LANCASTER, SEPTEMBER 30, 1886

Lancaster Aroused. The meeting at the opera house last g of the representative business of Lancaster to consider the early movement and the organization of a board of trade was one of the most br many a year. As will be seen by the very extensive report of its proceedings here, it was a gathering of clearheaded, earnest merchants, met for the purpose of exchanging thoughts upon two of the uppermost local questions now afcting their interests.

It will be seen that there was a general ent in the direction of sustaining the early closing movement, but some forle reasons were presented against it The discussion that took place and the omises suggested brought out the ents pro and con, and presented the bole question in a very clear light. It is most evident that to make this movement a es there must be a careful adjustment of individual benefit to that of the comuity. If the community is to be beneattad by this new departure, there should be a willingness to sink the individual sefft in the general good. On the contrary a minority should not be coerced into oing that which is in radical conflict with its carefully conceived judgment. This stion will settle itself by experience. Now that the system has been inaugurated. it should be given a fair trial; and let it tand or fall on its merits.

The board of trade feature of the meeting admits not of two opinions. The city has long needed just such an organization to take hold of enterprises that will conduce to the city's good. As was fercibly stated, lesser Pennsylvania towns are prosided with boards of trade who constantly blow their municipal horns until the reverberations are heard far and near, and they give large aid to the bringing within their doors of new business enterprises and ased population.

The scheme to bring Lancaster nearer to its big county towns and villages by short railroad lines, is a particularly good one. which the INTELLIGENCER has long advocated. Every foot of ground in this wealthy county should be made to contribute to the importance of the county seat. Local pride demands it, and the facilities for so doing should be made such that business economy should warrant it. From the meeting to advance this plan of organizing for the good of the city, much benefit must grow, and all who lend the project a ng hand will be doing a great work, not only for themselves, but for the large body of their fellow-citizene. And it will be a work that will make their memories bright during all succeeding generations.

Russia.

Russia is aggressive. The czar has acted the part of the Irishman at Donneybrook fair with a persistency that must have be come very tiresome to the other parties who don't want to fight. Why does he want to fight? There are many reasons. but the strongest appear to have their source in the weakness of the strongest wer in Europe. This apparent paradox is justified by reference to the complicated condition of Russian finances, enormous ess of expenses over revenue, heavy taxes, shaky credit, by the wisdom of giving the people something else to think of than the tyranny and inefficiency of their government, and by the impatience of all Russians to realize their old dream of the conquest of Constantinople, and their new ambition to conquer a right of way to the Persian gulf. A restless, energetic people are hungry for an outlet on the sea; for the ice bound harbors of the Baltic, and the land locked coasts of the Black Sea give little scope to Russian commerce.

Russia is a country of vast resources. with a large population not yet fairly awake after a sleep of ages, but giving signs of immeasurable strength. In spite of diplomatic white lies and imperial embraces, the rest of Europe knows that from hovel to throne throughout all Russia, and in spite of Nihilism, there runs one bond of sympathy; the ambition to win Constantinople and control the Bosphorous. Germany is the only power that appears competent to sist the advance of Russia to the south and west, and the drift of straws in the litical current appears to indicate that Bismarck realizes the inevitable, and is discond to bow to it so long as Germany is

It is hinted that even England may so tavor Russia as to consent to the reeval of the head of Islam from Constande to Cairo, and that the sultan may this course on the principle that it is ster to leave Europe with dignity than a stay and get kicked out. Austria is like bundle of arrows held together by a on thread and war might mean dissostion. France must watch Germany, taly don't seem to care much how the r jumps. But the bear has a sore head proceedings become more arrogant earable every day. He seems to be ut to paint Europe very red, but he can't have Alaska.

Rise and Fall of Wiggins.

The big storm that Wiggins predicted for the 29th instant came not, and the ather prophet is without honor in any

That this irresponsible person could cause such a general havor over the country by his dire predictions shows that there is a large element of superstition in the human race, which educational progress has failed to eliminate. By playing upon this impulse, Wiggins has succeeded in making himself the best advertised man in this country.

