COLUMBIA, July 27. COLUMNIA, July 27.

The suit against Benj. S. Fry, of Manor ownship, for cruel treatment to his cattle, the suit of the cattle, the suit of the cattle, employed on the farm, adjoining Fry's, was heard by the Kvans yesterday afternoon. Officer with the suit of the cattle, Bachman Herr, and Mann, John Deshler and Benj. Miller or witnesses, and testified to the truthfulsis of the charge. It appears that Fry owns one cattle than he can, or does, properly ore cattle than he can, or does, properly re for, and this fact becoming known to his sighbors they protested, fearing the spread pleuro-pneumonia. Although a farmer, ir. Fry neither cultivates hay nor feeds it to his cattle, and this, it is alleged, gave rise to the report that they were improperly fed. It appeared from the evidence that Mr. Fry a guilty of the charges preferred against a, but upon his paying all costs and promag to be more attentive in the future the e was dismissed.

A Violent Storm.

The storm of yesterday was certainly a very heavy one; but Columbia, as usual, esvery heavy one; but Columbia, as usual, escaped luckilly. Several trees were divested of their branches, and a half dozen cellars were nearly filled with water. The telephone box at the Keeley stove works was knocked out of time by a stroke of lightning. In the country the effects of the storm were more severely felt. Grain field were flooded and a stroke of lightning shattered the gable end of the home of Samuel Way, at Norwood, and stunned Mr. and Mrs. Way, who were sitting in their summer kitchen, a half dozen yards from the bouse proper.

Found at "The Sand Hole."

The body of a man was found lying near

The body of a man was found lying near the "sand hole" last evening. At first it was believed that life was extinct, but closer intion proved otherwise. He was removed to a house near by, and a physician summoned. A deep gash was found in the back of his head. Upon returning to consciousness, and when sole to speak, he told the following: His name was John Seaman, home, Pittsburg, occupation, a tramp muddler. Pittsburg, occupation, a tramp puddler. He was walking towards Columbia when suddenly a pain shot through his head and he denly a pain shot through his head and he knew no more. Two theories are advanced as to the manner in which he was injured. One, that he was struck by a stone; another, that the limb of a tree, found near where he was discovered, was torn from a tree and in falling struck him. Seaman was so far recovered this morning that he walked to Columbia, and at present writing he is here searching for work.

News of General Interest. Prince, a small dog owned by Lewis W. May, has evidently a large amount of "dog sense." Yesterday afternoon while walking with the writer along the river shore, he suddenly plunged into the water and remained there until every flee on him had either been drowned or forced by the water to leave his Foreman Andrew Rotz is credited with keeping the east and west yards at Columbia in as good condition as any toreman in the employ of the P. R. R. company.

P. R. R. freight engine No. 968 was detailed at Filbert's coal yards, yesterday afternoon, by a "chair," used to splice rails, breaking and throwing the rails out of posisition.

Yesterday was a busy day for the dis-patchers at the west yard, 73 trains having a total of 2,321 cars, were made up and sent eastward, and 16 trains, with a total of 1,300 cars, westward. The eastward movement is the heaviest order made at Columbia. A score of Columbians attended the open-

SOME REMARKABLE JEWELS. Curios in Gold and Precious Stones Secured

There are on exhibition at H. Z. Rhoads' jewelry store, where they will remain until o-morrow evening, some rich jewels alike remarkable for their exquisite workman-ship, their value and for the historical and personal associations attaching to them. They were the property of the late Cardinal Nina, prime minister to Pope Leo XIII, and were bought by Dr. Nevin at the sale of his personal effects. Two of them are magniticent rings, solitaire emeralds of unusual size, heavily set with diamonds; another is an exquisite sapphire set with diamonds; all three of the rings are of rare workmanship and are fitted to open and soljust to the ringer like a bracelet, without slipping over the knuckles. A rich sgate intaglio, the ring of a mitred abbot, has a head of Christ, the impression of which on sealing wax shows it to be a very artistic cutting. Two silver handled knives and a fork of fifteenth century pattern and workmanship, having blades and tines of the finest hand-wrought seel, are fine specimens of art work; and the whole collection is well worth seeing. Nina, prime minister to Pope Leo XIII, and worth seeing. Rev. Dr. Nevin, who has been visiting his Rev. Dr. Nevin, who has been visiting his relations here and in Pittsburg for some time, will leave for New York on Thursday. His Episcopal church in Rome is in a flour-jishing condition, and the owner of property valued at half a million of dollars. During the past fifteen years there has been increase in the value of real estate in the Eternal City. The property upon which St. Faul's church is built was purchased by Dr. Nevin in 1870, for $20,000, and would readily sell at the present time for $200,000.

