MING MARIN CALBOTE STAUPFRE.

The Young Lody to Whom Mr. Tilden Left the Interest of $100,000.

From the New York World.

Miss Marie Celeste Stauffer, to whom Mr. Tilden has left the handsome legacy of $100,000, is the youngest daughter of I. H. Stauffer, a prominent merchant of New Orleans.

Miss Stauffer is well known in New York, beging frequently been the guest of Miss having frequently been the guest of Miss Samuel Colgate here. Last autumn she visited Mrs. John Bigelow and Mrs. Peter Cooper at their handsome country seats, and this summer Mrs. Hoffman at Lennox. Mr.

this summer Mrs. Hoffman at Lennox. Mr. Tilden's acquaintance with Miss Stautler began about five years ago, on an ocean steamer when he was returning from a summer jaunt on the continent, and she was homeward bound from the usual finishing tour which all young ladles make prior to their debut in society. An invitation to Graystone was the result of this acquaintance, which now ripened into a warm friendship. On each subsequent visit it to New York, Miss Stauffer, with her mother or her sister, Mrs. Preston, visited for a few weeks at Graystone. On these pleasant occurrences Mrs. Pelton, Mr. Tilden's sister, a warm personal friend of Miss Stauffer, acted as hostess. Mr. Tilden was a Stauffer, acted as hostess. Mr. Tilden was a great admirer of ladies. He had a courtly manner and a quaint gallant way of expressing himself towards the fair sex. In the numerous letters of Mr. Tilden to Miss Stauffe during these past five years are many stately compliments and poetic sentiment such as characterized the correspondence of the last century. In one of these, after the departure of Miss Stauffer for the South, he graphically of Miss Stauffer for the South, he graphically describes the wintry storm beating upon the massive walls of Graystone, the snow whirling in gusts against his window pane, the desolation of the house since Miss Celeste's departure and sadly adds, "You have left the world to darkness and to me." In issk, the year of the great expositions of New Orleans, Miss Stauffer was chosen Queen of the Carnival. There has never been so grand a pageant in the history of carnival displays in the Cresent City. Mr. Tilden took great pride in the event, and as a souvenir of the occasion sent Miss Stauffer a massive silver bangle studded with twelve large diamonds. The beautiful present she wore as a part of her royal jewels.

"This is Miss Celeste's horse," said John Lynch, the stablemun at Graystone, as he laid his hand carelessly on the shining chest-nut back of a beauty; "she can ride well, clear a fence or a ditch just like a man, and clear a lene or a time plast in the guy nor loved to see her ride." Pointing to the piazza, Lynch added: "The guynor used to sit right there in that chair and Miss Gottld there and Miss Celeste there and Miss Celeste used to tell him funny stories and he used to laugh, and I heard him say that she always put him in good humor—she was like a bit of sunshine to the place. She was a great favorite with everybody, wasn't she, Leo?" And here he patted the head of she, Leo?" And here he patted the head of the great St. Bernard, Mr. Tilden's tavorite dog, which looked wonderingly for a mo-ment at the vacant chair and with a low whine went slowly away.

her parents. She will be here in the tail and

HORSE TRIEFES RUST. Three Teams Stolen in the County, But Two of

Them Recovered. Horse thieves were busy last night in this county, south of this city, and although three were stolen, the thieves were so closely pressed that they only got away with one of the teams. The first place visited by the thieves was the barn of C. McAllister, near New Danville. This team was taken but abandoned by the thieves on the Stump-town road. The next barn reached belong-ed to a farmer named Harnish, and the team stolen there was abandoned at the Running

Pump.

The third place visited was the farm of John H. Myers, at New Danville, and a dark brown mare, with two white legs, white forehead, heavy mane and tail, 7 years old, an old buggy and a set of harness were stolen. The thieves were traced to this city stolen. and from the descriptions given are Joe Buz-zard, Joe Groff and William Weeder, who are well known criminals. The last seen of the theves by their pursuers was in front of the Lamb hotel, on South Queen street, but the farmers were afraid to arrest them and went to the station house and reported the whereabouts of the thieves. Officers Leman and Wenninger were detailed to look for them, but they were unable to find them.

In Another Robbery.

A ladies' hunting case gold watch, movement No. 14,167, maker's name, Jules Vermat, key winder, case No. 15,126, 14 karats, was stolen yesterday from W. K. Emmert's house at Ephrata. Joe Buzzard and Joe Groff were seen at the house shortly before the watch was missed, and they are believed to be the their same as they left Ephrata soon after the their

Presented With His Portrait. MANHEIM, Aug. 13 .- Last evening upon his return from Lebanon, Rev. W. J. Johnson, paster of the Reformed church at Man, heim, he was surprised by finding a number of young friends comfortably in possesber of young friends comfortably in possession of his study. The reason was soon explained when Mr. A. Kline, in an excellent address, presented the paster with a crayon portrait of himself, (the paster). The manner of presentation was nicely conceived. The portrait is the gilt of the young men lately confirmed, and is the work of one of their number, Artist R. F. Hamaker. The portrait is an exact likeness of the paster, is beautifully finished and reflects the hand of an artist of much skill. Mr. Hamaker, is a rising young artist. He is a graduate from an artist of much skill. Mr. Hamaker, is a rising young artist. He is a graduate from the studio of Abraham, Lancaster, and all his work has received high praise from the many who have examined the portraits he has made. The pastor appreciates the gift all the more because it is the work of the hand of one of the number of young men

More than 150 persons took advantage of the nvitation to the What Glen pionic by Prof. E. C. Hall, given to his pupils preliminary to the fall dancing campaign. Grosh's orches-tra discoursed excellent music. Wm. H. Lil-ler won laurels for his fine catering. There was some good shooting at a target partici-pated in by Messrs. J. Horting, E. C. Hall, William J. Blickenderfer, W. W. Powden, Reuben Reushaw, Charles E. Downey, Wal-ter Kendig and other crack shots.

