COLUMBIA, Dec. 30.—An altempt had been made by the cierks employed in the busi-ness houses here to start an early closing movement, but they are compelled to give up the attempt. The agreement presented by the cierks to the merchants for their sig-natures called for the closing of the places of natures called for the closing of the places of business every evening except Saturday, at sight o'clock and every month in the year but December. The committee of clerks met with considerable success when they started out, but soon met with discouragement in the shape of a merchant refusing to sign the agreement. Another attempt was made, and the movement can now be said to be a failure on account of four merchants refusing to be parties to the movement. One merchant desires a forfeit of $100 in case of non-compliance. Another merchant wants the stores to close at 6 p. m., and gives this as his reason for not signing the agreement. Two other business men positively refuse to enter into the movement. The refusal of these four merchants makes the attempt of the clerks a failure. to makes the attempt of the clerks

SENSENIG AND STRINE.

A Pretty Scheme For the Future Control of the

The Sensenig-Strine faction are moving upon the almshouse citadel like an army with banners. The INTELLIGENCER briefly referred on Wednesday to the scheme for going back to the old sys-tem of having an almshouse superintendent and physician besides, instead of an officer like Dr. McCreary who combines resident physician and almshouse superinten-dent in himself. This latter plan has worked admirably, but the bosses have laid their wires for a restoration of the old system. Ex-Sheriff Strine wants a snug birth for his ex-Sheriff Strine wants a snug birth for his son Charles, and some young physician with political proclivities will be given the post of resident physician. Dr. McCreary now gets 1800 for his two offices. Of course, this would not suffice for the two new officers proposed, and consequently, the county treasury would be milked for the additional sum.

The scheme, so far as can be learned, is to oust Daniel Herr, of Peques, from the presidency of the board and out Jacob S. Strine.

dency of the board and put Jacob S. Strine in his place. The latter would then have the large power of organizing the committees of the board. Andrew F. Frantz, Levi Sensenig's partner, is to remain treasurer, and Danlei Sensenig, a son of Levi, is stated for secre-tary at $250 per annum. When young Strine gets in, it might be well to call the alms-house the Sensenig-Strine caravansary.

Does This End Bay Brown's Chances : From the Harrisburg Patriot. Since General Beaver arrived here Wednesday afternoon his cabinet has been prac-tically determined on. Senator Cooper will be the secretary of the common wealth, as has be the secretary of the commonwealth, as has been heretofore stated. It is now agreed that Judge Mercur, of the state supreme court, will be appointed attorney general. The judge will resign his seat on the bench and the vacancy will be filled by Baaver by appointment. He has selected Common Pleas Judge Williams, of Tioga county, for this distinction. Judge Mercur's term is drawing to a close, and he is too old to hope for re-election to the bench, the time of which is twenty-one years. But Williams believes he could secure the nomination for the full term and Beaver is disposed to indulge him in his ambition.
