Their Itching Palms.

ster Harrity of Philadelphia. ms to be an object of great solicitude me Republican journals and the New Fork Times has come in to reinforce the umber. The Times hopes that Mr. Harthy will resign. It is a hope shared The Times has set up in business since the rth of the Mugwumps as the organ of hat select party. It is, it thinks, the styll service reform organ, that being the dation idea of the Mugwump. The mes has heard that the Civil Service Reform association of Philadelphia, has asked that Mr. Harrity be investigated; and the nes leaps to the conclusion that he is refore condemned and calls upon him ign. This precepitancy of judgment is a very common weakness and the Times it along with the Judge Lynch owds that almost daily turn up some-

It may not be amiss to mildly call the of our Republican friends who for Postmaster Harrity's scalp, that uld be admonished by the signal ire of their last effort to get it, which is not yet cold, that it is not to be assumed that the scalp will be at their feet as soon as their scalping knife is raised. Postuster Harrity having been investigated bready once during this quarter of the tal year, it is a fair inference that the d investigation which the civil service mers have invited and which the civil service commission is about to institute, will have the same result of triumphant vindication which attended the first.

The gravamen of the charge this time is that the postmaster put out Republicans and put in Democrats. Though his predecessors had nothing else but Republicans in his office, and put in Republicans whenever he had a vacancy, the Civil Service Beform association of Philadelphia was never disturbed about it. That remarkably candid and fair journal, the Press of that town, says that Mr. Harrity's predecessor made no removals of Democrats to substitute Republicans, but fails to remind us that he had no Democrats to remove.

The civil service commission has agreed to investigate Mr. Harrity's political apents with a view to doing him jusice and showing how much less partisan his administration of the postoffice has been than that of his predecessor; whereupon for the second time will the boomerang thrown by the uneasy Republicans have returned to bruise them.

What May Happen.

Some one at this early day is calling at tention to what may happen if there is no choice of president by the people next me. The election will go into the House where the vote of a majority of the states is required to elect. But it is said that ther party may have a majority of the states in the next House. The Democrats would have eighteen states, with Minnesota, Connecticut and Colorado ; New Hampshire will be evenly divided and Rhode Island may be, as there was no choice in one district at the late election, and at the next attempt a plurality will elect : when a Democrat is likely to be chosen as the Democratic candidate had a plurality of the votes at the election of a few days ago. The Republicans will have eighteen without Rhode Island. Twenty states being a majority there is a fair likelihood of no election by the House. In which event the Senate will choose a vice ident who will act as president. The sate, it is supposed, will have thirtyeight Republicans, thirty-seven Democrate and Mr. Riddleberger. And as the latter is an excentric statesman his action is not to be surely foretold. nator Van Wyck is another Republican statesman who is supposed not to be a safe party man. So that it is conceivable that there may be a deadlock in the Senate.

Bayard and Phelps. A fair sample of the unscrupulousness of some newspapers in fabricating tales upon a slim basis of facts, whether to injure those against whom they have a grudge or simply to make a spicy item, is furnished by the statement of the New York World that the secretary of state has been admonishing the minister of England because of the length of cable d spatches sent by him to the state department, containing dulatory notices of his doings and sayings in England. The proof which the World ives of this are dispatches from the secrebury to the minister requesting him, in ng the cable, to condense the formal parts of papers, and in receiving cablegrams to re-compose their condensed entiments into the formal phrases of diplomatic correspondence; the evident ent of the secretary being to save the overnment the cost of sending and ing by the cable formal phrases. It b just such an instruction as any business man would have given his agent, and gives no color at all to the charge that tary Bayard was rebuking Minister bells for cabling him adulatory notices

This attack upon the secretary and the lister thus unjust flably started in this arter, has an odor about it of Mr. Thorndyke Rice, who was so severely eated by Minister Phelps that he will forest his bruises. This the same Mr. Rice who has since been accused by a professional New York striker whom he employed to elect him to Congress. Mr. Rice paid him liberally upon his contract, only to find him upon election day distributing his opponent's tickets at the polls. Mr. Rice is evidently having a hard run of luck in his public aspirations, and feels badly. We do not know that he and the World are in partnership in the present mosquito attack on the secretary and minister, but the surmise is natural in view of the malice and feebleness of the attack.

The Lesson of an Explosion.

The terrible explosion in a Philadelphia cigar box factory by which one woman was killed and nearly a score of persons injured appears to have been due to the small care taken to guard the shaving vault. This was a large vault near the engine room where the shavings were stored and should have been as carefully protected as a room full of dynamite, for by this time every one should be familiar with the fact that air heavily charged with inflammable dust forms an explosive of great power.

The owner of the factory claimed to have exercised the greatest care to have the building made secure, and yet, no doubt through ignorance, they permitted all the elements of an artificial earthquake to be assembled within their building. with only one door to keep it from breaking loose.

This door left ajar, a spark floating on the strong draught, are the only conditions necessary to account for a disaster, startling and terrible enough, but not as bad as t might have been.

INSTEAD of " Virtue, Liberty and Inde pendence" the coat of arms of Pennsylvania may sometime contain ' Cameron, Quay and Magee."

