THE New York World has been making a study of election figures with interesting re-sults. The increase of vote in 1884 over 1880 was, in the total vote, 843,633; in the Demo-cratic vote, 468,982, and in the Republican vote, 298,281. In 1886 the total vote was 349,410 less than in 1880. But the Demo-349,400 less than in 1880. But the Democratic vote increased 20,176 in 1886 over 1880, and the Republican vote fell off 432,154. In 1886 the Democrate polled 448,806 less votes than in 1884, and the Republicans 831,435 less. The growth of the Prohibition strength is simply marvellous. From 5,008 in 1872 it increased to 151,671 in 1884, and to 268,738 lest year; an increase in 1886 of 117,667 over 1884. The Greenback party, which polled an imposing vote of 307,306 in 1880, has gone gradually down, until in 1886 it polled only gradually down, until in 1886 it polled only 99,466 votes all over the Union. EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, April 6, 1887.—George Steele, eq., president your letter lately addressed to me, and have given full consideration to the expression of the views and wishes therein contained in relation to the existing differences between the government of Great Britain and the United

I sincerely trust that the apprehension you express—of unjust and unfriendly treatment of American fishermen lawfully found in Canadian waters—will not be realized. But tardiness. The money to build the jail can it such apprehension should prove to be well founded, I earnestly hope that no fault or inconsiderate action of any of our citizens will in the least weaken the position of our government or deprive us of the universal guage basis, it would not sell the present sympathy and support to which we should be entitled.

An examination of this correspondence has doubtless satisfied you that in no case have the rights or privileges of American fishermen been overlooked or neglected, but that, on the contrary, they have been sedulously insisted upon and cared for by every means within the control of the executive branch of the government. This is the last day of Lent and for all se who have practiced a spirit of Lenten if-abnegation, its passing will be hailed with a joy that, if quiet, is none the less te. NO HALF WAY MEASURES.

The act of Congress, approved March 3, 1887, authorizing a course of retaliation through executive action, in the event of a continuation on the part of the British American authorities of unfriendly conduct and treaty violations affecting American fishermen, has devolved upon the president of the United States exceedingly grave and solemn responsibilities, comprehending highly important consequences to our national character and dignity, and involving extremely valuable intercourse between the British possessions of North America and the people of the United States.

I understand the main purpose to your letter is to suggest that, in case recourse to the retaliatory measures authorized by this act should be invited by unjust treatment of our fishermen in the future, the object of such retaliation might be fully secomplished by "prohibiting Camadian-caught fish from entry into the ports of the United States."

TO MAINTAIN NATIONAL HONOR. NO HALF WAY MEASURES. proved that the last condition of this faster adily, surely, Easter holds its rank with Christmas as one of the greatest holidays of the year. TO MAINTAIN NATIONAL HONOR.

To MAINTAIN NATIONAL HONGE.

The existing controversy is one in which two nations are the parties concerned. The retailation contemplated by the act of Congress is to be enforced, not to protect solely any particular interest, however, meritorious or valuable, but to maintain the national honor, and thus protect all our people. In this view the violation of American fishery rights and unjust or unriendly acts towards a portion of our citizens engaged in this business is but the occasion for action and constitutes a national affront which gives birth to or may justify retailation. This measure once resorted to its effectiveness and value may well depend upon the throughness and extent of application, and in the performance of international duties the enforcement of international rights and the protection of our citizens the government and the people of the United States must act as a unit, all intent upon attaining the best of retailation upon the basis of maintenance of national honor and duty.

MUST PAY THE PIPER. stival be celebrated with all the pomp The word most frequently used in all nes comments on the acts and utterances

MUST PAY THE PIPER. A nation seeking by any means to main-tain its honor, dignity and integrity is en-guged in protecting the rights of its people; and if in such efforts particular interests are injured and special advantages forfeited, these things should be patriotically borne for the public good.

the public good.

