LANCASTER, OCTOBER 6, 1886.

A Warning to the Knights of Labor. he labor delegates at Richmond have ed to a number of speeches so full of denunciation of capital, that they in danger of losing a large share of the thy aroused by the opening addresses Mr. Powderly and Governor Lee.

Those gentlemen were careful to point o monopoly as the enemy, not only of the opoly as the enemy, not only of the ing classes, but of all the people, and believe the Knights of Labor still adre to their oft repeated principle that an injury to one is the concern of all." her that one be a capitalist or a rer. Wild denunciations of capitalists in the abstract only bring discredit upon the order, and should not be tolerated in convention, for there must be capitalists in he social system just as there must be generals in an army; and the high abilities requisite for the skillful management of ital are worthy of reward. It is only then the general becomes a despot and nakes use of his untrammeled power for lifsh purposes that there can be any pretext for revolt. This state of affairs unoubtedly exists in America at present. ough perhaps not yet in aggrevated orm. Realizing the wisdom of chaining the giant before he has grown to presis ie strength and stature, the people will sicome any conservative movement of the Knights of Labor in that direction.

On parallel lines the Knights and the Democratic party are working for the vement of the same purpose, the eletion of labor, and political measures with hat end in view are within the province of the party just as the banding of labor to check the downward tendency of wages is within the province of the labor organiza-

The New Street Rallway.

The East End Passenger railway proposes to-night to ask councils for permis-East King street for laying their ks. No doubt their request will be cheerfully granted, as the new organization is in the line of the development of the city's interests. But councils should seto it that the new company use a flat or sunken rail for their purpose. Not many people know that a large share of the runsways and driving accidents in this town have been caused by bad street car, tracks, If those who were injured or damaged by loss in these accidents had pushed their legal rights to an extreme, some heavy uncial blows would have been sustained by these negligent corporations.

The character of the gentlemen who are interested in the new street railway scheme is an ample guaranty that what they will do will be well done. But, srtheless, it is the duty of councils to halst in the beginning that the least dangerous kind of track shall be laid. Such prudence will also be a kindness to the corporation in saving it from a possibly beavy financial draft for damages in

The Store Order Decision.

The supreme court decision that the anti-store order law of June 20, 1881, is unastitutional, has a very specious appearse, and to the casual reader it will seem Lea proper correction of an attempt to take away the liberty of employer and employe in the making of a contract. To be sure, the law should not restrain either from a large freedom of contracting, one with the other, unless one possesses a manifest advantage over the other in the making of the contract. This the employer es possess over the employed, and we fail howsection 4 of the act in question, which is elsewhere printed, is in any way an undue restriction of the freedom of tracting.

Labor is pushed by the goad of necessity in arranging for its hire, while capital may exercise choice. Surely, then, when the law steps in to say that the laborer shall be paid in cash, or that which is strictly equivalent thereto, it is very fine hairitting to say that such legislation is an interference with private rights.

Facts Are Facts.

To the allegation that there was no such ganization as a trunk line contract. he Philadelphia Record produces the alon to the contract before the Cullom mittee of the Senate, entered into on ovember 6, 1885, between the Grand Trunk railway company, of Canada. the New York Central & Hudson river railend company, the New York, West Shore & Buffalo railway, the Delaware, Lackaans & Western railroad company, the lew York, Lake Erie & Western railroad my, the Pennsylvania railroad comy, and the Baltimore & Ohio railroad

To the statement that no coal combi-usion existed, the same paper produces note showing that a written agreeat was entered into in New York on ber 31, 1884, by the coal barons " to ce coal prices."

Facts are facts, and it is useless for the grates affected by Governor Pattison's arfare to deny that they are implicated a his charge that the constitution has violated. That the governor is in that it is given out that proceedings will probably be begun to-day.

Where Beaver Is Weak. With Quay holding the keys of the state treasury and pliant Beaver in the executive chair at Harrisburg, how can the people expect that their rights shall be sternly protected ? In his Pittsburg speech Beaver plainly gave notice, in his remarks on freight discrimination, that he proposed to carefully look after the interests of the corporations, which is proper enough, provided that at the same time they be considered with reference to the rights of labor. Between the lines of Beaver's address on this subject, the intelligent workingman may discern a leaning towards the interests of monopoly that bodes no good for the labor cause. And on this ground alone thousands of votes will be lost to the Republican candidate.

THE pleasing information comes from Charleston that the city council believe that the contributions now in hand and the collection in progress in the territory east of the Alleghenies as well as in Chicago and other points west, will suffice for the needs of those for whose relief the appeal was made.

SEVERAL steamers built in Pittsburg have reached the gulf by way of the Mississippi and proceeded to South America. Whether in sections in the hold of an ocean steamer is not recorded; but ever since the startling fact was announced Pittsburg has considered herself a seaport and has been talking wisely of vachting matters and naval architecture.

The columns of her papers are tarry as the rigging of a man-of-war, and one who did not know better might suppose that the editorial sanetum overlooked some harbor filled with a forest of masts. These nautical editors are Republicans, whose voyage on Salt river has given them a taste for the briny deep and whose sympathetic natures have been touched the troubles and trials of John Roach, who failed in a most mysterious manner some time ago and is now making ready to resume lousiness in an equally mysterious manner.

