

ST. JACKSON'S DAY.

THE BATTLE OF NEW ORLEANS FOURTY SEVENTY-TWO YEARS AGO.

Snatches of the Old Songs That Were Sung in the Early Celebrations of the Day. Recalling One of the Greatest of American Battles.

Today is the 8th of January—the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans. Time was when we had gay days here and grand street parades, cannon thunder from the neighboring hills; flags floated from public and private buildings; banquets were held at which toasts were drunk and orations delivered in honor of Old Hickory, the hero of New Orleans.

The files of the INTELLIGENCER show that almost annually, from 1816 to 1818, when Jackson died, the Democracy of Lancaster celebrated the 8th of January with as much enthusiasm as they bestowed upon the 14th of July. Many were the songs and ballads sung on these festive occasions, now out of print and almost forgotten. One of them commenced thus:

Bold Pakenham came with soldiers and McKean and thousands of warriors, the horses of Spain, New Orleans to conquer they thought would play "Conquer," said their chief, "and I'll lead you."

"Behold yonder city and splendid on the plain. They stand, you have boys, but a reason from our line. Storm these works and you city shall be your reward."

Disgrace to thy country, thy mother, accorded to Indiana live soldiers with avante and lust. But honor and courage extinct in each breast,—The watchword was related by those who had seen it.

Then followed a dozen more stanzas of doggerel wherein the bard told the story of the battle and how Pakenham was killed, his army routed, and how the British were driven away from the ruins, and a great deal more of the same sort, ending with the following verse:

When I met Jackson to the ocean shall flow, The laurels of Jackson shall flourish and grow. Future ages with transport shall publish his name, And mingle his praises with Washington's.

Another favorite song on those festive occasions was entitled the "Hunters of Kentucky." Here is a part of it:

Ye gentlemen and ladies fair, When I was in the field of war, I'll tell you the story of the day, And for the opportunity, I'll give you a little more of the same.

For Pakenham had made his bridge, And he had gained the Union flag, In spite of the British attack, And he had won the day, and he had won the day.

But all these things have ended; the battle of New Orleans was fought seventy-two years ago. The great and glorious victory, and who by it was subsequently the president of the United States and became the foremost man in the Democratic party.

From McCarty's "History of the American War," printed in 1816, we condense the following account of the battle of New Orleans.

Gen. Jackson, who was in command of the United States forces in the southwest, having learned that the British had evacuated New Orleans, and an army of 18,000 British soldiers, declared martial law in the city and called out the militia en masse.

The country between New Orleans and the sea is an extensive swamp, excepting the immediate banks of the Mississippi. These banks are generally about ten feet high, and are wide, and being higher than the country behind, are dry, excepting in times of inundation, when the whole country is under water.

The country between New Orleans and the sea is an extensive swamp, excepting the immediate banks of the Mississippi. These banks are generally about ten feet high, and are wide, and being higher than the country behind, are dry, excepting in times of inundation, when the whole country is under water.

On the night of January 7th, the British with infinite labor succeeded in getting their boats into the Mississippi, by widening and deepening the channel of the bayou, from which about two weeks before they had effected their disembarkation.

On the night of January 7th, the British with infinite labor succeeded in getting their boats into the Mississippi, by widening and deepening the channel of the bayou, from which about two weeks before they had effected their disembarkation.

On the night of January 7th, the British with infinite labor succeeded in getting their boats into the Mississippi, by widening and deepening the channel of the bayou, from which about two weeks before they had effected their disembarkation.

On the night of January 7th, the British with infinite labor succeeded in getting their boats into the Mississippi, by widening and deepening the channel of the bayou, from which about two weeks before they had effected their disembarkation.

On the night of January 7th, the British with infinite labor succeeded in getting their boats into the Mississippi, by widening and deepening the channel of the bayou, from which about two weeks before they had effected their disembarkation.

On the night of January 7th, the British with infinite labor succeeded in getting their boats into the Mississippi, by widening and deepening the channel of the bayou, from which about two weeks before they had effected their disembarkation.

On the night of January 7th, the British with infinite labor succeeded in getting their boats into the Mississippi, by widening and deepening the channel of the bayou, from which about two weeks before they had effected their disembarkation.

On the night of January 7th, the British with infinite labor succeeded in getting their boats into the Mississippi, by widening and deepening the channel of the bayou, from which about two weeks before they had effected their disembarkation.

THE KILLINGER PROPERTY.

The Parties Notified to Come into Court on Saturday Next—Three Claimants of Property in Sister's Store Released.

Court met this morning for the transaction of current business. At the last quarter sessions court costs were imposed on Mrs. Sterrett in a surety of the peace case. It was shown to the court that she is in destitute circumstances, and the court reconsidered the order and put the costs on the county.

The sale of the Killinger property on East King street was brought to the attention of the court, with the exception filed to the confirmation of the same, Gottlieb Gerstley agreed to give $500 more than it was sold for.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

The court granted an issue on the petition of Robert S. Hobbs & Co., of Brooklyn, who also claimed some of the goods in Sister's store.

