In the last of the series of lectures on orestry delivered at the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. J. M. Andrews treated of "The Sanitary Aspects of Forests," One of their chief benefits is to conserve the moisture of the soil and their influence upon climate tends to lessen many endemic and epidemic diseases, notably malaria, typhoid fever and cholers. They help to maintain an even amount of moisture in the air and also to purify it. "In Central India, in 1859, during the cholera epidemic, it was observed that the soldiers of the garrisons which were located near forests enjoyed comparative exemption while the others died in great numbers." The speaker also showed the value as health resorts of stations located in a wooded country. For consumptives or those suffering from throat affections this air is very

In urging the passage of the pool bill be-fore the New York legislature Mr. Ives made use of arguments which certainly have the merit of frankness: "You cannot prevent Americans from betting on a horse race. Just as long as you keep such laws on the statute books, just so long will you have all the evils you complain of. The Anglo Saxon race are thorough horsemen; they will bet, and it would be wise for the legislature to pass wise laws on the subject, like this one, and repeal the foolish and inoperative ones." A member asked him whether gambling was not a crime and received the reply, "no, only the recording of a bet is a crime." And the House voted an emphatic no to the same question.

England is pretty well broken.

EVERYONE seems to agree that the action of the board of presidents of the Philadel phis banks by which notices of all notes and cceptances received by them will be sent to the makers forthwith, is a step in the right direction. As the Philadelphia Ledger says: "In making each transaction the banker has carefully scrutinized the paper with reference to the financial standing of the borrower, maker or indorser, but in many cases without the absolute knowledge of the genuineness of signatures. The confidential relations of borrower and lender have heretofore largely prevented this, and it has been the knowl edge of this shortcoming that has enabled the skillful business men who have success fully conducted the recent forgeries to carry on their systems of crime." The new rule, by notifying makers and acceptors immediately upon receipt of their paper, will thus be a protection all around, and it is a commendable addition to the saleguards of bank-

A MEDICINE

More Facts.

STERLING, ILL , August 21, 1885. We feel we must write something of the suc-cess of Hop Bitters. Their sale is thrible that of any other article of medicine. Hence we feel it but justice to you and your litters to say that it is a medicine of real merit and virtue, and doing much good and effecting great cures.

Yours, J. F. & H. B. UTLEY.

HAVESVILLE, Onto, Feb. II, 1834.

1 am very glad to say I have tried Hop Bitters and never took anything that did me as much good. I only took two bottles and I would not take $100 for the good they did me. I recommend them to my patients, and get the best of C. B. MERCER, M. D.

NEW HAVEN, CORN., Sept. 15, 1885. We take pleasure in giving you a notice and a nice, strong one, as it (Hop Ritters) deserves it. We use it, and we know it deserves it.— The Hop Bitters are the most valuable medicine ever knew. I should not have any mother not but for them, HENRY KNAPP. LONG JACK, Mo., Sept. 14, 1883.

I have been using Hop Bitters, and have re-ceived great benefit from them for liver com-plaint and malarial fever. They are superior to all other medicines.

I know Hop Bitters will bear recommendation honestly. All who use them confer upon them the highest encomiums and give them credit for making cures—all the proprietors claim for them. I have kept them since they were first offered to the public. They took high rank from the first, and maintained it, and are more called for than all others combined. So long as they keep up their high reputation for purity and usefulness I shall continue to recommend them—something I have never done before with any patent medicine.

J. J. BABCOCK,

Physician and Druggist.

I purchased five bottles of your Hop Bitters of Bishop & Co. last fall, for my daughter, and am well pleased with the Eliters. They did her more good than all the medicine she has taken for six years. The above is from a very reliable farmer, whose daughter was in poor health for seven or eight years, and could obtain no relief until she used Hop Bitters. She is now in as good health as any person in this country. We have large ales, and they are making remarkable cures.
