste low land capable of a $300 annual yield. His plan is to erect shops and manufacture his machine in Pittsburg, and thus his suc cess will be tributary to the welfare and pros perity of his own home city.

POSTMASTER HARRITY, of Philadelphia, has demonstrated that he is a good man. All but three of the Republicans in Philadelphia not subject to civit service regulations have taken up their beds and walked.

Some idea of the magnitude of the opera tions at the Philadelphia mint and the ex treme accuracy needed may be obtained from the statement that the total amount of funds carried in all the vaults of the superintendent and called for in the balance sheet of the cashier was $34,567,697.31, distributed as follows; Gold coin, $6,523,357.50; standard sitver dollars in postoffice vaults, $16,450,000 standard silver dollars in mint vaults, $11, 524,020 ; fractional silver, $19,643 23 ; currency $46,836.71; minor coins, $3,839.87; total, $34, 567,697,31. This enormous sum, verified both by count and weight, was found to be correct to the one cent, and in perfect accordance with the accounts and statements of the book keepers and cashier. Superintendent Fox is undoubtedly the right man in the right

SEVENTY-FIVE Republican editors of Ohio are burning with eagerness to have the Sen ate investigate the Payne bribery charges. This is as natural as that ducks swim.

A LEADVILLE man was struck by light ning and, though the shock passed directly through him from his left cheek to his right foot, he is reported to be in a fair way of recovery. Glass, one of the hardest substances known, is a non-conductor; the cheek of the Leadville man comes next, and the force of the electricity discharged was probably so dispersed on striking it that only a small portion went through him. It requires considerable effrontery to survive the caress of a thunderbolt.

MR. E. O. GRAVES, chief of the bureau of engraving and printing, recently put in a demand for $450, in addition to the $500 already appropriated for engraving and printing a steel portrait of the late Vice President Hendricks to accommany the volume of eulogies authorized by Congress. Mr. Rea-gan, of Texas, opposed the additional grant to Mr. Graves' bureau, stating that such au engraving if ordered by private parties, instead of by the government of the United States, would cost not more than $100 or $125. Nevertheless, the $100 asked for by Mr. Graves was voted him for this work.

Underground Wires in New York.

From the Baltimore Sun Since Mr. Roswell P. Flower has become a member of the electrical sub-way commission of New York city, and the announcement of his purpose to carry out as speedily as possible the law requiring all telegraph and telephone wires to be put under ground, it would seem as if the commission, that had been sleeping over the matter for the past two years and each member of it drawing salary of five thousand dollars a year, had at last decided upon the system to be adopted. After taking into consideration the difficulties of the various plans submitted to the commission, it suggests "a conduit of asphait as being cheaper, freer from moleture, con-traction and expansion, more durable, and the best of any as a non-conductor of heat and electricity." The commission propose that this sub-way "shall be built at the pub-lic expense, and the companies using it shall make return by the payment of tolls. objection already raised to the plan is that it is a combination of many plans, all of them atented, apparently, thus opening the way to itigation, while the letting out of the work to a construction company might easily lead to jobbery." The Western Union company, it is said, is already beginning to raise this cry. It has been evident all along that no company wants to put its wires under ground either at its own expense or by concert with other companies, nor do the com-panies want to pay tells for the use of a subway built by others. Imperative as the law is, they have tought it off up to the present time, and as long as they can delay the action of the commission they will continue to do so. On one thing only the commission has taken positive grounds. It has prohibited the erection of any new poles in New York city, and when recently some were raised it ordered them to be cut down. It is quite possible that a continuous system of under ground wires could not, with our present experience, be carried out. But it does not collow that it is impracticable to relieve our principal thoroughfares of their network of wires, relegating some of the aerial wires with their unsightly poles to the back streets. This has been done to a considerable extent n Washington and in Chicago, and there eems to be no reason why, to this extent at east, the evil should not be remedied. Even n New York the Edison electric light wires are put under ground, and, so far as we know are working successionly. It would be an imputation of the genius of American inAcoustic to say that they would be unable to cure the defects that the telegraph companies allege are common to all the plans that have been so far overcome alread that here any haz been so far overome abroad that Germany has fifteen thousand miles of underground wire in operation and France over seven thousand miles. In both these countries the cables used are similar in construction to the sub-marine cables, and are laid in deep trenches im-bedded in a bituminous layer of condensed coal tar. But the conduit system, as adopted in Chicago and suggested with medifications by the electric sub-way commission in New York, is said to be an improvement over the erman and French methods. It should be remembered also that it is only in the larger cities that the putting of these wires under ground has become a necessity, and that outside of them the stringing of wires on poles is not regarded as in any way object

Kallroad Steepers Which Are Light, Elastic and Will Not Rot.