Attacked by Cigarmakers. On Monday evening as John Porter, liv-ing with Wm. Stark, near Miliport, was sitting on the porch of Brackbill's hotel, near Brownstown, he was attacked by two cigarmakers, who inflicted several severe cuts with an Iron instrument on his face, rendering necessary the services of a physi-cian. Dr. E. H. Witmer attended the in-

Brick Machine Further Improved. On Tuesday last Henry Martin had another patent, No. 346,631 issued to him through Wm. R. Gerhart, solicitor of patents, for further improvements on his brick machine. The improvement consists in attaching an adjustable blade to the front of the machine; as the moulds issue therefrom the projecting clay is cut off even with the top of the mould, so as to render the brick as smooth on that side as on any of the others.

ROHBERSTOWN, Aug. 13.—A large sun-lower raised by Wm. Jones, at this place, outtops all we have yet heard from. It measures 172 inches from bottom to top. Fe calls it a General Beaver flower. He thinks it will be hard to beat, for it is growing yet. The union excursion and plenic of the R sh-rerstown Sunday schools and Zion's Lutheran from Lancaster to Penryn park on Mo day, August 16, promises to be a big affair.

A Millersville Student Goes Astray. John Emenheiser, of East Prospect, York ounty, has been arrested for the thett of a horse belonging to Geo. K. Keller, of that place. It is rumored he confessed the crime to the constable who arrested him, and after being taken to York a justice committed him for a hearing. The young man was lately a student at the Millersville Normal school.

They Had to Walk! Councilman Daisz, of the street committee spent so much of the city's money for the repair of the first square of South Queen street, that he feared there wasn't enough left to pay for an omnibus to carry the committee over the route of the new Eighth ward sewer yesterday, and so they waiked! It was a dry and tired party when Frank Reiker's saloon was reached.

FROM 6,000 TO 8,000 PEOPLE

Attend the Closing Exercises of the Browns town Campmeeting. BROWNSTOWN, Aug. 13 .- The usual early prayer and praise meetings were quite largely attended on Thursday morning. The first sermon of the morning was preached by Rev. A. Stirk, P. E., from 146 Psalms, 11 and 12 verses. The second sermon was by Rev. W. K. Weiland from Acts, xxvi. , 16, Both were able and eloquent discourses.

The 1 o'clock prayer meeting was addressed by Prot. C. Howman, Rev. Woodring and Rev. A. Stirk. The able sermon at 2:15 p. m. was by Rev. F. Smith, from 2 Peter, 111., 18.

was by Rev, F. Smith, from 2 Peter, 171., 18. The communion services were held at 6 p. m., and were largely attended.

In the evening great crowds began to gather and when Rev. A. Dilabar 1-egan to preach, there were from 6,000 to 8,000 people within the camp. At 9230 p. m. the usual ring was formed outside of the tent. About 600 went in the ring and the usual farewell songs were given with much feeling.

So ended the largest attended and best conducted campineeting ever held here. ducted campineeting ever held here.

Another Campmeeting Kink's Mills, Aug. 15.—A campuseting under the direction of a committee representing Mt. Nebo, Boehms, Strasburg, Quarryville, and Fulton charges of the Methodist Episcopal denomination, will be held in Hoover's woods, near Rawlinsyllie, September 7th to September 13th inclusive. The pasters representing the above charges are respectively, Revs. Garbut Read, F. G. Coxson, Maris Graves, D. T., Smyth, and C.

L Johnson. The meetings will be under the spiritual direction of Rev. Wm. Swindells, presiding elder of the South Philadelphia district.

The pastors of the Methodist churches of Lancaster, Columbia, Oxford and other points will, it is expected, be present and preach.

At Joanna Heights.

Rev G. Reed, of Lancaster, has taken charge of the music at the Joanna Height campmeeting. A large number of Philadelphians are present. Bishop Malialieu, ing, Md. He is engaged in erecting schools throughout the South, for poor people, both white and colored; he needs $1,000,000 to do the work. During the past eighteen days he traveled 2,500 miles.

FLOURISHING A PISTOL.

The Excitement That was Caused by the Autics of a Drunken Baitimorean About 9 o'clock last evening, as Miss Mary Muhlenberg and Miss Emma Musser were sitting on the doorstep of Miss Musser's residence, No. 35 West Orange street, a man under the influence of liquor approached and stumbling against the doorstep, fell to the ground. The ladies hastily retreated into the hall, and the man having regained his feet drew a revolver, and threatened to shoot the ladies if they moved an inch.