School directors, it seems, are to have the same privileges of appropriating private lands for public school purposes as railroads do. The Philadelphia city solicitor has ren dered an opinion that if an agreement cannot be made with the owner of a piece of land wanted for public school purposes, the board of public education could occupy the ground and the question of values and damages be letermined in the manner provided for by the act of assembly of 1867.

THE fearful power for evil wielded by bac literature has been most graphically illustrated by a recent French murder. Two lads had been cramming their brains years with sensational literature, and finally they appear to have been driven crazy by it, for they wrote a wild tragedy with the murder of a young girl by two jealous suitors as the crisis, the suicide of the murderers as the culmination of it; and then calmly proceeded to make the fiction a reality. killed a girl friend without faltering, but selfmurder was too much for them. They were sentenced to 15 years bard labor and their parents has to pay $500 to the father of the girl. A healthy American boy would profit by the reading of Cooper, but these French youths had been so crazed by miserable literature that the excitement of the Leatherstocking tales was more than they could bear, and their "Dame Horrible," as they called their manuscript, mingled the realism of the lowest French fiction with the phraseology of Cooper. The French are a peculiarly nerv ous and excitable people, and the incident serves to call attention once again to the secessity of regulating the mental as well as the physical food of the rising generation.

PERSONAL.

QUEEN VICTORIA owns the finest set in exstence of the autographs of the signers of the American Declaration of Independence. MAYOR HARRISON, of Chicago, is quoted saying; "I don't want to be known by my sputation, for that is d-d bad. But my haracter is above reprosch."

BISHOP WINGFIELD, the fifth person chosen as the successor to the late Bishop Lay in the P. E. diocese of Easton, Md., is reported to have telegraphed from Benicia, Cal., declining the honor.

Shall the Constitution Se Enforced

From the Dolessown Democrat. If the people of Pennsylvania only knew and would realize it, the most important ques tion before them is that of anti-discrimination. It is a question that concerns all, farmers, me chanics, laboring men alike. The parties and their candidates are wide apart on this issue. When the present state constitution was When the present state constitution was made, a provision was incorporated in it against discrimination by railroads in freights—and the legislature was authorized to enforce it. That was twelve years ago, but in all that time this provision has been adead letter. No serious attempt has been made by the Republican party, to carry it out. The question now comes up whether it shall remain a dead letter. The Democratic party have declared in favor of anti-discrimination, and Black, its candidate for governor, stands squarely on this platfor governor, stands squarely on this plat-form. Shall the constitution be enforced? Are the farmers willing the railroads shall continue to set its provisions at defiance and Are the farmers willing the radiroads shall continue to set its provisions at defiance and charge them more in proportion for carrying their produce to market than they charge the great coal corporations? This is the gist of the proposition. Mr. Black stands pledged to use all his influence, if elected, to have this provision of the constitution enforced. and the farmers protected. Black is the farmers' friend, their interest is his interest, and whatever can be done to protect them from corporate imposition will be done. The Republican party is the party of corporations and nothing can be expected from them. When they had the opportunity and the power to enforce the constitutional provision against discrimination, they refused to do it. What right have they to ask the people to entrust them again with power? If they get it they will again violate their trust. To them the constitution is a dead letter. Farmers, mechanics, laboring men, your only hope lies in the election of Channeey F. Black, Democratic candidate for governor: ers, mechanics, laboring men, your only hope lies in the election of Channey F. Black, Democratic candidate for governor! Elect him with a Democratic legislature, and the constitution will have breathed into it the breath of life; elect Beaver, and it remains a bundle of waste paper in one of its most important carts. most important parts.

Displeasing to The Cattle Men At Monday evening's session of the Illinois Live Stock commissioners, in Chicago, it was decided that if, upon ante-mortem ex aminations, an owner's cattle were declared sound, an owner could take them out and sound, an owner could take them out and siaughter them. Then a post-mortem examination would be held by the inspectors authorized by the commission, and if no disease was found, the owner could do what he liked with the meat—sell it, or destroy it as he chose. This, the stock yards' officials and business firms say, "will ruin their business," but the secretary of the commission says; "There is no reason why the state or the government should pay for healthy eattle and destroy them. The law itself is against it. The stock yards' people are the only parties interested in destroying the meat, and if they want the healthy animals destroyed, their only course is to buy them."

Three thousand mill bands were locked out in Frankford, Philadelphia, Tuesday night. In accordance with the order issued night. In accordance with the order issued by the aid committee of the Philadelphia Manufacturers' association, to whose consideration the demands of the strikers in the mills of William P. Troth, jr., & Co., had been submitted, all the textile mills in Frankford run by the members of the association and two owned by non-members, were closed up yesterday to remain closed for an indefinite period. The number of hands who are consequently thrown out of employment will aggregate three thousand. In most of the mills the work of finishing damask goods and knotting lowels was done outside, so that independently of the respective permanent hands a large number of families who were either occasionally or continually engagest will be very materially aftinually engaged will be very materially af-fected by the action of the manufacturers. The action was caused by a difficulty over the wages of the employes.
