COLUMBIA, Dec. 29.—The condition of the sequebanna river at Columbia still remains inged, and presents a very discouraging rance to the ice merchants. The ice running over the dam during yesterday nd last night, but this morning only a small channel is open where the ice is being car-ried off. The ice has lodged above the bridge from the iron span to Wrightsville, making a clear sheet of water below the bridge ost to the dam. It still continues to move on this side, but only a small portion is being carried off. The dam is covered with it from shore to shore. The river is still high, but the water is slowly subsiding.

GAY TIMES FOR THE CHILDREN. St. James Sunday School Festival-Those at

The Presbyterian and Gotwald Church. The Sunday schools connected with St James church had a joyous festival Tuesday evening. The children of the Locust street chapel school met at the chapel and marched to St. James church in a body. The children of the St James school met at the parish school house and marched to the church. When all were seated, the choir, under the leadership of Prof. Marz, entered and sar g the processional bymn "Come all ye Fattaful." This was followed by the singing of Christmas carols by the schools.

The pastoral address was quitted, the rector thinking that the little toks would rather the the recorder that the little toks would rather tor thinking that the little lotter would rather witness the stereopticon exhibition in store for them. From the church the schools moved to Grant hall, the choir singing "On, brightest and best," as they left the church. On reaching Grant hall there was more music, and Dr. Knight, the rector, read a portion of scripture. The schools were next entertained with an exhibition of very fine stereopticon views—the instrument and views belonging to Prof. J. P. McCaskey, and being handled and explained by Mr. Richard McCaskey. The exhibition was greatly appreciated by the children, not many of whom had before seen anything of the kind. At the close of the exhibition Santa Claus, arranged in his full winter costume, and laden ranged in his full winter costume, and laden with hundreds of gifts entered the room and created intense excitement among the little folks, to every one of whom he presented cakes, candles, books, toys and other Christ-mas novelties. When all his packs had been emptled the jolly old saint (W. B. Middle-ton) disappeared and the schools were dis-missed, after an hour of great enjoyment.

Presbyterian Sunday School Vestival Not less than four hundred children and adults assembled in the lecture room of the Presbyterian church Tuesday evening, the occasion being the annual Christmas feetival of the Sunday school connected with the church. The services began with the singing of Hood's new carois. They were finely rendered. Rev. Dr. Mitchell, pastor, read the second chapter of Luke after which there Was more singing.

Dr. Mitchell next delivered an instructive address to the children.

This was followed by vocal music by the infant department of the school, which was much enjoyed by all present.

Then came the presentation of banners, first to the class that had been most punctual in attendance during the year, second to the one most perfect in its recitations.

After forther singing by the school about thirty of the scholars were each presented with a book as a reward for their attendance at every session of the school during the most year. past year.

Dr. Mitchell presented ten or a dezen fine

Dr. Middlell presented ten or a dezen line photographs to as many scholars who had brought into the school new scholars who had not previously been attending any other Sunday school.

Then came a general distribution of gifts—every one present, whether child or adult, re-ceiving buil a pound of candles and an crange.

The sestival was closed with the singing of the long metre doxology and a bededlet Gotwald Memorial sunday School The Gotwald Memorial Sunday school on James street held its Christmas entertain. ment on Tuesday evening. The first part of the programme was made up of the cantata 'The Birth of Christ," interspersed with musical selections. D. S. Kuriz, of the Gettysburg theological seminary, delivered an address appropriate to the occasion, after which the secretary read the annual report Which showed the school to be in a flourist ing condition. Part second of the programme was made of a piece entitled "Santa Claus' Frotio," during which Santa Claus made his appearance in the room from anoid-fashioned chimney and distributed gifts to the children. The entertainment was one of the most suc-cessful ever held by the school. Presented a Violia 100 Years Old.

From the Oxford Frees
Walker B. Walca received a nine Christmus present from his friend, Dr. W. L. Fisher, of Lancaster. The gift is a handsome violin, which is said to be over 100 years old. The instrument is finely fulshed and has a skill-fully carved head. It possesses a clear and charming tone and under Mr. Wales' direc-tion melodious sounds float from it. This valuable lostrument was given Mr. Fisher by an aged Catholic priest.

TO PREVENT ADELTERATION

The Drastic Methods That are Proposed by a System of National Laws. From the N. Y. Pharmaceutical Record, Dec. 15. The adulteration of food and medicine is crime against law, and at times, in its base criminality, approaches murder. That it is extensively practiced, the public are but too well aware of, through their having suffered in pocket and health. That it ought to be exterminated none will deny, except the guilty parties. Efforts are being made, however, to suppress it, and to that end it is proposed to call a meeting of all who favor the enactment of a national law to meet in Washington, D. C., Jan. 19, 1887, to draft a system of national laws to suppress adulteration. The follow-house Resident Physician. Until a few years ago the practice of the frectors of the poor was to elect a superin tendent of the hospital and insane asylum and four physicians, each of whom was on duty three months of the year. That plan was very unsatisfactory and the board, after public opinion demanded it, changed the system and elected a resident physician. Dr. McCreary has held that position since the office was created and has creditably filled it. The new departure has worked satisfactory and it was presumed that it would be continued until a short time ago, when Dr. McCreary aunounced that be would not be a candidate for re-election, having decided to remove from the county to engage in the practice of his profession. After that aunouncement a few of the memers of the board are endeavoring to go back to the old system of electing a superinten-dent, and if a unjority of the board can be induced to make the change Charles M. Strine, son of Poor Director Jacob S. Strine, is the slated candidate for the position. There are a number of candidates for the position of Dr. McCreary if a resident physician should be continued, the most prominent of whom ere Dr. Newpher, son of A. O. Newpher, and
