A Grievous Blunder.
The president has signed the bill to tax the industry of manufacturing oleomargarine out of existence, for the "protection" of the competing and no more legitimate industry of making butter—good, bad and indifferent.

As we have persistently urged, this bill is utterly without merit and the president's act in signing it is entirely without excuse. It is the weakest thing which his administration has done; the most grievous and fundamental error into which it has been led.

It is not sufficient justification for his defenders to plead that his legal adviser pronounced the bill constitutional. In form it doubtless was. A bill to tax butter, milk, cheese or any other necessary article of food would be constitutional. Weaker men than this president of ours might offer the apology that it was not the function of the executive to veto a bill that is constitutional and has met with the approval of a large majority of the representatives of the people in both houses of Congress. He has vetoed other bills, entirely constitutional, which both houses had passed with great unanimity and the country applauded his fearlessness and intelligence. He would have met with like approval had he stamped this iniquitous measure with his disapproval. He has done otherwise. His reasons are not satisfactory; no reasons for such an act could be made satisfactory, for it is essentially and radically wrong. We have no doubt the bill will be ineffective. Such an error as it seeks to establish must break down before an enlightened public judgment.

If the law does not afford loopholes its execution will excite a degree of indignation that will cause its repeal. Nevertheless President Cleveland has made a mistake; and one which shows fundamentally wrong thinking on his part, an utter misconception of the powers and privileges of government.

Foolish Mexico.
Mexico has refused to accede to the peremptory demand for the release of Cutting, and gives a reason for her refusal that is both supremely ridiculous and extremely insulting. Cutting, they say, is being tried for the violation of one of their laws of libel, and they must insist upon retaining him and punishing him if found guilty, because their laws expressly state that they apply not only to Mexicans at home or abroad, but to all people, in the world or out of it, that Mexican power can reach.

This is the essence of the statement that crimes committed against Mexicans in any foreign country by the citizens of any country are punishable in Mexico. The most powerful nations do not pretend to enforce their laws beyond their territory. If Minister Kelley's criticism of the Austrian government had been regarded by Austria as within the reach of their law they would have seized him and in all probability have shot him; but the brilliant Mexican idea that their law should take cognizance of the acts of foreigners beyond their territory did not strike them, and when they adopted the comparatively mild expedient of refusing to receive the offender as an accredited minister of our government, we, as a people, felt grossly insulted.

Now poor, weak, little barbarous Mexico goes further; and how shall we measure the vastness of the insult? Only by its absurdity made more glaring by considering its source.

We hope the resolution before the House requesting the president to demand in an emphatic manner the immediate release of Cutting will add enough of emphasis to what the president may say to convince the Mexicans that bombastic Central American diplomacy will never do in dealing with many Northern nations.

Where the President Erred.
It will previously disappoint many friends and admirers of President Cleveland to learn that he has approved the oleomargarine bill. His message to the House states the strong objections to the bill without answering them. For instance, it was argued against the bill that it was an improper interference with state rights. A retort of this theory is looked for in vain in the president's message. Then it is weakly said that taxing oleomargarine may permit the removal of tax from subjects not able to bear it so well. This is carrying the doctrine of expediency too far.

From the tenor of the message of approval, it really looks as though the president belongs to the side that he writes down. His words have not that clear ring of conviction which heretofore has been such a conspicuous feature of the presidential messages. The deferring to the judgment of the legislative branch which the president makes one of his chief reasons for approval is particularly weak. There are many legislators who vote for bad bills under pressure, hoping they will never meet executive sanction. We think Mr. Cleveland has made a mistake in approving a bill which is opposed to Democratic teachings, and which to disinterested spectators seems to have been aimed at the crushing of a little industry by a big one.

ALABAMA sounds the Democratic note clear and strong. Seay, Democrat, has been elected governor by a large majority together with the full Democratic state ticket.