All of which illustrates that the Bard of Avon uttered a perennially true sentiment when he said "What fools these mortals be !"

In addition to the Republican party, Wiggins must also go.

A POSTAL clerk committed suicide in Philadelphia the other day, and there is an attempt to put upon Postmaster Harrity the moral responsibility of his death in working the man too hard. Could partisan malignity

A HORRIBLE Story comes from China of the barbarous execution of a young girl accused of poisoning her relatives. The dispatch says that her innocence was proved, but that the execution was ordered in deference to the clamor of the people. The de talis are too ghastly for repetition, but, with due allowance for exaggeration, serve to remind us that a large portion of the human ace are yet ferocious beasts, and religion and civilization have a vast field of labor before them. Chinamen here are submissive and orderly citizens; in the West they are more aggressive and their barbarism more evident. but at home the mass of the people have the superstitions and vices of savages without their virtues. Travelers, blinded by the funeral glory of a dead civilization, often tell us only of the best side of the almond-eyed celestials. There is just enough of good to give hope that it will some day leaven the evil.

It is not often that the fair sex come out boldly and wear trousers as does Miss Nellie Moore, of Pittsburg. They are usually content with ruling the masculine occupant of these nether garments.

It is not often that one book so clearly demonstrates the power of the pen as has Helen Hunt's "Ramona." For though the author made a vigorous right for the mission Indians in many a paper and pamphlet the best of her work was concentrated in the remarkable book, and it has been the most widely read of all her writings. These mission Indians are the best, the most orderly and industrious of their race, and thanks to the noble woman above alluded to, have found plenty of friends in their distress. Their true character and condition having been made known to the chiefs of the Indian bureau, the seizure of their lands by a rapacious railway company has been stopped, and they may remain in undisturbed possession of the land of their fathers.

BEAVER'S superserviceable organs are now trying to get away from the force of their candidate's deliberately written sentement that freight discrimination is not a state question. Too late! Too late!

ADMIRAL JOURTT has been interviewed about the needs of the navy, and expresses himself as greatly alarmed at the detenseless condition of the great lakes. He says that England has appropriated $30,000,000 for the improvement of the St. Lawrence and the canals, and he fears that the facilities that these improvements will give will enable England to pass a powerful fleet into the great lakes, and carry devastation to Amerian lake shore cities. He talks like an alarmist, but he is a man who has given much thought to these things and is worth listening to. At the rate of progress we are now making we will have a navy, before ten years have passed, that will dispute the control of the St. Lawrence if necessary. Meanwhile we hope for peace.

PAY your poll tax and secure your right to vote. Saturday is the last day.

PHILADELPHIA's city solicitor says that political committees have a right, established y a long chain of decisions in this state, to buy poll tax receipts in bulk. It is a custom, however, that should be more honored in the breach than in the observance.

> Ir I were Wiggins, What would I do ? I'd hunt other diggins, Distant ones, too. Oh Wiggins! prophetic Your gentus is not, Take warning poetic, You'll surely get shot:

No man should permit any other man to pay his tax for him. Every freeman should pay his own tax and Saturday is the last day for doing it.

THE Republican party of Pennsylvania, instead of avowing its intention to support and enforce the constitutional provisions for the control of railways, proposes to replace the provisions of that instrument by a national messure, the Cultom bill.

But they have given no adequate reason why the state constitution should not be enforced. They have hinted that the provisions in question were vague and obscure, but have failed to indicate what particular line or word they did not understand. To ordinary people it is clear as crystal. They have said that the matter of railroad control is too great for a state to handle, which is begging the question, for the constitution of the state must be enforced or amended; and even if this claim were admitted the fact remains that legislation by the general government could not affect purely state traffic. To what pitiable straits is the dying party driven in this campaign.

