LANCASTER, OCTOBER 8, 1888.

The Coal Corner.

There can be no question of the power of the state to prevent combination to raise the price of any of the necessaries of life. for the supreme court so decided in 1871, and common sense teaches that the people. who are the government, can not permit a few men to arbitrarily fix the value of coal. nand and supply are the natural regulators of trade, and if the demand does not furnish sufficient reward to the miners they must seek more remunerative work : but coal kings have undertaken to raise prices by a decree taxing coal consumers. not for the benefit of the miners, whose miserable condition is well known, but only for the profit to their companies. Of the combination of the five companies the supreme court said "that by the contract they control the price of coal in this extensive market and make it bring sums it would not command if left to the natural laws of trade. The combination is wide in scope, general in its influence and injurious in effects. These being its features the contract is against public policy, illegal, and therefore void."

The court further showed that combins tion to create a "corner" in any necessity of life was a crime, and added, " the influ ence of a lack of supply or a rise in the price of an article of such prime necessity cannot be measured. It permeates the entire mass of the community and leaves few of its members untouched by its withering blight. Such a combination is more than a contract It is an offense."

In Governor Pattison, the coal kings have found a man who is bold enough to remind them that the constitution of this state is still in existence; although they may have the coal, they do not own the state of Pennsylvania.

After the battle of Gettysburg a farmer appeared among the tired and famished with a wagon load of bread, and taking advantage of the desperate need of the men, demanded a dollar a loaf. At officer summarily confiscated the stock of this small monopolist, and sold it for him at a reasonable figure. The case of the coa monopolists is similar, and the non-partisal pies of the whole country is unanimou in praise of the governor's manly stand.

Flaying the Store Order System.

Despite the decision of the supreme court that store orders may be issued so long as it is agreeable to employer and em ploye, workmen will conclude that the fairness of the supreme court's ruling is more apparent than real. For as Mr. Powderl says in an article in the North American Review: "In thousands of places through out the United States as many superintend ents, foremen, or petty bosses are interested in stores, corner groceries or saloons. In many places the employe is told plainly that he must deal at the store or get hi liquor from the saloon in which his boshas an interest; in others he is given to understand that he must deal in these stores or saloons or forfeit his situation. Laws have been passed in some states against the keeping of company stores, but the stores are kept nevertheless, and workmen are made to feel that they must patronize them.

These are the bottom facts in this question, and all reasonable men are quick to admit them. Nor is this view of the situation confined to Democratic thinkers. Such a thick-and-thin Republican organ as the New York Tribune lashes the store order system in this strong language :

order system in this strong language:

The store-order system has from the be ginning been maintained solely by working upon the fears of the employes. Rather than lose their employment they have submitted to be robbed—for the system involves nothing less than robbery, and that of the meanest kind. If they were free to make their own contracts they would to a certainty buy in the cheapest market instead of the dearest. That they are not free is the only reason why they deal at the company's store. As to the "legislative tutelage" referred to by Judge Gordon, his characterization is, to say the least, infelictious. The legislature of Pennsylvania was appealed to to deliver the laborers from a species of thraidom; for it is certainly thraidom when a man is not at liberty to buy his food and clothing whereever he chooses. The case was one in which labor was powerless to relieve itself. It demanded and obtained protection from the state. To tell the beneficiaries under the act of 1881 that they were degraded by a law which restored their independence to them is assuredly not calculated to increase their respect for the courts or to convince them that they have been mistaken in suspecting that there was one law for the rich and another for the poor. In short, the decision appears to be alike unfortunate and ill-timed, and if it is sound law, its victims will be apt to 'hink anything but admiringly of the Jurisy adence of which it is an example.

And this system, which thus receives the

And this system, which thus receives the executation of the leading Republican paper of the country, is in full swing at the Bellefonte nail works, of which Gen. Beaver, the Republican candidate for goverm ir, is president. Is it any wonder that the labor vote of the state is arrayed aginst

A Church Centennial.

The full report elsewhere given of the centennial exercises of the Cedar Grove P.esbyterian church, will be read with great interest by all who have a penchant for digging up the mouldering historical treasures of the past in this county.

The men who made this famous church. nd the pastors who ministered to it during he long existence it has had, deserve we their memories embalmed in the westest recollection. The good that they have done will long live after them, and the recalling of their virtues will have a beneficial effect upon the rising generation.

