It is a cause that should appeal fervently all in whom one drop of the milk of hunan kindness flows. These men have occupied felons' cells for three years for no crime. They go out of their confinement with the prison brand on their forehead, and as the injustice was done them in this community, the moral obligation rests upon the people of Lancaster to right in so far as they can this grievous wrong.

Philadelphia's New Charter.

Philadelphia enters upon a new municipal life to day under the Bullitt charter, Much is hoped for it in the way of reforming the extravagances, the corruption and mal-administration of the past ; and the men to whom the care of the city under the new charter has been confided, are believed to be in deep earnest in putting their shoulders to the reform where. The civil service regulations of terning appointments has been pended for sixty days in prior to give the new administration a free foot in the organization of the new regime, and it is believed this confidence will be respected and the additional power given wisely exercised.

Under this reorganized municipal plan, the mayor becomes in reality the city's chief executive and not, as heretofore, simply a chief of police. The departments of administration consist of 1. Public works, which will have charge of streets. water, gas, buildings, sewers, bridges and surveying. 2. Public safety, embracing mony of any foreign power of respectable properties; and, living inconstant fear of theoreties by Germany, has unwillingly paid its surplus for the support of a mon-arch where firm insistance upon the divine right of kings, insures the favor of the royal families controlling the balance of European power. The sons of King Chris-tian have been candidates for many third-rate thrones, and the rule of the king of rate thrones, and the rule of the king of Greece, proved that they were not wanting in ability. But it is, by their uncompro mising hostility to popular government that they have endeared themselves to the no-bility and royalty of Europe.

The Danish Liberals are turbulent and aggressive under the leadership of Herr Berg, one of the greatest orators of modern times, and the only rival of the Spanish Cicero, Castelar. His eloquence might have caused a revolution that would have swept aside the monarchy like chaff in a whirlwind, but his patriotism has restrained him from taking what could only be a temporary triumph. Germany would be glad of any pretext for seizing the gateway of the Baltic or securing more firmly on the Danish throne a king who would be her servant.

DUN & Co., in their last weekly review of trade, report that there has been more ac tivity in business than is usual at this time of the year and attribute it to an anxiety on the part of large dealers to secure a stock for sev eral months before the inter-state commerce act should complicate matters. No doubt this opinion is well founded on the business situations of the whole country, and a general reaction may be looked for before long but the whole situation is so complicated that the business world will probably hold its breath for a little while and watch "how the cat jumps." in spite of all, the general impres sion seems to be that the jump will be to-wards better times, and the tone of the trade reports and press comments thereon is universally cheerful and hopeful, though cautions. Cotton is booming, 1,088,200 bales hav-ing been sold in New York in six days. Wheat has risen one per cent and exports are heavy.

WE wish the new councils and city officers s happpy municipal new year.

It will be remembered that the Egpyt Exploration Fund undertook to support work of exploration on the site of Zoan, the great capital of the Pharosha depending entirely on annual contributions. The society offers to all subscribers who contribute not less than five dollars "its memoir for the year, with the privilege of obtaining its previou publications at similar rates for each of the ormer years of its work."

The scholars who prepare these volumes do so without compensation, but they have maintained a high standard of excellence, and are keeping their subscribers posted on the progress of the wonderful work in a country that is now for the first time in history being explored by the antiquarian. Remains of ancient iron furnaces, pottery and sculpture, memorials of the work of the Israelites in pervitude and of Nebuchadnez-zar, continues freasures of priceless value, be dise they may add to the evidences sup porting the essential facts of sacred records all these are being brought to light after an interval of many years by the quiet applica-tion of the five dollar bills that reach the hands of the treasurer of the fund in Boston