An immense volume of population, manufactures and agricultural productions, and the marine tonnage and railways to which these have given activity, all largely the result of intercouse between the United States and British America, and the natural growth of a full balf century of good neighborhood and friendly communication, form an aggregate of material wealth and incidental relations of most impressive magnitude. I fully appreciate these things and am not unmindful of the great number of our people who are concerned in such vast and diversified interests.

concerned in such vast and diversified interests.

In the performance of the serious duty which the Congress has imposed on me, and in the exercise upon just consist of the power conferred under the act referred to, I shall deem myself bound to inflict no unnecessary damage or injury upon any portion of our people; but I shall, nevertheless, be unfiltedingly guided by a sense of what the self-respect and dignity of the nation demand. In the maintenance of these and in the support of the honor of the government beneath which every dilign may repose in safety no secrifice of personal or private interests shall be considered as against the general welfare. The Building Completed In the Suburbs, of Groffstown-Some Account of This Industry in the County-Jacob F. Sheaffer to Hulld One Shortly on East King Street,

In years gone by there was a large num-ber of distilleries in this county and the whisky drank here was made here. One by one they have stopped operations, and this is due to numerous causes. At present there are but four distilleries in operation in the county, viz. : Burkholder's, at Lititz Henry Kauffman's, at Sporting Hill Christian Habecker's, at Penn, and Wiley Brothers, at Bainbridge. There are several breweries in this city where beer in large quantities is made, but there has been no distillery in operation since 1869, when the one owned by Frederick B. Pyle, on North Mulberry street, closed. By this time next week Lancaster will have bran-new distillery in fall blast. The proprietor of it is A. B. Shaeffer, the well-known North Queen street liquor man, who possesses a thorough knowledge of the busiiess, having operated distilleries before.

THE NEW DISTILLERY. The new distillery is situated in the extensive eastern part of the city, in what is known as Groffstown. It is about midway between the extension of East Orange street and the Groffstown road. Here Mr. Shaeffer purchased a valuable piece of ground from the estate of James Clark, and on it he has erected substantial new brick buildings. At this point, and within a few feet of the distillery building, is the famous Groffetown spring, which is a familiar place to most of the people of the city and especially those residing in the eastern part. It is one of the strongest springs to be found in the county and the water is of the best quality. The spring has its history and people in all conditions of life have quenched their thirst at it. It is said that when Lafayette visited Lancaster many years ago the cavalcade halted there for a time to partake of the cool waters. When the fairs were held on the Philadelphia pike, beyond the prison, all the water used was obtained at this spring. For years it has supplied the people in the neighborhood. Formerly a large tree aprend its branches over the spring, but it was cut down. Mr. Shaeffer has made great improve ments to the spring since his purchase of the property. It has been dug out and around i substantial stone and brick wall has been placed and a small house is now being built over it. The drain from it has also been walled up. From the spring the supply of water for use at the distillery will be obtained and it was probably owing to that advantage that this location was selected by Mr. Shaefler.

THE BUILDING DESCRIBED. The new distillery proper is a two-story building, and in size is 34x22 feet. The con-tractor for its erection was Andrew Metzger. It is supplied with a twenty-horse engine which was erected by A. C. Welchans, agen of the Erie City fron works, and all the latest improved machinery which was also put in by Mr. Welchans. Schaum & Son upplied the copper pipes, &c. The distillery has the necessary machinery, &c., to use 150 oushels of grain and turn out 600 gallons of whisky per day, but at the start gallons will be made each day. The distillery will be in charge of Aaron Reading, who has had years of experience in the manufacture of whisky. The liquor will be made from rye and malt only. HOW WHISKY IS MADE.

