A Victim of Finsh Literature

From the N. Y. Tribune. On Sunday afternoon a lad seventeen eighteen years old attracted the attention of e policeman on duty at Twenty-third street and Fifth avenue by his inquiries about thieves, detectives, police officials and simi-lar subjects. Among other things he wanted lar subjects. Among other things he wanted to know where he could get a copy of Inspectors Byrnes' book on criminals. Afterward he told Detective Prior that he had come to New York from Germantown, Pa, to become a detective. He related minutely how he intended to disguise himself to espture bank burglars, counterfeited and other classes of criminals. The detective arrived at the conclusion that the young man was insane. He had some kind of a grievance against cab drivers, and on pretense that one sane. He had some kind of a griovance against cab drivers, and on pretense that one had been arrested he was lured to the Twenty-ninth street police station, where he was locked up. His friends in Germantown were communicated with, and will come here to care for him. It is said that he belongs to a wealthy family, and has become crazed by reading detective and criminal stories in flasby story papers.

A Bourbon Editor's Parable. From the Savannah News.

A Strange Creature with its hair filled with Hay Seed wandered into the magnificent Union Passenger Depot at Birmingham, the other day, bearing in its hands a Flattened Carpet-Bag. "Who are You?" said the Carpet Bag. "Who are You?" said the ticket agout, leaving his cheerful Coal Fire and peering through his Iron-Ribbed window. "I," replied the Strange Creature, "am the Ghost of the Farming Interests of A's sams. I ran afoul of a Coal and Iron Boom, not long ago, and was Kuccked Out in the First Round. All the Farms have since been Cut Up into Town Lots, and I now desire to Emigrate to the Great West."
"Correct you are," said the ticket agent, Correct you are," said the ticket agent, we now have no Use for the Fruits of the Sarth in Alabama; we are living on the In-nocent Investor." Whereupon the ticket agent gave the Strange Creature a pass to the Great West and sat down to Concoot a Boom for the Growing town of Lickskillet.

Trouble Ahead.

When the appetite falls, and sleep grows resties and unrefreshing, there is trouble ahead. The digestive organs, when heatthy, crave food, the nervous system, when vigorous and tranquit, gives its possessor un uneasiness at night. A teate, to be effective, should not be a mere appetizer, nor are nerves to be strengthened and soothed by the unaided action of a sedative or a narcotte. What is required is a medicine which invigorates the stomach and promotes which invigorates the stomach, and promotes assimilation of food by the system, by which means the nervous system as well as other parts of the physical organism are strengthened. These are the effects of Hostetter's stomach Bitters, a medicine whose reputation is found firmly in public confidence, and which physicians commend for its tonic, auti-bilious and other properties. A Baptist Minister's Experience.

"I am a Baptist minister, and before I ever thought of being a clergyman I graduated in medicine, but left a lucrative practice for my present profession, forty years ago. I was for many years a sufferer from quinsy. Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured use. I was also troubled with hourseness, and Thomas' Eclectric Oil always relieved me. My wife and child had diphtheria, and Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured them, and if taken in time it will cure seven times out of ten. I am confident it is a cure for the most obstinate cold, or cough, and if any one will take a small reaspoon and half fill it with the Oil, and then place the end of the spoon into the head, by soffing as hard as they can, until the Oil falls over into the throat, and practice it twice a week, I don't care how offensive their head may be, it will clean it out and cure their catarrh. For deatness and earache, it has done wonders to my certain knowledge. It is the only medicine dubbed patent medicine that I have ever felt like recommending, and I am very anxious to see it in every place, for I tell you that I would not be without it in my house for any consideration. I am now suffering with a pain like rheumatism in my right limb, and nothing relieves me like Thomas Eclectric Oil." Dr. E. F. Crane, Corry, Pa. A Baptist Minister's Experience. F. Crane, Corry, Pa.