It is suggested that we should retaliate upon Canada for her annoyance of our fishermen by excluding her railroad cars from our territory through which they now run without let or hindrance. But why stop them? We have been willing to get along in the most friendly way with our little neighbor. Now, however, that he is trying to make us uncomfortable and annoy us during business hours it does not meet the necessity of the case if we simply throw a book at his head. He should be stood in the corner with his face to the wall and be made to feel how easy it is for us to forego all communication with him. He may take refuge at his mother's apron strings and tell her all about it, but Britanna is not so easily coddled by her boys when they reach the age of this youngster, and he will have eventually to settle his own squabbles with the big boys of the block.

DEAR BEAVER, don't issue store orders at the rate of $1.00 for a bushel of wheat. It is against the law and this is going to be a big year for labor votes.

On the first of August the Chinamen of Chicago had a feast in the cemetery where some of their race have been buried. The dainties were spread in little heaps on the graves. Some sticks were planted in the soil, a few suppositions to the dainties were scattered and then the Chinamen proceeded to enjoy themselves. This recalls the customs that anciently were ascribed to the exterminators who built the mounds of the Ohio valley. It is said that the hut of a dead "mound builder" was burned above his body and that on the mound thus formed his friends and family built another home. They lived and died over their graves, and like the Chinamen they appear to have seen nothing strange in the presence of the remainder of death.

In General Beaver, ignorant of the law of 1861 that forbids the use of trade orders for the payment of labor? Yet this system is in full practice in the Bellefonte mill of which he is president.

The suggestion of the Anarchist Spies that his heroes should use prussic acid in a hydrocyanic solution as a method of removing capitalists shows that he has been studying the tactics of the Communists of Paris. When Paris had fallen and the victorious Prussians were about to march in to take possession of the city, some of these vile hypocrites over their graves and like the Chinamen they appear to have seen nothing strange in the presence of the remainder of death.

BURNING UP HISTORY.
The Philadelphia "Times" Taken to Task for a Recent Slip.
Editors INTELLIGENCER: In the Times of a recent issue, under the head of "A Temper in a Teapot," appears an editorial in reference to the present disturbances between the United States and Mexico over the arrest and imprisonment of an editor named Cutting. The concluding paragraph of the editorial reads as follows: "We went to war with Mexico some forty years ago about just nothing at all, simply because we wanted California and other territory; and it is possible that many people in Texas and elsewhere want to have another war with Mexico to steal another slice of her territory; and we are now having some pretext for it than a dispute over a Bohemian adventurer in Journalism, who demands a war because somebody proposed to start a rival eight-ten newspaper in a Mexican village."

CONDITION OF THE WEED.

THE GROWING CROP NEVER LOOKED BETTER THAN NOW.
The New York Market Affected by a Strike. Considerable Activity in Old Tobacco. General Condition of the Markets Here, and Elsewhere—Gains' Report.

The farmers who met in this city on Monday afternoon to attend the meeting of the agricultural society were almost unanimous in saying that the present growing crop of tobacco is the best that has ever been seen. Several of them spoke of patches of Havana seed that would yield 2,000 pounds or more per acre. Here and there the soil had out a swath through some rich plantings, and in low lying patches there was some rust, but these bear but a very small proportion of the total crop, which thus far is emphatically good.

Some of the early plantings have been cut and put upon the poles, and others are ready for the knife. Much more has been topped, and even the very late planted is picking up nicely. The continued rains have done it much good.

Among the many fine patches of tobacco to be seen in a drive over the country and now being harvested, is that of William H. Dietrich, along the Marietta turnpike, on the west side of Rohrstown. It is estimated to be three lots, aggregating about three acres, and is situated on the southern slope of Chestnut Hill, well protected by the sprouts on the ridge. For excellence of quality, evenness of growth and fine leaf qualities generally, Mr. Dietrich's lot is hard to beat. He expects a yield of about 3,000 pounds.

The local trade in old tobacco has been lively during the past week. It is reported that not less than 600 cases of '82 and '83 seed had been sold since the first of August, and to 115 cents, and 300 cases of No. Havana seed on private terms.

New York Market.
The Tobacco Leaf of the seed leaf market: The market shows a slight improvement, though the transaction is of a retail character or—as Messrs. Gans' Sons & Co. say—a shopping character, details of which will be found below.