PERSONAL. JANAUSCHER thinkstrash will eventually

THEODORE MCALLISTER, of Adams county, has been named by the Republicans for the Senate in the Thirty second district. Rt. REV. JOHN A. WATTERSON, D. D. Catholic bishop of Columbus, Ohio, is visiting his relative, Wm. E. Lant, of this city. He is on his way to a European tour. Mr. HENRY E. ABBEY, the enterprising manager who first brought Mme. Bernhardt, Mr. Irving and Mrs. Langtry to America, was quietly married in Boston on Tuesday to Miss Florence Gerard, the leading actress in Mme. Modjeska's company. The bride is 28 and an exceedingly bright woman. A short honeymoon will be spent at Manchester-by-the-sea.

by-the-sea.

DR. AMES, the Democratic candidate for governor of Minnesota, ought to be a popular man if this is a sample of his practice. Three children of a man man had diphaheris, and the doctor cured warm. Their mother, wern out with watching over them, was ill for a month, and the doctor cured her. Then the father fell from a scaffold and broke a leg, and the doctor fixed him up as good as new. After the man recovered he borrowed $137$ and went to the doctor's office to make at least a part payment on his bill. "What do I owe you, doctor?" said he. "Oh, give me $4$ and call it square," said the doctor. That 54 and call it square," said the doctor. That man will vote for Ames.

THE REV. EMORY J. HAYNES preached a sermon on the subject "Shall I join a frater-nity" in Boston on Sunday. It was apropos of the visit of the Odd Fellows to that city, of the visit of the Odd Fellows to that city, and in it he spoke strong words in favor of college secret societies of the right sort. "I pay a debt of gratitude this day," he said. "Years ago, when a lad, I came from the state of Vermont and went to college, where I had the companionship of some young men who admitted me to their secret honors, and I pay honor to them. They were my friends, and they rebuked me when I did wrong and rejoiced with me when I did well. Then they cared for me and bent over me and saved my life when I was sick. I have a great respect for these secret societies. I owe as much to the watchfulness and sympathy of that society as I owe to the college itself." THE PLBURO-PREUMORIA.

It Is Among the Chicago Cattle; a Reported Outbreak in Virginia. The members of the lilinois live stock commission besitate about ordering the slaughter of the quarantined cattle at the Chicago distilleries. A large proportion of the herds show no signs of being affected by the contagion, and a great many cattle men are beginning to join in the view that the supposed disease is not the contagious pleuro-pneumonia.

The commissioner of Agriculture at Washington, has received from Robert Beverly a letter dated The Plains, Va., reporting the appearance of pleuro-pneumonia in three counties of Virginia:

Mr. Beverly says: "I must beg you to send a veterinarian to this section as soon as possible to look after diseased cattle that were brought here directly from Chicago stockyards by Mr. E. T. Hotton, I. learn that the directly are the control of the county of the control of the county of Chicago stockyards by Mr. E. T. Hotton. I learn that the disease exists or that cattle are dying in three counties—Fauquier, Prince William and Loudoum—they being rattle bought in stock yards of Chicago. I have seen none of them, but hear that many of them out of each carload so bought have died and others are sick, some of our farmers say from Texas fever, but all say that the cattle have a cough, which I know is not psculiar to Texas tever." The commissioner has sent Dr. Dyer to Virginia to make an investigation.

Splitting Treasury Notes.

