Light Audiences at Soth Houses Last Eve-ning-Opers and Comedy.

The audience at Fulton opers house last The audience at Fulton opera house last evening was again light. The Jane Coombe dramatic company made their second appearance and the play was the comedy of "Engaged." The performance was excellent. Miss Coombe appeared in the character of Belinda Thehern and as usual was very fine. The supporting company is as strong as any that has appeared in Lancaster this season. Wright Huntington, the leading man, is a splendid actor and his work as Cheviot Hill was very good. Miss Eudors Hart as Minnie Symperson, and E. Evans as Belvauney were also worthy of appeals mention. special mention.

This evening "Camille" will be played and

Miss Coombs has made a great reputation in The King Street Theatre

There was a fair audience at the King street theatre last evening. The opers of "Olivette" was advertised to be sung, but owing to the non-arrival of some contumer from New York, the "Mikado" was given. from New York, the "Mikado" was given. The performance was the same as on the previous evening, with the exception of one sotor. Clarence Duffy assumed the part of Ro Ro on Monday evening, but he did not please the management or the public. He closed his engagement after one performance and left the city. Last evening his place was taken by Fred Darling, who was something of an improvement.

LARP CUMBITTER REPORT. It Shows the Savings to the City If the Ameri

tean System is Adopted.

The lamp committee of councils met in et council chamber on Monday evening, and agreed upon a report which will be sub mitted to councils this evening, in accord ance with a resolution, referring all the bids for lighting the city and public buildings, adopted at the last meeting of councils. The committee will give the result of their trip to Williamsport, where they saw the American company's electric light in use, the saving to the city by the adoption of that light, instead of the present light. They will also give the cost of lighting the public building for the past three years by gas, and compare it with the bid of the Edison electric light as offered. The committee will make no rec what light to adopt.

Indications point to a lengthy discussion on this question. The present company has friends in council who will oppose any change, and the American system has also some warm advocates.

Big crowds attended the Novelty perform ance at No. 48 North Queen street all of Tuesday afternoon and evening, and at the latter time particularly the attend-ance was very large. The work of the ance was very larga. The work of the Bohemian glass blowers is very fine and attracts much attention. The great feature of the entertainment, however, is the mind-reading work of Miss Mills Ammar. This young woman white blind-folded and with her head turned away from the questioner will tell the date of a coin in anyon pocket, will pick out any odd feature of the personal apparel of an individual, and will name particular figures in a great number written on a blackboard by a stranger, the blackboard being hidden from her view. Her answers are quick and almost invariably correct. Her deviative is simply remarkable. correct. Her dexterity is simply remarkable The snake charmer, Uno, bandles a number of fierce - looking snakes in blood-curdling style. Altogether the show is a very interest ing one well worth seeing. The Philadelphia Traction company makes another announcement relative to the proposed reduction of fares on its street railways.

The reduction of five cents, it is announced, will go into effect on March 7, instead of April will go into effect on March 7, instead of April 1, as previously announced, and the single fare will entitle passengers to free transfer at all junctions, instead of being obliged to pay an additional two cents for such transfer, as was stated in the former announcement. Much indignation has been manifested throughout the city at the indifference heretofore shown by the Traction company for the convenience of passengers and the efforts of the company to secure legislation at Harrisburg to aid them in obtaining a monopoly of the city streets.

A mass meeting of citizens last night at the Academy of Music protested against pending bills in the state legislature said to have been instigated by the Traction company officials.

The leading newspapers assert that the re-ductions in lares announced by the company are made for the purpose of forestailing any serious opposition from the citizens to pend-ing legislation.

Will be Brought Back. Chief Smith went to Philadelphia at 12:58 to-day to arrest Lizzie Huber, whose parents live on Beaver street. Lizzie, who is only sixteen years old, ran away from St. Mary's convent, where she was employed as a domes tic, a few days ago. She went direct to Phils delphia and the chief expects to bring her back to this city to-night. The young man who it is alleged took her away will be prosecuted for abduction. Atter the $100 Roward. J. Balley Brown, of the lower end of the county, received several months ago $25 for restoring the stolen team of Issae Richards, of New Garden, Chester county. He is now one of the claimants for the reward of $100 offered by the Union Detective association for the detection of the thief. The directors held a meeting, and as four persons claimed the reward it will not be paid until it is decided to whom it belongs.