Beginning with Washington, we have Jefferson, Clinton, Madiso Jackson, Calhoun, Van Buren, R. M. Johnson, Harrison, Buchanan, Lincoln, Hamlin, Andrew Johnson and Tilden. Some people who do not know any other reason for the It was the last but one, (the last one being continuing regularity of James G. Blaine's defeats in his presidential ambition, ascribe it to the absence of this concluding letter. But his name has so long been N. G. Him in His Wife's Derangement. The Duke of Cumberland (whose wife in the Princess Thyrs, of Denmark, who was consigned to an asylum for the insane,) is an individual of no small importance in European court circles, for besides being the pos-sessor and absolute commander of an immenne cetate and fortune, he is a member of the royal family of England. Had not a daughter been unexpectedly born to the Duke of Kent, the Duke of Cumberland would now be king of Engiand. It was as nearest male descendants of George 111 , that his grandfather succeeded to the crown of Hanover, and thus it is that the Duke of Cumberland would now also have been king of Hanover had there not been an intervention of a kind which resulted in the kingdom becom ing annexed by Prussis, after her triumphant war with Austria, in 1866, in which Hanover took the side which was vanquished. and his refusal to accept facts has prevented his succeeding to the Duchy of Brunswick. Of the duke's own personal life no very fa vorable comments are reported.

The Duchess of Cumberland, who is suit fering from intense melancholy, is the youngest daughter of King Christian 1X., of Den mark, and sister of King George, of Greece Czarina Marie Feodorovns, of Russia, and Princess Alexandra, of Wales. The Duchess of Cumberland was the Princess Thyra Emelie Caroline Charlotte Anne of Denmark and was born September 29, 1853. Arrange-ments for her nuptials with Ernest Augustus, Duke of Cumberland, (the only son of the late king of Hanover), having been completed by both families, she was wedded to him in the month of December of 1878. From this union emanated the birth of three daughters and two sons. The marriage of the Princess Thyra to the Dake of Cumber land was an event of considerable interest.

the quality of the soap used upon their clothing than salaried men or persons of limited income. Three dollars per year saved in the cost of soap is more than likely to result in fifty dollars worth of damage to the articles it is used upon. Professor Cornwall, of Princeton College, says, "The IVORY SDAP is of great purity and "more than average cleansing power." A word to the wise is sufficient.

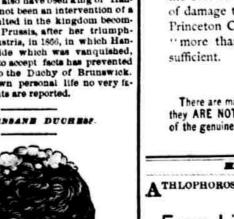

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'lvory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it. Copyright 1886, by Procter & Gamble.

olice, fire, health, markets and food 3. Charities and correction, which will control the almshouse, hospital and houses of correction.

The mayor appoints the heads of these departments, and on his head will fall the lame of their misfeasance or malfeasance The whole theory of the new system is concentrated responsibility. Hereto'ore committees of councils looked after the major part of what is now systematically divided among appointees of the mayor. In the former case there was divided responsibility and consequent carelessness nd mal-administration. Now official wrong can be swiftly followed and its author made to feel the weight of the public censure.

The new charter is to be given its first trial by its warm friends, and there will be much interest everywhere felt in watching how it will operate.

Coercion Doomed.

It looks now as though the Tory coercion bill would get its death blow in the second reading stage. A defeat of the government on this question would cause a dissolution which just now would be very unpopular with the business classes. In that event a good number of Tory voters would probably be induced to give their votes to Gladstone to give him a chance to push his remedial legislation for Ireland.

There were 113 absentees from the meet ing of Conservative members of Parliament on Thursday last to consider the coercion question. With the exception of a few, it is known that the absentees were opposed to coercion. Out of these 113, 12 will surely vote against coercion, and it is safe to predict that 40 will abstain from voting. This will reduce the number of Conservatives to 261, which together with the 39 Unionists will bring the Conservative strength up to 300. The Gladstonians number 191 members, the Parnellites, 86, making total of 277, and with an additional 30 votes, which is a low estimate, Mr. Gladstone could show a majority of 7. Another estimate puts the vote against coercion as high as 887 composed of Gladstonians and Parnellites, with 40 Liberal-Unionists and 20 Conservatives, which would defeat the government, even if it received the votes of the whole of the remaining members.

Apparently, in this instance it will be proved that Ireland's darkest hour was just

The State of Denmark.

Herr Berg, the leader of the Danish Liberals, has resigned, and the struggling factions that have torn the kingdom in their litter strife for and against absolute monaby will take a short breathing spell.

The Philadelphia Press discourses in a samed and liberal way on the general rottenness of things in the state of Denmark, making the following startling observa-tion: "A tariff established twenty-three years, which collects $15,000,000 a year when only $13,000,000 are needed, has died to the popular exasperation."

Our own tariff system also collects very more money than is needed for the more expanses of the government missing edministered. But poor lit-Demant knows that it would be at the
