DISAPIDATED BRANG BAND AN CRIES OF MAD DOG.

Affices and Entertains Columbia Abou his Time of the Year-A Sad Decadence of a Great Musical Organization-The Cry of " Mad Dog " and Its Answer.

Regular Correspondent to the INTELLIGENCER. COLUMBIA, July 21.—No, the Columbia band has not yet gone where the wood-bine twineth; but it is rapidly approaching that point. Its debt is heavy, too great a load for the present members to carry, and soon will the sheriff have a sale on his hands. The personal affects of the once famous organization consist of a full set of instruments and uniforms. At auction they would bring more than enough to pay off all indebtedness; but that is not the idea. Some members will come out of the big end of the horn, while others—well—they'll get "left." It is a big game of "grab," every man for himself, and the member with the best chance will get the best of the grab. And this is the present the member with the best chance will get the best of the grab. And this is the present position of the Columbia band.

The cry of "mad dog!" has aiready been sounded; not in Columbia as yet, however. But there is no telling when we may hear it. "Dog days" are near at hand, and Columbia should be prepared to meet them. This can be done in but one way; enforce the dog ordinance. There is one in existence, we believe, and if rigidly enforced would soon rid us of some of the obnoxious curs that infest our streets. This matter demands immediate attention.

BIG DAY AT PENRYN The Odd Fellows Picuic Assembles One of the Biggest Crowds of the Season. One of the largest picnics of the season was held at Penryn yesterday under the auspices of the Degree Staff association of Monterey Lodge, No. 242, L. O. O. F. There were about 1,500 people present, and the manage-ment, who had secured Taylor's orchestra to furnish the dancing music, were so pleased with the success of the party that at noon they telegraphed to Lancaster for the Liberty cornet band to come out and assist, which they did, and gave concerts during the afterthey did, and gave concerts during the after-noon. The principal amusements were dancing, boating, ball playing and other games. Dancing was kept up until 9 o'clock in the evening, and the woods was well illuminated. It required two trains to bring the excursionists back to this city, and the last train came in about ten o'clock.

Some of the excursionists went to Lebanon, where they a good time. A faw of them, who had drank two much, became disorderly on the cars on their return. John E. Connelly, of St. Joseph street, this city, pulled the bell-cord and otherwise annoyed the train officers; he was arrested by l'ark Officer Gorrecht and confined in the park lockup. A friend of the prisoner who gave his name as Henry Buchner, of Manor street, this city, liberated Connelly. Both men were subsequently arrested together with a triend Caddy Rogers and handed over to Officer Hoffman, of the coal and iron police, who took them to Lebanon for a hearing. On the way up the men became very penitent, ne of the excursionists went to Lebathe way up the men became very penitent, and were released on promising never again to "monkey" with the bell-cord. G. J. Martz, the meteorologist of Lebanon, writes the Philadelphia North American, under date of July 20th: "The prevailing weather will be fair and warm, with rising temperature towards the end of the present week. Rain or cloudy weather will prevail on or near the 21st, 25th and 28th, followed by westerly winds and cooler weather. Be-tween the 23d and 25th, a storm, accompanied by hail in some sections, and followed by de-cidedly cooler weather, will pass over the northern part of the United States and lower Canada. Surest Tranquilizer of the Nerves. The surest tranquilizer of the nerves is medicine which remedies their supersensitive ness by invigorating them. Over-tension of the nerves always weakens them. What they need, then, is a tonic, not a sedative. The latter is only useful when there is intense mental excitement and an immediate necessity exists for producing quietude of the brain Hostetter's Stomach Bitters restores transquility of the nerves by endowing them with th vigor requisite to bear, without being jarred or disturbed unhealthfully, the ordinary im-pressions, produced through the media of sight, hearing and reflection. Nay, it does ore than this-it enables them to sustain degree of tension from mental application which they would be totally unable to endure without its assistance. Such, at least, is the irresistible conclusion to be drawn from the estimony of business and professional men litterateurs, clergymen, and others who have tested the fortifying and reparative influence of this celebrated tonic and nervine.
