

EMPLOYES AND LIES.

"Something more than the gratitude which only says 'thank you,'" she added. "Before I explain myself, I want to know in plain English how it is that you have not inquired further to trace you after that terrible night?"

the first floor, he found a maid at the door of the boudoir, waiting to announce him. Mrs. Callender advanced to welcome her guest, in simple evening dress. Even if you met with the happy woman in my lifetime, honestly told me of it, and I promise to tell her that she is not a woman to be despised."

ful old woman for many years. You are young enough to look forward to another marriage, which should be a profitable one to you. Even if you met with the happy woman in my lifetime, honestly told me of it, and I promise to tell her that she is not a woman to be despised."

chamment he was already so complete that he was even disagreeably affected by the same. It was a woman, as a rule, to him as the exhibition of unstrained and temper which seemed perfectly careless to conceal."

WAKING MINDS PRINCIPLES. A Medical Authority Who Deplores the Partial Insanity of Rulers. Dr. Ball, the Paris correspondent of London Truth, has been investigating lunatics of royal blood, having under his care the recent Bavarian tragedy. He cites many instances of insanity among those royal figures that are most prominent in history, and concludes that while a king, but partially insane is a curse to a country, one who is an evident and helpless lunatic is a blessing.

VACATION PAPERS. A CONSIDERATION OF THE PROPER OBJECTS OF PURSUIT IN LIFE. Mere worldly good is not the loftiest aspiration. Nor the highest achievement. What ought to be taught the young for their Real Good. For the LITERATURE. There are some who maintain that the first object of pursuit in life is worldly good, that young people should be taught and trained primarily with a view to making a good living, and to acquire enough of this worldly good to make them comfortable and independent. Others argue that if a certain quantity of this worldly good is desirable and profitable, the more gains of it the better, and therefore worldly wealth is the highest good for man. The desire for wealth is undoubtedly the prevailing passion of the age. It lies on the foundation of the larger portion of the private and public dishonesty and political corruption that have become so shamefully prevalent among us.