The weather was in sympathy with the event commemorated, which fact was as remarkable as it was fortunate. May the second centennial of the old-time church find it possessed of the same vigor that has characterized its past career

THE riot of English troops drafted for services in Africa may be taken as a straw in the current of English feeling with regard to Egypt. The mass of the people are rapidly becoming tired of the conquest that has been draining them of so much blood, and it is only by the influence of those who have financial interests in the Nile valley and in India, that the efforts of the government to maintain control there are not more vigorously resisted at home. As the key to the shortest route to India it is urged that Egypt must be held as long as Russia menaces the Afghan border, but Gladstone's sublime idea that the time is fast approaching when India must be allowed to stand alone, though s hard dose for a proud Briton to swallow, is going down slowly and surely and must soon show beneficial effects. India manifests so irresistible a determination to stand alone, that the declaration of her ability to do so may be forthcoming from ber people as soon as the mother country finds herself involved in a great war

HERE are some of the rich features of the contents of Saturday's INTELLIGENCER : Uneas" views the labor movement ; an old county family is traced to its origin; su Anment county sect is studied ; a local hunting sketch is graphically given : William Black's novels are criticized by a thoughtful local litterateur; the Gen. Ogle sketch is concluded ; autumn hats and connets are touched upon ; there is a biographical sketch of a most popular and estimable Lancastrian ; an article suggesting a change in the administration of riminal business of the county will appeal to the good sense of lawyers and others. But what is the use of going over all the excel. ences of our Saturday edition. Buy it and find out for yourse) L.

In a way "that is childlike and bland," the Philadelphia North American defends the coal barons from the insinuation that they mave conspired to corner the public supply of coal. It says the companies employ able lawyers, and able lawyers would not permit their clients to do anything contrary to the constitution of the law. Therefore they have not done anything of the kind! This reasoning is so subtle and sublime that we let it stand alone without the drapery of comment

MANTELL IN STANGLED LIVES

The many admirers of Mr. sopert B. Man tell's histrionic talents will dreply regret that he has lent himself to so coarse a play as that which was put on the boards of Fultor opera house last evening in "T-ngled Lives." The stage can be made one of the best modes of inculcating proper views of the kaleidoscopic life in which we live, or it can become an engine for the working of the complete moral degeneracy of those who come under its magic spell. It is not a spirit of prudishness that suggests these thoughts, but a desire to lift a voice against the apotheosis of crime when it is masking in the garb of injured

Mr. John W. Keller's name is attached to this play as its author. He has borrowed from the brothel some of the language he puts into the mouths of his characters, and be more shocking their vulgarity the more peroic they become. An alleged respectable middle aged married man relates in non-chalant style how false he has been to his boune and himself, with a sangfroid that must make charming music in the ears of the must make charming music in the ears of the young and innocent, who have not yet learned the apparently necessary lesson that lite is a sham and virtue a delusion.

Why should a play writer fish in the sewers of life for the characters with whom ne would people the mimic stage? Why is it deemed necessary to paint vice with its "frightful mien" in colors that will cause it to be mistaken for virtue? In the play of "Tangiet Lives" Raymond Garth is a low person, whose writed learning to the play of the play "Tanglet Lives" Raymond Garth is a low person, whose animal passions conquered a weak will. The attempt to make him a hero is pure bathos. A hero must inspire admiration, not contempt; and all the consummate arts of an actor which. Mr. Mantell admittedly possesses could not relieve his character from the odium that attaches to the bad acts of a weak man. With the central figure of the plot, either an idiat or a monster, it is not to be wondered at that the play falls to please like a house of cards, as its plot develops.

It Mr. Mantell is true to his art and himself, he will not long continue to present this abominable play. He is worthy of nempy log a far higher and nobler part than that absurdity affords him. The same may be said of his support, which was uniformly excelient. A lair audience was present. Base Ball on Thursday.

No. 512 Wgst 577H St. N. Y., June 29, 1885.

I have been a martyr to billous headache and dyspepsia. Any indiscretion in diet, overtatigue, or cold, brings on a fit of indigesti to be followed by a headache lasting two or three days at a time. I think I must have tried over twenty different remedies, which were tecom nended as certain cures by loving friends, b it was no use. Like the Irishman, I got no better very fast. At last I thought I would take a simple course of purgation with ERNDERTH'S PILLS. For the first week I took two Pills every night, then one Pill for thirty nights, in that time Igained three pounds in weight, and never have had an ache or a pain since. William E. Rockwett.

THE CROWDED JAMES STREET BUILD. ING HIVEN TEMPORARY RELIEF.

Rented-Report of the City Superintendent for September-Examination of High School Graduates Permitted.