PENNSYLVANIA'S NEXT SENATOR.

Matthew Stanley Quay, Who Now Runs the Republican Machine.

Matthew Stanley Quay, who was nominated for state treasurer at the Republican state convention of Pennsylvania, was born at Dillsburg, York county, September 2d, 1833, his father, a Presbyterian clergyman, removed to Beaver county whilst Matthew was still young.

After graduating at Jefferson college, Canonsburg, the latter became a law student in Pittsburgh, before he had finished his studies, however, he started out to see the world, traveling through the states of Mississippi, Louisiana, and Texas, living by lecturing and teaching school.

He returned to Beaver county in 1852, and worked as a law student, and during the same year was admitted to the bar. In 1853 he was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854. He was elected prothonotary of the county, and was re-elected in 1854.

TOO MUCH WHISKY.

JOHN GIMBE, OF EPHRATA, DRINKS TWO PINTS AND DIES.

The Sad Ending of a Marriage Celebration. Drinking Whisky by the Tin-Cup Fall, The Deceased a Harrisburg, and a Pensioner of the Late War.

Ephrata, Jan. 8.—At the marriage of Martin Bowman, Thursday evening, a party of young men contemplating some fun of surrounding the newly married couple. Whisky was freely furnished and par-taken of. A tin cup was furnished, from which the whisky was drunk.

A cigar-maker named John Gimbe, having had free access to the whisky, is said to have drunk two pints of the beverage, from the effects of which he fell to the ground unconscious. He was removed to the hotel of Amos Shiffer, of Greenville, by his associates and remained there dormant until death which resulted some time during Friday night.

Deceased is a native of Harrisburg and a pensioner of the late war. He leaves a wife and daughter to mourn his death. Deceased was about 45 years of age. Deputy Coroner Geempering was called this morning to hold an inquest. The following verdict was given by the jury: "Deceased came to his death by an overdose of alcoholic drink administered by himself."

The jury consisted of the following persons: Theo. Glass, Sam'l Nite, Wm. Strobb, Harvey Schmitt, Henry Meckley and Jacob Shober. The coroner telegraphed to his friends in Harrisburg for information as to the disposition of the body. If no news is received to-day the body will be taken in charge of Lieut. Leche, of Post 324, G. A. R., and will be buried with military honors on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock.

TEXAS SCHOOL FUND LANDS. Fugate Settlers Taking What Belongs to the Farmers—Appealing to the Legislature.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Jan. 8.—Fresh facts have come to light in regard to the management of the Texas school lands, causing quite a stir among the people who want to see the farmers and not the auctioneers occupy this territory. The state allows an individual to hold seven sections of grazing land, and one section of farming land. The state has permitted men to survey seven sections of fine agricultural land and enter it as grazing land, and the holders demand a bonus from the state to buy it. Miles along the streams are taken up, and the wire fence keeps out the settler. The law referred to also makes actual settlement a condition necessary to the acquisition of school land.

Hundreds of sections in the Pan Handle are held down by tenants employed by New York, Chicago, St. Louis, London and New Orleans capitalists many of whom have never seen Texas. Such settlers do not develop the country, and the actual settlers who are coming in have to go to other counties to buy the land they want belonging to the school fund. The school fund is a very important thing to have the legislature come to their aid and change this state of affairs.

Beautiful Phenomena in Colorado. DENVER, Col., Jan. 8.—Colorado skies were never more brilliant than yesterday afternoon and last night. The cold waves in the Rocky Mountain region, and the sun and moon have made the heavens radiant with halos, sun-dogs, and bright rings of light. Both during the day and night hundreds of people would collect here and there in the frosty air, and with heads striking the icy mountain peaks, were staring at the sun and moon.

Two Aged Cousins Found Frozen to Death in Their Miserable Abode. Joseph Perry aged about 70 years, and his cousin Richard Price, aged about 70 years, both unmarried, were found frozen to death, Friday afternoon, in the house of the former, at No. 1225 Locust street, Philadelphia. Neither of the men had been seen around the premises since Monday last. The suspicious neighbors, and every indication pointed to the fact that the two men had been frozen to death. In the kitchen were two perforated tin kettles, one of which was broken, and only half full of the same liquor. The bodies were removed to an undertaker's rooms and the coroner was notified.

Had From $100,000 to $300,000. Two Aged Cousins Found Frozen to Death in Their Miserable Abode. Joseph Perry aged about 70 years, and his cousin Richard Price, aged about 70 years, both unmarried, were found frozen to death, Friday afternoon, in the house of the former, at No. 1225 Locust street, Philadelphia.

OHIO'S JACKSON CLUB.

Hon. Allen G. Thurman Delivers a Speech on Home Rule at Their Banquet.

