Side of the Smith Tragedy.

MANHEIM, Oct. 9.-Lizzie White, aged 17 years, of this borough, imagined receiving ill treatment at home, and this and other trouble induced her to attempt to commit suicide by taking about half an ounce of launanum on Thursday morning. The discovery of the attempt was made by her friends in time to call in medical assistance and administer an antidote. Although in a critical condition she is improving gradually. William Schmidt, residing about 3 miles north of this borough, who was shot by his son Daniel on Tuesday last, is no longer in immediate danger. The bail of the 22 calibre revolver, which penetrated his neck, is lodged somewhere in the deep seated muscles of his neck, but has not been definitely located. The attending physician has not probed for the bail since the day on which the wound was inflicted, nor does he intend to unless necessity should require. The shooting is thought to have been a deliberate attempt at parricide. Much ill will existed between father and son for some time, and it critical condition she is improving gradually. etween father and son for some time, and it between father and son for some time, and it is reported on authority that two weeks ago the father shot after the son with a gun. The whereabouts of the son are as yet unknown. The father has withdrawn the complaint against the son; all search for him have ceased, and it is thought Daniel has left never to return.