EXTINCTION OF PLRURO-PURNMONIA A Whole Herd of Cuttle Killed by State Veteri nary Surgeon Bridge at Turkey Hill. Dr. Bridge, state veterinary surgeon, o Philadelphia, and Secretary Edge, of the state board of agriculture, visited Turkey Hill, Manor township, Monday, and killed the en-tire herd of Mr. Jacob Lindeman's cattle, eleven in number. At a former visit the same officers had killed five of Mr. Lindeman's cattle, making sixteen in all that were suffering from the pestilence of pleuro-pneu-monia. The loss to Mr. Lindeman is quite saffering from the pestilence of pleuro-pneumonia. The loss to Mr. Lindeman is quite beavy, as the state bears only a portion of it. Had the state officers been notified before the infection had gained so much headway the loss would have been much lighter.

On the farm of H. L. Helsey, adjoining the Lindemans, several head of cattle showed some symptoms of pleuro-pneumonia. These were quarantined and inoculated. To preven the further spread of the disease, Secretary Edge, by virtue of his authority under the law, has directed the constable of the township to see that all cattle are kept from the public roads.

It may be well to repeat here what has often been said before, that the law makes it a duty on the part of the owner of any cattle affected with pleuro-pneumonia to immediately report the fact to the state authorities. Dr. E. S. Weber, No. 7 East Orange street, is the local state veterinary, and any case reported to him will be promptly attended to. Another thing may be here stated. The state pays no damage to the owner of cattle killed on account of their being affected with interculosis. In such cases the owner must har the loss; but he will find it much cheaper to kill them than to have his whole herd infected by the diseased animals.

Dr. Weber, who has given much attention to the diseases among cattle in this county, gives it as his opinion that there is not now a single case of well developed pleuro-pneumonia in the county. To state authorities, and the proper in the law intelligent action of farmers in the infected district, have entirely stamped ont the dangerous disease. There are, how-ever, several herds affected with tuberculosis. MR. MALONE'S BRIDGE CONTRACT.

What He Thinks of Mayor Smith's Disapprove of the Market Street Bridge Hit As telegraphed to the INTELLIGENCER of Monday, Mayor Smith, of Philadelphia, has said he would veto the ordinance providing funds for the construction of a bridge over the Schuylkill at Market street, for which Messrs. Malone, of this city, have the con-

Messra. Malone, of this city, have the contract. To an Inquirer reporter last evening Mr. Malone said positively that in no event, under the presentordinance, could the bridge cost over £271,000, which was the contract price. The principal clause to which the mayor seemed to object was that giving the chief engineer power to modify or change the plans or specifications during the progress of the work. If such changes should be ordered, requiring an additional outlay, it must be at the expense of the contractor, who had agreed to erect the structure for a specified sum.

His contract was signed and security entered. Besides this he had already made contracts for £150,000 worth of material, and by August 1 some of the stone would be upon the ground. Mr. Malone also asserts that the ordinance providing "that a contract shall not be altered either in regard to quantity or material furnished, work done or preservable for material number that consent.

shall not be altered either in regard to quantity or material furnished, work done or prices paid for materials unless the consent of councils has been obtained to such changes," has been amended or repealed, so far as the bridge is concerned, thus giving the chief engineer power to auter the plans.

Mr. Malone does not believe there will be sny difficulty relative to the Traction company paying its proportion of the cost of the new structure. "They are only the anxious to have it finished," he remarked: "In order to get rid of the troublesome curve at the present bridge." With that, however, he would have nothing to do.

ent bridge. With that, bridge was com-bave nothing to do.

When the temporary bridge was com-pleted, for which the city paid $60,000 and the Traction company $20,000, the latter paid him upon presentation of the bill, and some time in advance of the date upon which the city made payment.

