LAWCASTER, NOVEMBER 1, 1886. Vote For Henry Drachbar.

The desperation of the friends of Dr. S. . Davis in the present legislative contest this city is apparent. Both papers of party printed on Saturday night the ntical sketch with portrait of their didate, and a most fulsome biography eof. But the workingman will vainly d through it to discover any act in shalf of the cause of labor. That is the ial test by which candidates are being ured in this election, and by that test Dr. Davis must fall.

Henry Drachbar will be chosen to repre ent Lancaster in the lower House of the slature because he stands for the laborme man, who this year is determined to ert himself as a potent force in legislaion. All over the state it has been recognized that this year above all other years is the time for laboring men to make a anited stand for their rights. They will rote for no man who has not a favorable rd on the labor question. And that is thy Davis will be left and Drachbar

If Henry Drachbar is defeated, it will be a plain notice to all who are interested in the elevation of labor that they must go to the rear. It will put back the labor cause in this city more than can now be conceived. An opportunity will not be soon again given to a workingman to vote for a fellow-workingman, if Henry Drachar is defeated by the money of the opposi

But he will not be. The heart of Lanster's industrial population is stirred in his behalf, and coercion or money will not estrain the laboring man from voting for his friend. Let every Democrat give some of his time between this and to-morrow ht to get out the whole vote. If this is done, victory will be certain.

The Case Presented.

The election discussion is over and the issue is with the jury. Whatever the verdict may be, the advocates of the Democratic cause have reason to congratulate themselves upon the presentation of their stands uncovered.

We have abundant cause for congratulation in the state candidates presented for tion, who have come out of the contest wholly unscathed and undeniably worthy of the places for which they are nominated. No personal assault has been possible against them, and they stand as the strong and clean representatives of the party policy they represent.

The most salient feature of this policy has been shown to be the vivifying of those provisions of the constitution, which the Republican party has been disposed to let dormant, demanding fair and equal treatment of the people by the state's chartered creatures. The position taken in this matter by the state's Democratic governor has phasized the position of the party upon it as to make it known to every voter; and all who believe this to be the vital issue of the canvass will cast their ballots for the Democratic ticket.

The party strength has been further reinforced by the position of the Democratic ational administration, which has satised all men that the dangers presented to the country by Republican orators from Democratic government were falsely phesied and that the country is not only safe in Democratic control, but that it is far more likely to be governed with regard to the general welfare, regardless of onsiderations of temporary party exdiency than it even has been under Reblican control.

With national and state administrations recommending, by their works, the Democratic party to public confidence, we have a reasonable reliance that it will receive it, and that this confidence will be testified to in the election of its candidates.

One other result of the canvass in Pennsylvania has been to shape the issues and the candidates for the next presidential

scretary Manning has resumed active barge of the treasury department, but takes his signature with a stamp, the atorney general having given it as his opin-on that this is a lawful signature. We do since why it is not so, since it is just as the name with a pen would be. It is however, that a stamped name is readily counterfeited than a signed e, all that is needed being the procuraon of a like stamp, when it would be imsible to distinguish the genuine from false signature. It is also possible for servine stamp to be used by an un-prized person. So that it seems clear there is little protection in a stamped re. There is far too much oppority for its being fraudulently made. us, however, to be a necessity. It wacticable to have all the papers requiring the signature of the head of a great department signed by the chief. If it should be possible it still would be undesirable that he should expend a great deal of time in the manual occupation of writing his name, and it would be wholly unnecessary if he could safely use a stamped signature : and certainly he can do so with entire safety by having the attestation of a clerk to his signature. It would then be the stamped signature of the chief attested by the written signature of the clerk, which would protect it sufficiently.

Shake Them Off.

The Pittsburg, McKeesport & Youghio gheny railroad is being pushed rapidly forward towards the tract of 7,000 acres of coal land owned by Dr. Hostetter, which will be the western terminus of the South Pennsylvania railroad; so that its rapid development is certain.

Within the past year 25,000 acres of coal lands have been bought in the southwestern counties for the manufacture of coke, while for the freight of this fuel the greatest railroads are striving with much energy ; the B. & O., the P. R. R. and the Vanderbilt interest, all having separate plans for reaching it.

If the state constitution can be en forced to prevent the combination of these competing lines, all will be well, but if that region falls under the power of one vast monopoly, the whole state will suffer by the tax levied on the fuel of the manufacturers. It should not be forgotten that though this danger seems distant it is no less a danger, and that every unnatural increase of cost takes just as much from the wages of labor, as well as from the profit of the manufacturer.

Let every laboring man remember when he goes to vote that the Democratic party is pledged to the enforcement of the constitution, and that the present administration has proved the value of the pledge. Let every merchant remember that trade depends upon the prosperity of labor.

If monopoly once secures a firm grip it hangs on with bull dog tenacity, and the only party that is able and willing to meet the brute and thrust the constitution between its jaws, is the one now in power.

The bull dog made a savage onslaught a year ago and thought it had a grip on the people, but it finds the constitution between its teeth and the stick held firmly by Pattison.

It is necessary to relieve the holder, but the people will surely show that they approve his courage : and Governor Black will shake the dog's head off.

