The Senate Refreats. the colored man from Bos-ler of deeds for the District, Prederick Douglas, colored, Resublices administration.

The Senate has finally been persuaded at it could not hold up this objector as a reason for refusing to confirm a stored man to the recordership; which the resident was evidently determined that a slored man should fill. Though their ommittee recommended the rejection of Frotter, the Boston Importation, the Senste confirmed him. It had the choice of nstrating its inconsistency or of peristently striking at the colored race and it chose the former as the best way out of the scrape. It would have been wiser if it had not given the president the opportunity of showing that the Democrati party, as he leads it, is persistent in giving the colored race the equality which the constitution confers upon them.

Hoar's Attack on Carlisle. Senator Hoar has taken occasion in the Senate to express his indignation that Speaker Carlisle should have declared to members of the House that he would not recognize them for the purpose of asking a vote upon a measure of legislation. Mr. Hoar thought this was a great assumption in the speaker of the House. He admitted that Mr. Blaine when speaker did the same thing, but only, he said, in the last days of the session, when time needs to be economized; then he dealt it out to the most necessary objects of legislation.

But Mr. Hoar was unfortunate in having to allude to Mr. Blaine's practice; as the people remember that Mr. Blaine wrote a letter once, when he was speaker, describing what power he had to control legislation in favor of interests he desired to favor, by recognizing those representing them and awarding to them the floor.

Mr. Hoar's indignation would have been well founded if he had confined it to the market and had not sought to put the clams on the Democratic speaker as the ntroducer of it. Everyone knows that Speaker Carlisle does not abuse the power he assumes, but that he practices it from the necessity of the case and with such impartiality and fairness, that there is none to be found in either party in the lower house of Congress to condemn him : and only Mr. Hoar in the Senate.

There is no doubt that an im mense power is ledged in the speaker's hands, when he is left to be sole judge of who shall have the floor. But it seems to be necessary in the conduct of the business of the House. It seems to be a great wrong to a member that he should not be able to obtain a hearing when he asks for it, but with a body so large it appears to be a wrong without remedy. If the speaker is bonest and fair, no great harm can come to the people; but with a speaker who is otherwise, as Blaine was, great harm may and did come. Why Mr. Hoar should remind us of them, we do not know, It is certainly not creditable to his party. But it does give point to his criticism of the practice in the House; and if it can be avoided, it should be. No needless power should be given to any officer.

THE Forty-ninth Corgress is dead.

THE SLOW to-day makes a fit winding sheet

THE York Gasette notes that in the annual statement of receipts and expenditures of York county, $14,748.64 were spent for commonwealth costs, which it says is "more than half as much as we paid out of the county tressury for the maintenance of our poor; nore than twice what we paid for the bridge and bridge repairs ; about nine times what we paid for road damages ; more than all we paid our grand, traverse and petit jurors, court orier, tipstaves, court detective, and tion fees : and more than three times the cost of our road and bridge views, including surveyors' fees and mileage, and attending commissioners per diem and mileage." paper further observes that nearly one-half this entire sum has been paid to four justices and six constables. Here is a great chance for the pruning knife.

SENATOR HOAR got a taste of Kentucky devotion yesterday when he blew a windy blast against Caritale. Those able Kentuckians, Beck and Biackburn, quickly sewed up the Massachusetta fossil.

THE Tennemee Temperance people are in high feather because the Senate of that state has passed the bill submitting to a popular vote a constitutional amendment prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. This may not, however, be an un mixed blessing. Probibition has been in force in Rhode Island for some time, yet citizens of Providence, representing from $80,000,000 to $40,000,000 of capital, presented this petition to the legislature the other day : this petition to the legislature the other day:

"The undersigned tax-payers and business men of this state, feeling that the amendment to the constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, is injurious to the best interests of the state as well as incapsible of enforcement, that it has placed the liquor business beyond contrel and supervision, has disarranged business and depreciated the price of real estate, respectfully petition your honorable body to put before the people of this state an amendment to the constitution abrogating the prohibition amendment, so called." ibition amendment, so called.

He finds nothing to condemn in their doctrines and approves of the neutral stand that the American Catholic sishops have taken towards them. With regard to Cardinal Taschereau's proscription of them, the papal ablegate says that Canada has suffered sorely from secret societies, and the cardinal has probably looked at the Knights through prejudiced spectacles. As Mr. Powderly is a conscientious Catholic, Monsignor Strantero concludes that the organization will never be used to harm the inerests of the Catholic church.