Speaking of the Hart creek sewer, which was referred to in one of the papers, Contractor Malone said: "When I built the Har Geek sewer Mr. Tatham, then repre-senting an organization similar to the Citizens' Municipal association of to-day, took exceptions to the work and broke holes in the structure. For this Mr. Tatham spen considerable money, and it cost the city quite a nice little sum also. Notwithstanding this I collected my full pay, the experts pronounc-ing the work all right." Mr. Malone said ing the work all right." Mr. Malone said in conclusion that he did propose to criticise the mayor's action or make any specific an-swer to the statements already made until he had read the mayor's veto.

An Awful Storm in Western Pennsylvania. A severe storm prevailed Monday throughout Western Pennsylvania, doing damage estimated at $350,000. Houses were flooded and struck by lightning, crops destroyed and and struck by lightning, crops desiroyed and trees and fences washed away. Almost every railroad entering Pitteburg surfised from landstide; and washouts. But the fury of the elements was probably the greatest along the Pittsburg & Western road. Whole fields of wheat and corn have been destroyed and at a prescript mass Franc City, a strip of words. whest and corn have been destroyed and an one point, near Evans City, a strip of woodland, seventy-five yards wide by three-quarters of a mile long, was levelled by a tornado. At Pine Creek, along Butchers Run, and in the Sewickley valley the water flooded the houses and many families were forced to leave their houses and seek places of safety. In the country districts a number of persons were injured and two killed by Poking Fun at Cooper.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

One of the most—beautiful characteristics of the Republican canvass for governor of Pennsylvania is the touching manner in which Chairman Cooper rallies to the rescue, and appeals for money aid in support tariff. Strange as it may seem there must be lurking somewhere in Pennsylvania a concealed and most insidious foe who has dark and desperate designs concerning the duties on imported goods, and although it is most difficult to find that foe, and nearly as difficult to conceive his ex-istence, still the chairman of the state committee is determined to "smoke him out," if the patriotic people of the state will only aid the chairman "in all practical ways"— the chief way being to come down with the cash. What fun alive "politics" is!

Victoria's Dogs Photographed. from the Paris Figure.

Her majesty has lately been dovoting a considerable amount of money and trouble to the photographing of her favorite dogs. A Windsor artist has taken each of the canine pet repeatedly, and, as the result of his labors her majesty has definitely approved of some 30 cabinets, which make altogether a most inter-esting canine series. It is to be hoped that the queen will not object to the photographs being published, for her loyal subjects would, am sure, be pleased to see their sovereign'

Sarest Tranquilizer of the Nerves. The surest tranquilizer of the nerves is medicine which remedies their supersensitive medicine which remedies their supersensitive-ness by invigorating them, diver-tension of the nerves always weakens them. What they need, then, is a tonic, not a scenario. The latter is only useful when there is intense mental excitement and an immediate necessity exists for producing quietude of the brain. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters restores transquil-ity of the nerves by endowing them with the vigor requisite to bear, without being jarred or disturbed unbestificially, the ordinary toor disturbed unhealthfully, the ordinary im-pressions, produced through the media of sight, hearing and reflection. Nay, it does more than this-it enables them to sustain a degree of tension from mental application which they would be totally unable to endure without its assistance. Such, at least, is the irresistible conclusion to be drawn from the estimony of business and professional litterateurs, clergymen, and others who have tested the fertifying and reparative influence of this celebrated tonic and nervine. jy20 lmd

The Original Tea and Coffee MAN.

IS IT ANY WONDER I AM CALLED THE TEA & COFFEE MAN.

Selling over 65,000 pounds of Coffee in 1885, to say nothing of the large amount of Teas 1 sold. Fifteen years experience in the Tea and Coffee Business in Ireland, Scotland and America has taught me to select the kind of goods the people want. I use no guess work (as some would-tea and coffee dealers) in purchasing these goods. goods.

As I have told you before, and the people of this city and county have learned, by purchasing their goods from me year after year, that I am the PIONEER in LOW PRICES for Standard and the PIONEER. In order to give my cusard Teas and Coffees. In order to give my cus-tomers the benefit of another reduction, I will say to them that Forty-Five Cents will buy Four Pounds of Granulated Sugar and One Pound of Unrivaled Excelsion Grade of Coffee.