COMMISSIONER ATKINS' report on Indian affairs is in the highest degree encouraging, for it shows that the savages are beginning to appreciate the advantages of education and are also taking to agriculture. The land put under tiliage by them largely exceeds in acreage that of any previous year and there is a growing desire among them to own lands in severalty. By the present laws an Indian can not own an acre of land in America though his tribe may own many thousand acres; neither is the Indian of the western territories a citizen or an allen in the eyes of

In some localities he may claim legal protection, in others it has been most emphatically denied him. But the "numanitarian and peace system," the commissioner tells us, has proved far superior to all others in dealing with the Indians, and they have made a long step forward towards civilization which will enable them to enforce their demands for justice and entitle them to citizen

In connection with Indian education be offers the following unique suggestion: "1 think it would be wise for Congress to make an appropriation from which every Indian youth who shall graduate from school and marry an Indian maiden who has also gradnated may be assisted in settling upon a homestead of 160 acres, purchasing a team, breaking and fencing land and building s house. If the homestead is not on an Indian reservation the man should also have the privilege of citizenship, including the right of suffrage. Such a law would greatly encourage Indian youths and maidens in their resistance to the evil and savage influences of their untutored friends, and would success fully prevent them from a return to savage At present many graduates of these schools do return to savage life and are but little better for their education, and the suggestion is worthy of most careful considera-

THE time fixed by Keely, of motor fame, for the public exhibition of his invention has long since passed, but he bobs up serenely with a letter from two engineering experts who say, after careful investigation, they are obliged to confess that the power "liberated" by Mr. Keely is a fact and is not derived from any outside source. They accept his explana-tion of its "liberation" as the only one that will answer. The public calmly awaits the "liberation" of a few practical samples of this mysterious power, and meanwhile the value of Keely motor stock is too low for estimate.

WHY is it that lawyers, sometimes old but nearly always young, are selected to tell workingmen what their needs, their wants and their interests are?—From the New Era, Oct. 30.-And why is it that lawyers and doctors and politicians crowd our legislature, while mechanics and workingmen, whose interests demand attention, are crowded out?
A fit answer to this would be the election of Henry Drachbar, bricklayer.

Nor long ago the alumn of Cornell Uni ersity protested against the granting o honorary degrees and now the board of true tees of that institution have answered the protest by rescinding their action of last which tayored the granting of honorary degrees. This will be generally hailed as a long step in the right direction, for the abuse of this ancient custom has be come so great that all the good it ever had is buried out of sight. It is well that merit should be rewarded by some such token o the approval of men of learning, and if we had some institution in this country like the French academy it would be well, but the honorary degree has been so debased by gift to men who had done nothing to win it that it has been injured beyond repair, and the sconer it is swept aside the better.

It has long been customary for every institution in the land from the great unistandard to grant an angual batch of degrees, and this often without the least consideration of the merits of the men thus h nored. Often the honor was openly bought by the gift of an endowment or a building, almost always It was the college that honored, the man and not the man the college. After all, the respect of fellow-men should be honor enough for the man who is really worthy of the praise of an institution of learning, and this he may be sure of if his work is worthy of it whether he hold a diploma or not.

DR. JOSEPH JONES, of New Orleans, recommends most highly the drinking of large quantities of fresh milk in cases of arsenical poisoning. He has cured thirteen persons who were poisoned by making them drink fresh milk. Cats that have been poisoned by killing large numbers of rats may be cured by plenty of fresh mink, and the write knows of one old tom cut which was in desperate straits from the slaughter of twentyseven rats and saved by the use of milk. The curative virtues of milk are not so well utilized as they should be, and the discovery of Dr. Jones should lead to their careful in vestigation.

Wilson Norris to the Republicans state convention as the candidate for auditor general. In the course of his eulogy he said of Colonel Norris: "He has a heart that is ox-like in proportions and woman-like in tenderness." Since the campaign actively opened the quotation has been applied to nearly every candidate on the state licket, and now a quist discussion is going on as to who was the author of it. Some insist that it was original with Eshleman, while others attribute it to various prominent recopie, and on top of this comes the positive section that Eshleman's speech was the sandiwork of ex-Governor Bunn, who put together that phrase and insisted upon Eshleman's delivering, it. The statement is also made that objection was made to the phrase made that objection was made to the phrase by the Lancaster county lawyer, who only consented to use it to please Gov. Bunn.

The President's Thanksgiving Proclamatio President Cleveland has issued his procla-mation designating Thursday, November 20, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer. It has long been the costom of the people of the United States, on a day in each year especially set apart for that purpose by their chief executive, to acknowledge the goodness and mercy of God and to invoke His con tinued care and protection.

In observance of such custom 1, Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, do the version of the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, the 25th day of November instant, to be observed and kept as a day of Thanksgiving and prayer. On that day let all our people forego their accustomed employments and assemble in their usual place of worship to give thanks to the Ruler of the universe for our continued enjoyment of the blessings of a free government, for a renewal of business prosperity throughout our land, for the reprosperity throughout our band, for the re-prosperity throughout our land, for the re-turn which has rewarded the labor of those who till the soil, and for our progress as a people in all that makes a nation great.

And while we contemplate the infinite power of frod in earthquake, flood and storm, let the grateful hearts of those who have been shielded from harm through tils mercy be turned in sympathy and kundness toward those who have suffered the aigh tils visita-tions. Let us also in the metay of our thankstions. Let us also in the mists of our thanks-giving remember the poor and needy with cheerful gitts and aims, so that our service may, by deeds of charity, be made acceptable in the sight of the Lord.

CHINA.

The Second Invoice of our Haviland China importations for this fall hamst arrived. The first consisted of Dinner Sets in the Regina Pattern, Daisy Decoration in Blue, Violet and Pink. The finest and neatest for the money in the market. Haviland China is so well known that we need not say anything about the quality. Its superiority over semi-porcelain is not to be questioned. The price of these dinner sets s such that it is within the reach of every one to own one of them. When our next arrives we will be able to come still nearer within the reach of all in price. Don't fail to see these goods before making your pur-