A new departure in the matter of countereiting money was brought to light at the United States sub-treasury in Baltimorea few days ago. A somewhat worn ten dollar government bill was presented at the cashier's window with a request for change, which was given. The note was sent to Washing ton as mutilated currency, and was returned with the information that one side of the note was good, but the other side was a well-exe-cuted counterfelt of the original. It was found that a genuine ten-dollar bill had been split, the face being separated from the back. a seemingly impossible undertaking. The original face, with a counterfeit back, had been used, and it is quite likely that the genuine back, with a well executed counterfeit face, had been passed in some other quarter. The portion of the note was worth exactly its proportion of the whole, or, in other words, five dollars. More re-cently another ten dollar "front" was presented at the cashier's window, with a similar request for change. The clerk at the window, suspecting the bill, told the man who handled t in to wait a moment until he could consul Dr. Bishop, the sub-treasurer. Dr. Bishop recognized in the note the familiar game, and said it was worth just five gollars. When he clerk returned to the window, however, the man had left without waiting for his the man had left without waiting for his change. The sub-treasury, which was out five dollars on the first transaction, was evened up by the second. This system of manipulating paper money is perhaps one of the most dangerous forms of swindling ever attempted. One or more genuine "fronts" mixed with several whole notes would be liable to deceive expect bank relief. The liable to deceive expert bank tellers. The face bearing undoubted proof of genuineness very few would be apt to examine the backs of all the notes, unless something in the feel of the paper might arouse suspicion. Then should any one, especially if not so expert as a bank teller, happen to strike the counter-felt side and have his doubts about the notes a glance at the other side would possibly set it rest all questions. It would seem that the expert manipulators of paper currency will eventually compet the government to rivel together the two sides of its promises to pay

In all diseases of the masal nucous membrane the rezaedy used must be non-irritating. The medical profession has been slow to learn this. Nothing satisfactory can be accomplished with douches, snuffs, powders, syringes, astringents or any similar applications, because they are all irritating, do not thoroughly reach the affected surfaces, and should be abandoned as worse than failures. A multitude of persons who had for years borne all the worry and pain that ca, tarrh can inflict testify to radical and permanent cures wrought by Ely's Cream Balm.

Tried in the Crucible

About (wenty years ago I discovered a little sore on my cheek, and the doctor pronounced it cancer. I have tried a number of physicians, but without receiving any permanent benefit. Among the number were one of two specialists. The medicine they applied was like fire to the scre, causing intense pain. I saw a statement in the papers telling what 8.8. 8. had done for others similarly afflicted. I procured some at once. Before I had used the second bottle the neighbors could notice that my cancer was healing up. My general health had been bad for two or three years—I had a backing cough and spit blood continually. had a severe pain in my breast. After taking six bottles of S. S. S. my cough left me and I grew stouter than I had been for several years. My cancer has healed over all but a little spot about the size of a half dime, and it is rapidly disappearing. I would advise everyone with cancer to give S. S. S. a fair trial,

DEPARTMENT

During that period we have learned a great deal about Boots and Shoes. We have found the medium chas goods require as close attention as the very finest; that by close attention we can raise the standard of this class of goods to a higher plane without interfering with the Pres-ent Prices to our customers. In other words, we think there is an opportunity to give better ent Prices to our customers. In other words, we think there is an opportunity to give better values than formerly without interfering in any way with our Finest Trade. Our sales of medium grade Boots and Shoes have increased the last two years beyond our expectations, and it is our carnest endeavor to still increase our sales on this class of goods, and to do this we have de-termined to keep better grades than has ever been offered at Present Prices. In keeping a sharp lookout for Middle Class Goods we shall sharp lookout for middle class Goods we shall not forget the Finer Grades. Some times we have concluded to close out, and this we are going to do quickly by putting prices upon them that ought to sweep them cut in a few hours. For

A MERICAN WINES. GRAND DISPLAY -OF-

American Wines.

The following is from the report of the judges on Wines at the Lancaster County Agricultural Association Fair:

We desire to make special mention of H. E. Slaymaker's large and elegant exhibit of Domestic Wines, produced by the Pleasant Valley Wine Company, of Rhoims, Steuben county, New York. Their Special Great Western Extra Dry, Champagnes, Port, Claret, Dry and Sweet Catawba Wines, Port, Claret, Dry and Sweet Catawba Wines, which we consider, compare favorably with Imported Wines.
