nge From the Bishops Regarding the Cee

of Unfermented Wine. The general convention of the Protestant piscopal church resumed its sessions at 1000. A message was received from the bishops declaring that in the judgat of the bishops the use of the unfered juice of the grape in the sacrament not warranted by the example of, and was an unauthorized departure from the practice of the Catholic church, and that the mixture of the Catholic church, and that the mixture of water with the use of wine was not objec-temptic, provided it not be done ritualisti-cally until authorized by a change of the rubrics. The message did not require any adopted to appoint a committee to present a plan of making notlikeation to the dioceses of ine changes adopted in the prayer book. A resolution was adopted providing for a point committee of three bishops, three cleri-cals and three laymen, to which should be recommitted the whole subject of marriage and diverse, to report thereon to the general convention on the second day thereof. The bouse then resumed its consideration of the proposed amendments to the Book of Com-mon Prayer.

AT THE OFERA BUUSE "Louis Arnot is "The Child Stealer." "Louis " to Be Given To-sight. The attendance at the opera house to see Louis Arnot and company last evening was not as large as those that the troupe has been hot as large as those that the troupe has been baving. There were two very good reasons for this however. The play presented was "The Child Stealer," which is not well known to Lancaster people, and the weather was of the most miserable kind. Those who did attend, however, were highly pleased with the play's production. Miss Arnot ap-with the play's production. Miss Arnot ap-peared as Jone Rutherford thechild stealer, and as usual her acting was of the best. She was given good support throughout. This evening the company appears in "Lesh, the Foraken," with Miss Arnot as Leah, the Jewish makien, a character in which she has few if any equals. A large number of seats have been sold to the per-formance, and there is no doubt of a large sudience.

He is sleeping only so far as part of his cerebrum is concerned. The rest of his brain is awake, and therefore its really not a strange feat to walk carefully and escape injury, doing all the inccessary acts of avoidance while carrying out some dream purpose, just as a waking purpose is fulfilled. The hypothesis obviously requires a very full explanation of such an accident as that by which a sleep-walker recently came by her death—namely, falling out of an open window. mon Prayer. The proposition to substitute, in the order The proposition a prayer for civil authority

The proposition to substitute, in the order for evening service, a prayer for civil authority in place of the existing prayer for the presi-dent of the United States, excited much debate. The prayer, as reported from com-mittees and as sent down by the house of bishops, made no mention of the chief execu-tive by his office, but instead contained the following: "So rule the hearts of all those whom Thou hast set in authority over us that they." etc. The house finally rejected the they," etc. The house finally rejected the form proposed by the house of bishops and adopted the prayer contained in the book of

This prayer, which, if agreed to by the This prayer, which, if agreed to by the property of the church and a part of its revised prayer book, reads as follows: "So rule the busited that the governor of this state, and all others in authority, that they," etc. It is noticed that the printing of the phrase, "the governor of this state, "it is the printing of the phrase, "the governor of this state," in I tallies conveys the notice that its use is permissive, since the may arise cases when the source of this boys would not be applicable. The measure from the house of bishops was rouring with the resolution of the deputies on the canon concerning marriage and diverse the maxies of the next convention and the matter be passed over to the next convention and the matter be passed over to the next convention and the boust.
