- Hannah Mare Kohaus. Girls Should Learn How to Use Money.

From the Contemporary Review Every girl who is not entirely dependent on her male relations—a position which, con-sidering all the ups and downs of life, the sconer she gets out of the better-ought by the time she is old enough to possess any money to know exactly how much she has, where it is invested and what it ought yearly to bring in. By this time also she should have acquired some knowledge of should have acquired some knowledge of business—bank business, referring to checks, dividends and so on—and as much of ordinary business as she can. To her information of a practical kind never comes amiss, especially the three golden rules, which have very rare exceptions. No investment of over 5 per cent is really safe; trust no one with your money without security, which ought to be as strict between the nearest and dearest friends as between strangers, and, lastly, keep all your affairs from day to day in as accurate order as if you had to die to-morrow. The mention of dying suggests another necessity—as soon as you are 21 years of age make your will. You will not die a day the sooner; you can alter it whenever you like, while the case of mind it will be to you and the trouble it may save to those that come after you are beyond telling. It cannot be too strongly impressed upon every girl who has or expects that not undesirable thing, "a little income of her own," what a fortunate responsibility this is, and how useful she may make it to others. Happier than the lot of many married women is that of the unapprepriated blessing," as I have heard an old maid called, who has her money, less or more, in her own hands and can choose it as she chooses, generously as wisely, without business - bank business, referring to checks, or more, in her own hands and can choose ! as she chooses, generously as wisely, without asking anybody's leave or being accountable for it to any one. But then she must have learned from her youth upward how to use t; she must not spare any amount of trouble in the using of it and she must console berself for many a lonely regret—we are but human, all of us—with the thought that at a has been trusted to be a steward of the Great Master, Such an old maid often does as much good in her generation as twenty mar-

A Nice, Quiet Trip. From the Chicago Herald.

The queerest wedding trip 1 ever heard of," said the station master at the West Side depot, "took place one day last week. The couple were from a little corn and hog station down on the Burlington, and they carre up on one of the morning trains. They went into the waiting room up stairs and remained there the whole day. At noon they brought out a bit of lunch and ate it together. Only once or twice did the groom venture beyond the station wails, and the cries of the hackmen quickly frightened him back. The bride had great curiosity to go over closer to the river, so she could see the shipping, but the groom was afraid to leave the station for fear of getting lost. Notwithstanding the seeming monotomy of the day they were as happy as clams all day long sitting a-hold of each other's hands. When evening came they took the night train for home where they were doubtless received as a hero and up on one of the morning trains. They went they were doubtiess received as a hero and heroine after their adventures taking in the wonders of Chicago,"

There is Nothing Surprising

There is Nothing Surprising
In the fact that Benson's Capetne Plasters are widely imitated: that chesp and worthless plasters, with names of similar sound and similar appearance in type, are treely offered for sale. Articles of great and original merit always have to compete with trashy imitations. But as they become known they die out through deserved neglect. Meanwhile we warn the public against the so-cailed "Capsicum," Capsicin,
"Capucin", "Burton's," "Capsicum, "Capsicin,
"Benton's," "Burton's," or otherwise. They have no medicinal or curative virtues whatever, and are made to sell on the reputation of Benson's. When purchasing ask for Benson's, deal with respectable druggists only, and you cannot be deceived. The genuine has the "Three

"Capcine" cut in the centre.

From 115 lbs. to 161 lbs. To the Cuticura Remedies I Owe My Health, My Happiness, and my Life.

A day never passes that I do not think and speak kindly of the Cuticura Remedias. Seven years ago, all of a dozen lumps formed on my neak, ranging in size from a cherry stone to an orange. The large ones were frightful to look at, and painful to bear; people turned aside when they saw me, in disguist, and I was sahamed to be on the atreet, or in woclety. Physicians and their treatment, and all medicines failed to do any good. In a moment of despair I tried the Cuticura Emments—Cuticura, the great Skin Cure, and Cuticura Soap, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and Cuticura Remotiver, the new Blood Purifier, internally; the small lumps (sa I call them) gradually diappeared, and the large ones broke, in about two weeks, dischaging large quantities of matter, leaving two slight sears in my neck to day to tell the story of my suffering. My weight than was one hundred and fifteen sickly pounds; my weight how is one hundred and sity-one solid, healthy pounds, and my height is only five feet five inches. The distressing sneeze, sneeze, the actid, watery diagharge from the eyes and nose, the painful inflammation extending to the throat, the swelling of the mucous liming, causing choking sensations, course, fringing noises in the head and splitting bendaches—how familiar these symptoms are to thousands who suffer periodically from head colds or influenza, and who live in ignorance of the fact that a single application of SANFORD's RADICAL, CURE FOR CATARRH will afford instantaneous relief. But this treatment in cases of simple Catarrh gives but a faint idea of what the remedy will do in the chronic forms, where the breathing is obstructed by choking, putrid mucous accumulations, the hearing affected, smell and taste gone, throat ulcerated and hacking cough gradually fastening itself upon the debilitated system. Then it is that the marvelous curative power of SANFORD's RADICAL CURE manifests itself in instantaneous and grateful relief. Cure begins from the first application.
