FOR THE NEW YEAR.

With right hand uplifted I swear it, Hesperoth a good Christian to be, Henceforth the blue ribbon, I'll wear it on a bosom from booziness free;

Henceforth, I'll be behind me, George Washington, that to my vow, Neither swearing nor lying you'll find me, I'm a Christian, from Christmas till now.

Don't laugh at me, you're not, 'chus nut', Remember the last year, I should smile; Break these new resolutions? I guess not! 'I'll keep them—at least for a while.

—From the Pittsburg Leader.

Mrs. Cleveland's Pet Monkey. Baltimore American Correspondent.

Mrs. Cleveland's pet monkey, Hector, finds "his nose out of joint" by the arrival of a new pet in the shape of a marmoset.

The little monkey, in the present case, a Washington lady, and has already become quite a favorite at the White House.

To-day while the president was confined to his room by his rheumatic knee and the cold, the monkey was brought in to amuse him, and his cunning little ways.

The marmoset is a small animal, and is often known as a striped monkey. It is a beautiful little creature, and like its species is known for its very affectionate disposition.

It is very delicate, and can only live in a warm climate, and the warm climate of the president's chamber was particularly grateful. It is seven or eight inches long, and has a tail over four feet in length.

It has long fur of reddish yellow color and great tufts of white hair on each side of its black head. Hector does not resist at all the arrival of this new pet, and the marmoset has been in the house.

Hector has been shut up in a lonely room more than once. On New Year's day during the reception the people happened to break his prison bars and come down stairs.

He was enjoying himself hugely with one of the army officers and his lady escort when five men, the president's valet, caught him, Hector also caught sight of Sinclair and tried to hide, but the valet had him by the neck and yanked him upstairs and back to his prison, much to Hector's disgust.

General Uncle Jake Zeigler. From the Altoona Times.

That genial old soul and veteran journalist, Uncle Jake Zeigler, of the Butler Herald, has not indulged in the "flowing bowl" for twenty-five years; yet, for all that he has had a great deal more fun in the interim than he knew what to do with, and consequently everybody about him got a share.

A quarter of a century is certainly a long time between drinks, but Uncle Jake is a newspaper man who can beat the veteran editor out of his boots and give him thirty points in the game.

Each point representing a year. Still, that is neither here nor there, as we are not talking about the other fellow, but about Uncle Jake, who is said to have derived his weakness from an incident at a family dinner, when his bereaved mother asked him if he was ever a father.

He replied: "Never, ma'am; but I expect to be an uncle, before the next winter. He is so popular at home that during the preparation of the Union, and also during the late war, he was said to have his displeasure upon the Democrats and bring confusion upon them, expressed his wishes thus: 'All of them, Lord, except Uncle Jake Zeigler, for everybody knows he is all right.'"

Partially successful. A woman who had been over half the country on the heels of her runaway husband was asked if her search had been successful.

"I didn't find John," she replied, "but the trip did me lots of good. I'm very fond of traveling."

Occupies the Spare Room. From the New Haven News.

A servant girl in Cincinnati has fallen heir to $20,000, and the family where she has been employed have excited her to occupy the spare room and help to receive company.

What He Meant. See at the "Hamlet" revival. What does Shakespeare mean by giving Polonius an Omelette?

He means the feathers on the ladies' hats.

Sick and bilious headache, and all derangements of stomach and bowels cured by Dr. Pierce's "Purifier of the Blood," which is a vital. No cheap bones to allow waste of vitality. By druggists. B. F. Edwards.

The Only Way to Conquer Dyspepsia. It is perfectly impossible to introduce papaya and other artificial solvents into the stomach, to the expectation that they will assist digestion by acting on the food itself. They will not. Nor is it possible thus to overcome dyspepsia. The only way to conquer that disorder, and prevent the numerous diseases and disabilities which it necessarily provokes, is to renew the activity of gastric action by strengthening the stomach. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters eradicates the most intractable forms of indigestion by restoring vitality to the alimentary organs, and those which are tributary to them. The liver, the bowels, the stomach, which possess no less than the stomach, experience the invigorating effects of this standard tonic, which possesses alternative properties that greatly enhance its beneficial influence, and give a permanent relief to the effects which they would otherwise possess. Janitor.

SPECIAL NOTICE. Do Not Move Blindly. Use carefully in the treatment of rheumatism. Many advertised remedies can work great injury—a worse than none. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is purely a vegetable preparation. It will cure a child can take them. They kill disease and cure the patient in a safe and kind way. For sale by H. B. Cochran, druggist, 127 and 129 North Queen street, Lancaster.

How Much Will Do It? How much of Thomas' Electric Oil is required to cure? Only a very little. A few drops will cure any kind of an ache, and a little more is needed for sprains and lameness. Rheumatism is not so readily cured. No no medicine, sometimes two ounces are required. For sale by H. B. Cochran, druggist, 127 and 129 North Queen street, Lancaster.

"Don't Hurry, Gentlemen." Sold a man on way to be hanged, "there'd be no fun till I get there." A Newspaper Editor. O. M. Holcomb, of Brown's Hill, Ohio, tries to explain: "Had that terrible disease catarrh, for twenty years, could not taste or smell, and hearing was falling. Thomas' Electric Oil cured me. These are facts voluntarily given against a former prejudice of patient skepticism. For sale by H. B. Cochran, druggist, 127 and 129 North Queen street, Lancaster.

The best medical writers claim that the successful remedy for nasal catarrh is not non-irritating, easy of application, and one that will, by its own action, treat all the various sources and ulcerated surfaces. The history of the efforts to treat catarrh during the past few years ought us to admit that only one remedy has completely met these conditions, and that is ELY'S Cream Balm. For sale by H. B.
