What a pity that the Heading railroad can't secure such a President to rescue it from its present dilemms. He would be worth millions. The Equitable caters to the influential and The Equitable caters to the influential and displaces the hand of honest toil—thusly: If influential, it or its representatives will sell you one of its incontestible contracts at from 40 to 55 per cent. of the regular premium; while the toiler who needs protection for his little ones must pay 100 per cent. We know that the General Manager and Financial Agent of this state has offered over his signature to sell such Insursurance as the Equitable can furnish at 55 per cent. of the premium or regular rates. It is a rare thing for a merchant to undervalue his own merchandise; and we think that Mr. Register, who has been connected with the Equitable for so many over 20 years is no exception.