The October meeting of the Lancaster school board was held on Thursday evening with the following members present: Messrs Baker, Bernard, Bolenius, Breneman, Brown, Darmstetter, Eberman, Evans, Johnson, Liehty, Marshall, McComsey, McElligott, Ochs, Pontz, Ringwait, Schwebel, Shirk, Smeych, Snyder, Sprenger, Warfel, White, Wickersham, Wohlsen, and Dr. Levergood, president.

The reading of the minutes of the last tated meeting was dispensed with.

SUPERINTENDING COMMUTTER'S REPORT. Mr. McComsey, of the superintending committee, reported the condition of affairs at the James street primary school was very unsatisfactory. Soon after the opening 100 chil-dren were in attendance at Miss Sener's school. dren were in attendance at Miss Sener's school. There is not seating capacity enough for that number and satisfactory work is out of the question. The city superintendent, as the first means of relief, saw the parents of these primary school children personally and endeavored to induce them to have their children sent to other schools, to Lemon street particularly. None would consent to the ititle children would have to travel and in addition the danger attending the crossing of railroad tracks. A few of the children were sent to the Chestnut street schools, but these schools are now full, and there are still over 100 children attending Miss Sener's school. As the only means of affording relief, the school was divided into two sections and each teacher with half of the schoolars was and each teacher with half of the scholars was given one session of four bours. That arrangement still continues. It was suggested to the committee that one of the other schools be transferred from one of the James street building, but this the committee would not recommend. It was not good policy to put three grammar schools in one building which would have to be done if the grammar chools was transferred to Lemon street, or four secondary schools if the secondary school was transferred to the corner of Prince and Chestnut street. It was also found that there was opposi-

It was also found that there was opposition on the part of the parrons of the school to the transfer of any of the schoolars away from the James street outding. In the committee's judgment there is no feasible way of permanent relief except to provide a room for one-mail of the pupils. The district was carefully can wassed, and among other places which it was thought would answer the purpose, was the Methodist chapel on Charlotte street. Application was made to the trustees to tent the building, but the trustees at a meeting held refused to do so. Subsequently a second meeting was held, their action was rea second meeting was held, their action was re-considered and they finally decided to rent the building to the board of directors at $100 per year, and allow the board to have the use of the church as long as they desired it. As-there is no other feasible way out of the diffi-culty the committee favored the renting until the board decides to build on their new lot to relieve the pressure. If, however, the board should refuse to rent this church then the next best thing to do is to run along with one session, as is now being done. The ufficulty in the school, there being so many pupils, is that one part of the school has to recite in the hall, where teachers and pupils are exposed to the draft and in cold weather the halls cannot be occupied. If any of the members of the board had a better plan the committee would be pleased to hear it. Dr. McCormick moved that the property ommittee be instructed to rent the chapel on Charlotte street, for school purposes for the palance of the school term at the rate of $100 per year.

Mr. Baker said the board had spent a great Mr. Baker said the board had spent a great deal of money on the addition to the Lemon and Lime street building, and yet the board had to acknowledge that we still do not have enough accommodation for the children of the city. There ought, in his opinion, be some plan formulated by which all the school rooms of our buildings could be utilized. If the Charlotte street church was proven to him to be necessary for the accommodation of the children of that section of the city he would you creat it. vote to rent it.

Dr. Wickersham said the board last sum-mer saw the necessity for increased accom-modations in the northwestern section of the city and an annex to the James street build ing was recommended by the superintend-ing committee. The brand in its judgment said an annex was not necessary. As to the Lemon street addition, three of the four new coms were now occupied and the fourth would be before another year by children living in the neighborhood of the school. Mr. McComsey stated that the board would not be obliged to buy new furniture, as the furniture of the unoccupied rooms on Rock-land street could be used. The motion of Dr. McCormick, to rent the Charlotte street chapet, was adopted, with out one dissenting vote-that of Mr. Eber-

Mr. Warfel, for Mr. Cochran, presented the application of Miss. Bessie. McGrann for examination by the city superintendent.

Prof. Buehrle stated that there were other members of last year's graduating class who desired to be examined, and it would be well to make the matter general and allow all applicants to be examined at the same time. The board, on motion of Mr. Evans, allowed the privilege of examination at this time to all high school graduates. all high school graduates.

Mr. McElligott presented the application of Wm. P. Sachs, a high school graduate, for one of the Franklin and Marshall college cholarships. The young man was awarded the scholarship prayed for.

Dr. Bolenius offered the following: If it s necessary that chronological events shall be taught in the public schools of Laucaster city, where history is not taught, be it Resolved, That the superintendent be re-quested to comine his events to the history of the United States.

The doctor stated that in his visits to the
