Lord, from henceforth."

La bright young spirit has been taken ta divine comfort; for he was ready and it to go when the Master called. It in L. Frants was a graduate of Frankand Marshall college, a member of the of '85. The record of his college life or '85. The record of his college life sumusually good, and professors and makes were alike his warm friends. For graduating he determined to study, and wishing to fit himself thoroughly his life-work, he decided to go to Germy and there complete the course of study gus here. A short time ago his health led and he was compelled to give up both dy and travel; but a few weeks since he andy and travel; but a few weeks since he man home hoping to regain health and stength. Loving care and tender skill reald do but little to check the progress of disease, and on Monday evening, Sept. 13, to passed quietly and peacefully away.

Ah well, "the shadows are all on our side." Ours is the sorrow and grief, the keen and irreparable loss. The eternal blessedness is all his. The new life with its wider range, is broader scope, its higher joy, its perfect passe is his "from henceforth."

The promise is a divine one, and on it we may rest our aching hearts. Could one but realize its full meaning what an unspeakable comfort it would be to all who mourn.

E. H. H. PROM BAYANNAH AND CHARLESTON.

erview With D. A. Altick, Who Has Just urned From These Stricken South-ern Cities.

This morning Daniel A. Altick, Lancaster' reli-known carriage manufacturer, returned m a brief visit to Savannah and Charles ton, the two Southern cities that have so se rereiy suffered from the recent earth-make. He describes the situation in Charles-quake. He describes the situation in Charleston as appalling, and says that one more twist of the earthquake would have put Savannah in the same condition.

"All that has appeared in the newspapers of a startling character about Charleston does not begin to approach the reality. It, in fact, defies description. I spent several hours there on Tuesday. You walk along the street and ruins greet you on every side. Nearly all of the houses that have not fallen are propped up by long planks resting in the guitars, some of the prope being placed against the first and others against the second stories. Whole blocks are roped in, because they are impassable, and they are strictly guarded by police. The plies of debria from ruined buildings is distressing, and an untold sum of money will be needed to place the city in the same condition in which it was prior to the earthquake.

"Along the Battery where the fine residences are, one may see the four walls of a building missing and the house held together by its partitions and a section of the root. Every oven space is nilled with tents and in the public parks the appearance is presented of an army in camp."

Every open space is filled with tents and in the public parks the appearance is presented of an army in camp."

In Savannab, Mr. Attick says, that while the damage was not so great, the alarm was of equal magnitude. At the Altick carriage repository in that city vehicles were rattled around like dancing dervishes, and the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Gorham, was cracked by the shock. Mr. Altick concluded by saying that he was glad to get back to Lancaster from the sad sights and general business paralysts that he had witnessed.

A FORGER CAUGHT IN BALTIMORE. He Will Be Brought to Lancaster to Anwe For His Offense,

William, alias "Saleker" McMullen. charged with forging the name of Amos Stableford to a check for $40, has been arsted in Baltimore and is held there to await the arrival of Lancaster authorities.

It appears that in April last McMullen was employed as bar-tender in Stableford's tavern in Marietta. At the same time Everta tavern in Marietta. At the same time Everts & Overdeer had some of their workmen boarding at Stableford's, and had told Mr. Stableford to make out a bill for their board and he would pay it. The bill was made out and Mr. Everts gave a check for the amount on Reed, McGrann & Co., to be paid to the order of Mr. Stableford. The check was builded to McMullen to hand to Stableford. Instead of doing so McMullen came to Lancaster, forged the name of Stableford to the check and got it cashed. The forgery was made on the 10th of March last, but was not discovered until some time afterwards when Mr. Stableford asked Mr. Everts for the money and the latter showed to him that the bill had been paid by check.

The police have ever since been on the track of McMullen, who escaped from them once by climbing up a chlumey. He has at last been caught and is on a lair way of being punished for his crime.

NEW STREET RAILEGAD.

The East King Street Project Moving Along Very Auspictously. A movement has been in progress, headed by several enterprising citizens of the East End, for the building of a street railway out East King street as far as Rohrer's green houses, and to be eventually extended to the Conestoga. It is now so far advanced that its success appears reasonably sure, and the sub-scription list in the hands of Mr. Allan A. scription list in the hands of Mr. Allan A. Herr is growing rapidly. The road will be built under a separate charter, and will be entirely independent of any existing street railway companies. The following are the largest contributors to the enterprise: Lawrence Knapp, 40 shares; A. D. Rohrer & Brother, 30 shares; M. L. Herr, 20 shares; Martin Kreider, W. A. Heitshu, Samuel Wetzel, George Nauman, esq., Allan A. Herr, Samuel Potts. About $6,000 have been already subscribed, and Messra. Rohrer & Brother have offered to give the company ground for a stable.

The other steet railways have proved so successful that the gentlemen engaged in his new undertaking have perfect confidence a its ultimate success.

