Three Children Make a Narrow Escape From

Beveral members of the family of Frederick Bweigert, residing at No. 722 Poplar street, were almost sufficiented by coal gas on Satur-day night or rather Sunday morning. The ges escaped from a heater down stairs which had been fixed wrong before the family retired. Both dampers had been shut and the top was left open. The gas could not excape by the pipe, so it rushed out of the top. The door of the stairway was also left open and the gas passed up. Near the top of the stairs was a room which was occupied by those of Mr. Sweigert's children. It was siled with gas and the children were affected The first intimation that the other member of the family had of the affair was early in the morning when a daughter, aged 16 years, who had been sleeping in the affected room, steggered into that occupied by her parents and fell upon the floor. For a time she was s and the other members of the mily upon awakening at once knew what as the matter. The windows and doors of ogse were thrown open in order that air could be obtained. The two other children the were in the room were also found to be sected. Dr. Warren was sent for and upon is arrival he applied restoratives to the lidren who were much better in a short as. They felt the effects of the gas all day, but were soon free from all danger.

A Thief Drops His Booty. At a late hour last night James Robinson. day operator of the Pennsylvania railroad company at Mountville, was on his way home through the village, when he noticed man walking in front of him with a bag over his shoulder. He thought he knew the fellow and called to him. The man took to his heels and dropped the bag in his flight. Rob inson examined the bag and found in it nine big fat chickens, which were dead, their necks having been rung. Robinson then started in pursuit of the man, who succeeded in escaping. The chickens and bag were lef at the house of Harry Binkley for identifica-

A suit was brought in the court of common pleas this afternoon by Brown & Hensel, at-lorneys for Joseph C. Brinser, which has an interesting history. The defendants are John G. Brinser and Joseph S. Rutt, and the setton brought is that of deceit. About ter or twelve years ago it is alleged that the de fendants, through a fraudulent judgment, defrauded Joseph C. Brinser out of of a large Recently one of the defend ants confessed to his part in the transaction, and the above suit is brought to recover the money out of which he was defrauded. The statute of limitation bars a criminal prosecu tion, or one for conspiracy would be entered. Salt About Tobacco.

Alderman Fordney this morning heard the civil suit of Jacob Greenburg against Isaac Stirk & Co. It was a tobacco case, and the facts developed were that Greenburg sold his crop of tobacco to a buyer of Stirk's at 5% cents through. When the tobacco was de ivered the tobacco men refused to take it at the price contracted for, on the ground that it was not in good condition, a great part of it being rotten. Greenburg claimed that the tobacco agent saw the crop and bought it as it was. After Surk & Co. refused to take the tobacco it was sold to another party, and this suit was brought to recover the loss sus tained. Decision was reserved.