MATTHEW STANLEY QUAY needs to be drawn out into candidacy for the Senate by the severe exertion of his friends. Being a modest man be will only consent to be a candidate to save his party, notwithstanding the fact that every one has supposed that knew that Mr. Quay determined be senator when he resolved to he a candidate for his present comparatively insignificant place; it turns out that everyone was inistaken, that Mr. Quay only wanted the post of state treasurer and deems bimself worthy of nothing more. But if nobody else will be senator he may sacrifice himself, or if he can be his party's unanimous choice he will serve. And as the other candidates find that somehow the Republican representatives and senator are unanimous for Quay they are trying to be unanimous. Cooper says he will come down as soon as Captain Quay points his gun up the senatorial tree.

THE coal barons have good cause for un sasiness over the attitude Governor Pattison and Attorney General Cassidy have assumed against them. It has been announced that the suits against the corporations forming the coal combination will be brought up on Nov. 20. Governor Pattison's term of office expires in January, but Attorney General Cassidy states that the prerogative of the commonwealth to place its suit at the head of the list will be enforced, and extraordinary measures will be taken with the courts to rush the matter through. The defendant corporations are the Pennsylvania railroad, the Reading, the Lehigh Valley, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, Delaware and Hudson, New Jersey Central, Erie, Lehigh Coal and Navigation, Lebigh and Wilkesbarre Coal com pany and Northern Central, whose capital aggregates millions upon millions of dollars. sesides these giants are the smaller try in the shape of coal producing companies and raitroad feeders.

To MORROW'S issue of the INTELLIGENCER will be notable in having three local biographical illustrations, all of people who have attained prominence in this community. In all other respects the high standard of excellence at which this journal has aimed will be fully maintained, "Uncas" writes of the worse than foolishness of little boys indulging in political parades by night, and compares elections of the olden time with those of to-day. A breezy account of a hunting trip to Eaglesmere before it became summer resort is begun, to be concluded next week. The new district attorney talks on the subject of an assistant in his office. The mathematical discussion over the Newton theory of orbits reaches its last stage, it being agreed that the future warfare shall be conducted through private correspondence, and if a result is reached, the INTELLIGENCER will duly announce it. Besides all these there will be many other special features of absorbing interest to everybody. Send your orders in

If Colonel Challee Long is to be believed, Explorer Henry M. Stanley is responsible for the recent horrible slaughter of missionaries in Central Africa. Colonel Long visited Uganda ten months before the arrival of Stanley and found the country ruled by a savage despot who sacrificed thirty human lives in honor of his arrival. Human sacrifices were an every day occurrence and the people were brutai and savage in the extreme. Then when Stanley reported that he had converted this savage monarch to Christianity, Coionel Long was astonished. His secretary, who had been sent back to Iganda, and met Stanley there, reported that he savage customs were unaltered, and that after Stanley's departure, the "converted" monarch had shot one of his wives to prove his accuracy of aim. Mr. Stanley then published an appeal to the religious societies of the world to send out missionaries to Ugands, and trusting in what he said, many valuable men have lost their lives in Africs, either by the deadly fever or at the hands of the savages.

Colonel Long published a book of travels by way of warning to these missed enthusi-asis, the substance of which he sums up as follows: "In brief, I stated that Central Africa is no paradise, but a plague spot, and that the negro, the product of this postilential region, is a miserable wretch, often de void of all tradition or belief in a delty which enthusiastic travellers have heretofore endeavored to endow him with."

GOVERNOR PATTISON'S speech welcoming the Grangers was short and pithy. It contained material for a great deal of sober thought, for attention was urgently called to the power in the hands of the farmers of this country. He plainly told them that if things did not go right they were responsible "You control the capitalists, you control the people." This is a sweeping assertion, but when it is remembered how vast is the agricultural wealth of this country, and how the prosperity of every branch of business may be traced to causes that have connection, near or remote, with agricult ure; when we think of the net work of railroads, laid for the purpose or developing or giving outlet to agricultural wealth, of the forests and mines that have been levelled and dug, that these roads might be built, we can no but realize that all industry in lumber, coal and iron; in cotton and cloth, or the commerce that reaches over seg-all depend at last upon the success of the labor that wins rom mother earth the staple products essen-

SENATOR JONES, of Florida, who is still in Detroit, is reported to have reformed completely. He has not drank anything in the last six months. Several weeks ago he and counced that he intended to leave Detroit and go back to Fiorida. This indication of a de-sire to return to his seat in the Senate was hailed with pleasure by his friends. But for some mysterious reason he still stays in Detroit. He has a certain inclanatory beat around the Russell house, which he walks every day tirelessly, and, of course, without object. I call special attention to a few of my own designs, one of which is the EDG ERLEY CLOSED PHYSICIAN COUPE, which is decidedly the nestest, lightest and most complete Physician's Carriage in the country.

Persons wishing to buy a good, honest and substantial article, should bear in mind that they take no risk in buying my work. Every Carriage turned out in eighteen years a good one—that is the kind of guarantee I have to offer the public. All work fully warranted. Please give me a call. give me a call,
