A BAGGAGE CAR ON FIRE.

The Damage That a Red Hot Store Caused A Theatre Party's Loss. This morning a fire which might have proved much more serious occurred on a passenger train of the Pennsylvania railroad. Fast Line is due here at 6:05 a.m., but this morning the first section was one hour late and the second four hours. On the first section was a special car containing the scenery, baggage properties, &c., of Heien Dauvray's Comedy company, which was on their way from Cincinnati to New York. Soon after leaving Landisville the man in charge of the par discovered that the baggage was on fire, having caught from the stove which was red

The car rapidly filled with smoke and the man in charge was compelled to break open the car windows in order to get fresh air. He anaged to give the alarm in some way an the train was stopped at the water tank just west of Dilierville, where a stream was put on the burning baggage. It was extinguished, ancaster. Here the car was run upon the Lancaster. Here the car was run upon the siding under the Duke street bridge, and an examination was made. It was found that three trunks, a valise and a box, with their contents, were almost entirely consumed. Two pillows and some taking were destroyed and a lot of scenery badly burned. The goods were taken from the car here and after it had been seen that there was no more fire the car was attached to there was no more fire, the car was attached to Harrisburg express which left for the east at 8:10. The loss to the theatrical company was considerable, but had the fire broken out at s point far away from a water station the car would undoubtedly have been destroyed.

He ran down into North Queen street and was caught in front of the City hotel. Pretzels were spilled out along the street and bootblacks and others were made happy by the great fall in the stock.

Almost Under a Train. This morning a man attempted to get on a passenger train for Columbia just as it was pulling out of the Pennsylvania station. He ran along the railroad track on the platform, at the west end of the station, which was covered with snow. He slipped and fell but wery luckily slipped away from the train. He was not injured but almost frightened out of his wita.