From the New York Tribune. "That is a railroad tie." It was of the regular size and polished as smoothly as a piece of Italian marble. The grain was so fine and the whole appearance was so artistic that it might easily have been taken for a chip from a pillar of a Grecian temple instead of such a practical thing as a railroad tie. The speaker was a short, stout, sadfaced man with a large head and overhing ing brows, and was the inventor of this esthetic sleeper, and in his little office in Fulton street there were many models of cars and railroad tracks scattered about "This," said he, as he patted the railroad tie lovingly, "is the result of years of labor and I believe now that it is perfect. It is made of paper, which I believe is to enter to a large extent in all building operations at no distant day. The great enemy to the use of paper for many things is moisture, and in ny invention, of course, a means had to be discovered to prevent dampness from having the slightest effect, as a railroad tie, being in the ground, is subjected constantly to it, and a rotten tie might cause the loss of many lives and much property. The process of manufacture is secret to a certain extent, but the tie is absolutely fire and water proof. There: I will throw a piece of the prepared paper into the fire. You see it will not burn. I have submerged it for weeks and months in both hot and cold water and the moisture has never been found inside the surface Consequently it cannot rot. Though ap-parently as hard as iron, an ordinary spike can be driven into it without difficulty, and when the spike is in position the materia is of such a nature that it closes around the iron and holds it so firmly that it can never be shaken loose.

There is also a certain amount of spring in the tie, and when there is a lead on it is operates as a soft cushion and takes away a ertain amount of jar from running cars. Inder conditions, by slightly altering the Under conditions, by slightly altering the combination of materials the paper can be made so hard that it will turn the edge of the hardest tool without being more than scratched. The ordinary wooden tie will last about five years under the most favorable conditions, while the paper tie will stand any kind of weather for at least thirty

The paper used is generally made of straw, though almost any kind of fibre will do as well. Straw is preferred because it can be easily obtained and the supply is unlimited. There are mills in the West where the straw is made up into boards.

American Newspapers. From the Scientific American. The wonderful growth of American newspapers is shown by a comparison between the directories published in 1776 and in the present year. The one contains in its sixteen small pages a list of 37 newspapers which were published in this country one hundred and ten years ago. The other is almost as large as an unabridged dictionary, and in its two thousand pages contains the names of 14,160 newspapers and periodicals of all classes. Of this large list only seven were found in the directory of 1776. The net gain of the year has been 666. The daily newspapers number 1,216, a gain of 33. There are about 1,200 periodicals of all kinds, which presumably enjoy a circulation of more than 5,000 copies. The increase in the rural week-ly press, comprising about two-thirds of the whole list, has been most marked in states like Kansas and Nebraska. Kansas is also accredited with the greatest gain in daily newspapers. In Massachusetts the weekly press is growing but magazines and monthly publications are losing ground. The trapublications are losing ground. The tend-ency of this latter class seems to be toward New York city, as at least 21 monthly peri dicals have been established here during odicals have been established here during the year. Among the many newspapers puthished in this country, almost every social movement and industrial finds expression. A glance at the long list reveals many curious facts. There are about 700 religious and denominational newspapers, nearly one-third of which are published in New York, Philadelphis, Boston and Chicago. New York is far ahead in this respect cago. New York is far ahead in this respect, while it will be a surprise to many to know that Boston is behind Chicago. Three newspapers are devoted to the slikworm; six to the honey bee; thirty-two to poultry; eighteen to dentistry, and nine to phonography. There are three publications issued in the exclusive interest of postage stamp collectors, and one of dancers. The Prohibitionists have 129 papers, and the liquor dealers eight. The organs of womea's suffrage number 7, of candy makers 3, of gastronomy 3 and gas 2. Of the foreign newspapers, there are shout 600 in German and 42 in French. New York, New Orleans and Worcester, Mass, each has four French publications. Two dailies are in Bohemian. Besides these, there are papers in the Swedish, Finnish, Polish and Weish languages. There is one publication in Gaelic, one in Hebrew, one in Chinese and one in the Cherokee language. New York is far ahead in this respect, cago.