BRANDISMING REPOLVERS IN THE CAR. A Man Under Great Mental Excitement Wante

Last evening as the colored Odd Fellow sere returning from their excursion to Col umbia there was great excitement in one of the cars caused by a white man named Ernes Kopt, who drew from his pocket two revolv ers, and brandishing them recklessly threat-ened to shoot the brakeman. Officer Pyle, who was on the train, succeeded in taking the revolver away from him and did not arrest him. Kopf, after he reached this city. got into a cab and was driven around the city. He returned to the railroad station and went to the ladies' room, where he made an assault on a lady, who was waiting for a train. Officer Pyle, who was in the baggage room, was summoned, and he arrested Kopf, who was taken before Alderman McConomy, who committed, him to the lockup for a hearing. He was put in one of the ordinary cells, where he made so much noise in his efforts to get out, that it was deemed best to put him in an iron-clad cell. He had not been long in the latter before he astonished the officer on duty by walking up stairs with the into a cab and was driven around th officer on duty by walking up stairs with the lock and key of the ironelad in his posses-sion. How he got out is a mystery. He was hand-cutled and tore from the wall an iron bar, which was securely fastened through the Dr. Siewart was summoned and he pre-scribed for Kopf, but he refused to take any medicine, and it required three men to bold him while the fourth forced the medicine into him.

Kopf's mind became unbalanced through the loss of a few hundred dollars, through a Kopp's mind became unbalanced the loss of a few hundred dollars, through a business transaction. He was the endorser of C. C. Shure, a Columbia saloon-keeper, of C. C. Shure, a columbia saloon-keeper, of C. C. Shure, a Columbia saloon-keeper, and was compelled to buy in the furniture at the sheriff's sale of Shure's property. The arrangement made by Kopf was that Mr. Shure was to pay a certain sum per month until the indebtedness was paid. This arrangement was not carried out and Kopf would not take the advice of his counsel and issue a writ of replevin for the goods he bought and in consequence did not see the soften. This loss sequence did not get any of them. This loss preyed on his mind and last night he became violently insame. This morning he talked rationally at times, but while talking on one subject would suddenly begin talking about something else, Doctors Stewart and Roland examined him this morning, pronounced him to be of unsound mind, and signed a certificate to that effect. He was taken to the county asylum by Chief Smith and Officer Burns. He was disposed to resist going, but he was finally induced to go to have a talk with Dr. Mc The physicians say that a few days rest at

In addition to the chorus organized from Posts si and 405 for singing the army songs at the camp fire in the evening, which will be open to the public, it was decided to in-vite a fine vocal quartette to render the music, with Miss Landes to give appropriate recitations.

The citizens are requested to decorate their indictions generally throughout the city, in buildings generally throughout the city, in honor of their veteran defenders and the sur-vivors of the war who saved our liberty and national unity.

The assembly bids fair to be large and attractive and interest in the first remion of war veterans is widespread. Fair skies will make Grand Army day an important event for our city and county.

Citizens wishing to contribute substantials or delicacies for the army dinner, will have an opportunity to send such articles to the rink, which will be open during the morning of Wednesday, September 22, for their recep-tion, when the Ladies Aid society will be in attendance.

Finding His Son a Bootblack Henry Howard, from Virginia City, Nev., s staying in Chicago on the way homeward from New York. As he stepped from a Clark street car at Washington street he was accosted with the familiar bail: "Shine, boss?" Giancing at the young owner of the boss?" Giancing at the young owner of the voice he started, with the exclamation: "Why, Tom, my son!" It was evident that "Tom" did not share the pleasure of the meeting, for with a look of wild alarm he fled and was lost in the throng. The police in all parts of the city are now looking for Thomas Howard, alias McGinness, a bootblack, who ran away from home a year ago.

The, laves of 1 Two Men Imperilled by Cave in on East King Street. This atternoon about half-past three o'clock the bank of the deep trench being dug for the sewer in front of Sprecher & Son's seed store, East King street, caved in and burred Philip Baltach and George Abel under an avalanche of earth and stone. Other workmen burried to their rescue and Balbach was uncovered. He Abel was dug out shortly before 4 o'clock. He was able to walk, but locked pale as a corpse. Dr. H. E. Westhaeffer attended them. Great crowds at once gathered and the excitement was intense during the digging for the unfortunates.

Colleges of Strictures. The Albert bridge, spanning the Lagar river, at Belfast, Ireland, collapsed Wednes-day. Twenty persons were thrown into the river, four of whom were drowned. The suspension bridge over the Ostrawitza river in the town of Ostrau, in Moravia, collapsed Wednesday while a squadron of Uhlans were riding across. The Uhlans and a number of spectators who were on the bridge watching the soldiers were all precipitated into the river. Seven persons were instantly killed, one of whom was a Uhlan, and many were seriously injured. All the injured were recovered from the river.

Beaver Street Not to Be Opened. Robert A. Evans, Adam R. Barr and John G. Hood, the viewers appointed to report on the necessity of opening Beaver street from Mifflin to West King street, met this afternoon. There were no witnesses exam-ined as to the value of the property to be taken. A. J. Steinman, representing the owners of the property to be taken by the opening, stated that the property was not in the market for sale, but if it was needed for public improvement, the heirs believed it was worth $20,000. The viewers, after a brief onsultation, decided to report against open ing the street at the present time.
