The suits against the policy-holders of the New Era Life Insurance company, which were adjourned last Tuesday were heard to-day by Alderman Fordney. On account of the large number of defendants, some 70, the alderman adjourned from his office to the orsiderman adjourned from his office to the or-phan's court room. The case of W. U. Hen-sel, which was to be made a test one, was giken up at the point at which it was contin-ued. Wan Leannes, counsel for J. M. Wiest-ling, offered in evidence the certificate of the company, with the signature of the secretary and seal of the company making assessments on the policy-holders. Counsel for Mr. Hen-sel objected on the ground that the signature sel objected on the ground that the signature of the secretary was obtained since the last adjournment. After argument the alderman The company next offered in evidence the proofs of death of the members, for which assessments were made and not paid and are included in the suits now pending.

After the manner of making the amountments was proved, the plaintiff rested. There was no defense offered. A few of the cases which differed from Mr. Hensel's were heard this afternoon. The alderman reserved his Oshkosh, Wis., Corr. of Reading Times.

During my extended business trips in the Northwest in the interest of our properous firm of woolen goods manufacturers, J. G. Leinbach & Co., it has been my good fortune to meet many agreeable friends and acquaintances as well as relatives. I was somewhat disappointed, however, upon my semi-annual visit to Wisconsin to learn that Major Henry H. McLenegan, formerly of Lancaster, Pa., but for many years a resident of near Beioit, Wis., had left for San Francisco, Cal., with his youngest son to be present at the wedding of his son to a Californis lass. The young groom has in a few years of hard work achieved considerable fame as an Arctic cruiser in the revenue service of the government on the Pacific ocean, and has just completed his report and maps demanded by the government of his latest exploration of the great and heretofore unknown river of Alaska. His cance and rifle, which latter proved to be the only means for gaining subsistence for 60 days or more—are now to be found in the Smithsonian institute, Washington, D. C., long with many fine specimens of ornithology and geology, which were got by him from cliffs that the eye of man had in all obability never seen before. This young nan, a cousin of our young townsman, Mr man, a cousin of our young townsman, ar.

James L. McLenegan, is an engineer in the service, and on his wedding trip has a leave of absence for thirty days and persuaded his father to accompany himself and bride to Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, for a short visit.
It may also gratify some of the major's friends in Reading and Lancaster to learn that his eldest son, Charles Edward McLenegan, a graduate of Racine colleges and afterwards a eidest son, Charles Edward McLenegan, a graduate of Racine college and afterwards a tutor of mathematics in that institution, has been unanimously selected and appointed professor of English literature in the Mil-waukee high school and has entered upon the

George W. Zecher Critically Ill. George W. Zecher, formerly of this city. and now holding a position in the collector's office at Philadelphia, is critically ill. He had hemorrhages a few weeks ago and has been gradually getting weaker. His daugh-ter Ella, a teacher in the South Prince street schools, was telegraphed for to-day and went to Philadelphia at noon. The telegram stated that Mr. Zecher was considered to be in a critical condition.

An Equity Suit Begun, The A. Campbell Manufacturing company, of Philadelphia, on Tuesday, began an equity suit against R. J. Malone & Bro., and the city of Philadelphia, to restrain the defend-ants from constructing the Manayunk intercepting sewer in front of their mill prop-erty. They aver that it can be built in a different place just as well and without dan ger to any property.

Runaway Accident. This morning about 10 o'clock a horse be-longing to Prentiss & Reese, bretzel bakers, and attached to one of their wagons, took fright on Rockland street, ran down to Vine and thence to Duke, where he ran against a furniture wagon belonging to J. H. Wid-myer. The horse was hurt pretty badly but continued its flight up Duke istreet to near the court house, where it was caught.

Col. Taggart In Town. Col. Robert Taggart arrived in town on Tuesday and after an hour's sojourn managed to get pretty well filled with whicky. He paid his respects to the clerks in the court house this morning and entertained them with speeches for a couple of hours. His mission here, he says, is to determine who shall fill the county offices during the next three years. He will in all probability spend tonight in the station house.

A Handy Clock. A clock that excites curiosity has been erected in front of Gruel's confectionery on North Queen street. It is an advertising scheme and a very good one. By the run-ning of the clock a different business card is displayed every half minute. It comes very handy and people who do not trust the court house eclipse by night can consult the new clock.

The Provideou, R. I., Journal has this story on what declares excellent authority:
"A youngman named Stainton, whose home is in Fall River, died as his friends believed two in Fall River, died as his friends believed two weeks ago Monday, from consumption, at the house of his brother, a physician, in Boston. Other doctors were called, and pronounced the man dead beyond question. Nevertheless, the consumptive's medical brother believed life was not extinct. As the rest of the family insisted on burial Thursday, March 3, Dr. Stainton visited the tomb every six hours to inspect the inmate. On Friday the body had moved slightly, and after much disagreement in the family the coffin was brought to the house. Saturday, March 3, the supposed corpse opened its eyes, and the body began to grow warm. Sunday consciousness was restored. Late last week Stainton was up, dressed and in good spirita."