Arrested for Robbery.

Benjamin Westfield was arrested on Tuesday evening by Countable Lines, of Consectops Contra, on a charge of robbery, preferred by Ames M. Henry. The allegation in that Westfield kneeked Henry down on Vincontest, a few days age and robbet him of a path. The general is in jail creating a hon-stated Tuesday that he had received con-firmation through one of his officers of the present whereabouts of Annie Richardson, present whereabouts of Annie Richardson, the missing factor in the Gains murder case, and had located her in New Jersey, although he declines at present to name the aract place. He says that the girl has not yet heard of the murder, and she told the detective that she had run away from the house in Bucks county, where Mra. Tabba, Gaines and herself were living, on the 25th of last May. She left on account of "something that had happened," but does not say what it is. She walked to Philadelphia and fell into the hands of a benevolent organization, which found a home for her at the place where she was found. She does not know her exact relation to Mra. Gaines, her first recollection being that she lived with Mra. Tabba, whom she knew as an aunt, along with a man named Richardson, at Annapolis, Maryland, who she was told was her father. She declares that she was always atraid of her "sunt" on account of her temper. The girl is now about sixteen years of age.

Chief Keily feels confident that he now has the whole story of the murder and butchery, but is still trying to discover what disposition was made of the missing remains. Grappling is still going on in the Schuyikill, but nothing has been found, and the belief that they have been disposed of in some other manner is becoming quite general. the missing factor in the Gains murder case,

Mrs. Valentine Baker, living some distance from Rohrerstown, was burned to death to is not now known. She was found on the floor of her kliches, with her clothing on fire town, was summoned, but before his arrival the woman was dead. The doctor telephoned to Coroner Honaman and that official at once left for the scene of the accident and will not get back home until this evening. Mrs. Baker leaves a husband and

Charged With Larceny. Geo, Lewis and Peter Boos on a charge of larcony. They had in their possession when arcony. They had in their possession when arrested two bags, in one of which was a lot of lead pipe which was identified as the property of F. J. Steinhauser. The other bag contained a lot of copper pipe, which looks as if it had been cut with a chiesi from a brewery or some like place. It has not yet been identified. It may be seen at Alderman Deen's office. Lewis and Boos were committed by Alderman Deen for a hearing.

Adams Express Company's Extension. The Adams Express company has extended The Adams Express company has extended its service over the entire system of the Ohio & Mississippi railway, amounting to upwards of 600 miles of line, on which there are about 125 agencies. Ten years ago the Ohio & Mississippi began to carry its own express goods, and subsequently contracted with the Baitimore & Ohio, whose contract expired Monday night. The occupation of the line by the Adams Express, it is said, is in the nature of a surprise.

Rame For a Horono. Last evening a raine for a handsomely carved ash bureau, was held at the Seventh Ward hotel. It was won by Frederick Eschbach, pressman of the INTELLIGENCER, who afterwards sold it for $40. The bureau was made by Philip Wolf, cabinet-maker. The lucky throw was 44.

The Toboggan Slide Open To-Night. The toboggan slide at McGrann's park was never in finer condition than last night, but as that fact was not generally known, the attendance was not large. The alide will be open this afternoon and evening, and as it may be the last tobogganing opportunity of the season, there will no doubt be a good Arrested for Laresby, Stuart A. Wylle, who figured in the last court as a defendant for stealing whisky from cars of the Reading railroad, was arrested on Incesday by Officer Boss on a similar charge This time the allegation is that he stole a number of articles from Pontz's brick yard. Alderman Pinkerton will hear the case.

C. G. McMillen has rented the Hotel Lancaster, the name given to the handsome hotel which was recently erected by John Keiler, near the Pennsylvania railroad station. This gentleman is the present proprietor of the Brockerhoff house, Bellefonte, and is a well known botel man.

Tommy Cummings, the young man from Reading who is so fond of wearing flashy clothes, is in town. He is on a business trip and not one of sport, although he thinks purchasing a new suit before going home March Council Meeting

The March meeting of councils will be held this evening at 7 o'clock. It will be a lengthy meeting, as several important matters will be brought up for consideration. It will also be the last regular meeting of the old councils.