The local annual celebration of the death of the hero of New Orleans, under the auspices of the Jackson club, was held at the City Building, Columbus, Friday night. The hall was decorated and the stage bore large size pictures of the hero of New Orleans, Thurman, Tilden and President Cleveland. Four tables were placed in the rear of the room, and covers were turned for 300.

It was after nine o'clock before the members and their guests were seated at the table ready to inaugurate the substantial features of the banquet. Hon. E. T. Powell, of Delaware, presided over the occasion.

Judge Allen G. Thurman, who was the living hero of the evening, was received with the loudest applause. He delivered a speech on the common heritage of the people. "We have assembled to-night not to make a platform for the Democratic party of the United States, but to do what we can for our own people."

Some persons suppose that the Union can be preserved in some of the hands of the federal government, this, in effect, practically would be the case. It is not possible to have a government, which has been productive of so many benefits and of so much content. For myself, I am of the opinion that the Union can be preserved in some of the hands of the federal government, this, in effect, practically would be the case.

Some persons suppose that the Union can be preserved in some of the hands of the federal government, this, in effect, practically would be the case. It is not possible to have a government, which has been productive of so many benefits and of so much content. For myself, I am of the opinion that the Union can be preserved in some of the hands of the federal government, this, in effect, practically would be the case.

Some persons suppose that the Union can be preserved in some of the hands of the federal government, this, in effect, practically would be the case. It is not possible to have a government, which has been productive of so many benefits and of so much content. For myself, I am of the opinion that the Union can be preserved in some of the hands of the federal government, this, in effect, practically would be the case.

Some persons suppose that the Union can be preserved in some of the hands of the federal government, this, in effect, practically would be the case. It is not possible to have a government, which has been productive of so many benefits and of so much content. For myself, I am of the opinion that the Union can be preserved in some of the hands of the federal government, this, in effect, practically would be the case.

Some persons suppose that the Union can be preserved in some of the hands of the federal government, this, in effect, practically would be the case. It is not possible to have a government, which has been productive of so many benefits and of so much content. For myself, I am of the opinion that the Union can be preserved in some of the hands of the federal government, this, in effect, practically would be the case.

Some persons suppose that the Union can be preserved in some of the hands of the federal government, this, in effect, practically would be the case. It is not possible to have a government, which has been productive of so many benefits and of so much content. For myself, I am of the opinion that the Union can be preserved in some of the hands of the federal government, this, in effect, practically would be the case.

Some persons suppose that the Union can be preserved in some of the hands of the federal government, this, in effect, practically would be the case. It is not possible to have a government, which has been productive of so many benefits and of so much content. For myself, I am of the opinion that the Union can be preserved in some of the hands of the federal government, this, in effect, practically would be the case.

THE CORNER INQUIRING.

TESTIMONY GIVEN BEFORE THE OFFICIAL AND HIS JURY.

James M. Spooner, Who Lives Near the Scene of the Disaster, Tells of His Work as Rescuing Dead and Injured.—The Helix That Was Discovered.

Tiffin, Ohio, Jan. 8.—The inquest into the causes of the Baltimore & Ohio wreck at Republic, Ohio, was begun here at two o'clock yesterday afternoon. Thomas F. Haskett, of Washington, W. Va., conductor of the express on the night of the collision, testified: "The express was three minutes late at Republic. I had about sixty passengers—fourteen or fifteen in the smoker. Of that number five escaped from the smoker, two by being thrown out of the top of the car, and three others were killed. I think there were not more than ten killed. I have in my possession cards thrown from the smoker bearing the name of B. H. Parks, of Washington, D. C. There was writing on the card which a brother of the dead man recognized. Of the number killed the names of seven are known. P. J. Hain, of Rowan, Ind., was the rear brakeman on the freight, and when the collision occurred he took a lantern and went in the rear about a mile to flag any other train that might be coming.

The inquest was resumed this morning and James M. Spooner, of Republic, O., was sworn and testified as follows: "I was about half mile from wreck. Arrived there 2:15 a. m., by my watch. Cars wrapped in flames. Passed the burning cars on south side. Saw man fastened by legs between engine and water tank. I raised his head up. He was a freeman of passage. I saw him raise his body. Twenty-five or thirty persons standing near. Nobody doing anything. I worked there till the man died, 2 hours later. Saw after that the freight engineer who said he had tried to extricate a man wedged between baggage car and engine. Although he gave his name as J. C., or A. J. Braden, but was not sure of the name, and claimed to be a prominent Knight of Labor from Washington. This man could have thrown the card case to where it was found. Heard the engineer say to a workman: 'I suppose he (A. B. O. official) thinks I am to blame for this wreck, but I am not. I did all in my power to get out of the wreck. I made my engine work. Saw a man carry the body out on the bank on a wheelbarrow. Did not look like a human body. I pulled out a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies, one large and two small. They were taken out to the bank. Near this Mr. Gerring picked up a card case, near the body of another man. Mr. G. opened the case in presence of others. Twenty-five or thirty cards with names M. H. Parks and address of a large piece of silver and uncovered three bodies,