The mode of manufacturing whisky may be well-known to many persons, but it is safe to say that more know how to drink it than to make it. The grain from which the whisky is made at this distillery is kept on the second floor, from which it is run down to a mill, which is capatable of grinding 25 bushels per hour, on the first floor. After it is ground, it is carried by an elevator back to the second floor from which it runs back into the large mash tub, on the first floor, where malt and hot water are put in. It is then given a long stirring with a revolving iron rake. From the mash tub it is run into large fermenting tube in the cellar [six in number with a capacity of thirteen hundred gallons each.] Here it remains for several days and is from there run into a large well. From this it is pumped up to the second floor and into a tremendous still where it is boiled. From that it passes through a large crooked copper pipe known as the "Worm" and finally after running through the separator lands in the cistern room, where there are three large tuba. When the liquor is taken from these it is barreled and placed in the bonded

Mr. Shaeffer's warehouse is a new brick building 24x70 feet with a capacity of from 900 to 1,100 barrels. This building is separated from the distillery by the engine room. On the distillery lot there is a large trame building which was formerly used as a tobacco shed. It will be converted into a stable and cattle will be kept there and fed from the offall of the distillery by George W. Styer. TO BEGIN ON MONDAY.

The distillery will be in operation for certain on Monday morning next and in a week or two a visit to it will be made of much interest. John Sener, storekeeper under Collector McGonigle, will be assigned to duty at this distillery for the present. In the discharge of their duties the storekeepers are required to keep a strict account of all grain, &c., used each day in the manufacture of the liquor, and after it is made they must see that it is placed in the bonded warehouse to which they alone carries the keys, as well as those of the distillery. Unless a a revenue official is present no work can be done at any time. There is little doubt that Mr. Shaefler's venture will prove a success, and in a few years his new whisky will be decided upon a name for his new distillery. Another Distillery Going Up.

Jacob F. Shaeffer, who has a liquor store on Duke street, will also start a distillery and he is now erecting a building for that pur-pose on the south side of East King street, nearly opposite the prison. The distillery will be 24x26 feet in size. In the rear there will be an engine room, 16x20 and on the west side will be a retail room, 10x26. In the rear the bonded warehouse will be e ected. The contract for putting up the building has been awarded to Eisen & Wohlsen, who already have the foundation walls come famous. As yet Mr. Shaeffer has no

The thought maddened her so that she could not control herself, and reaching at the dailying waiter she knocked the tray out of his hand. The dishes went to the floor with a crash. Then she seized him by the ear and pulled him about in a sort of a war dance, which did not end until her personal attendants succeeded in pacifying her. Frightened out of his wits by the unexpected onslaught the waiter made an attempt to pick up the scattered pieces of china. This made the actress still more angry, and now thoroughly worked into a passion, she ordered the waiter and every body else out of the apartments.

From Life to Death

is but a moment if rheumatism or neuralgia is but a moment if rheumatism or neuralgia strikes the heart. The diseases are the most painful and the most dangerous of any to which human kind is liable. They fly from one part to another without a moment's warning, and lini-ments and other outward applications are in themselves dangerous because they are liable to drive the disease to some vital organ and cause drive the disease to some vital organ and cause instant death. Rheumatism and neuralgis are diseases of the blood, and can only be reached by a remedy which will drive from the blood the dangerous acids. Such a remedy is Athlophoros. It has been thoroughly tested and is a safe, sure

SPRUCE CREEK, PA., Oct 5, 1883.

In answer to your request to know what your Athlophores has done for me, I will say it has done wonderful work. I have suffered from rheumatism for eighteen years more or less and sometimes not able to put my clothes on or est alone. I took all kinds, doctored with a good many doctors, but nothing did me any good. I read your advertisement in the "Democrat" and "Sentinel" papers of Lewistows. I have taken in all four bottles. I feel no pain. I was drawn crooked, but now I am straight once more. Thank you for the good it has done me. Athlophoros is the medicine.

PHILIP HARPSTER. SPRUCE CREEK, PA., Oct. 5, 1885.

Your medicine has cured me of neuralgia. suffered with it for three days, and it gave m instant relief. WM. F. KINCH.

PALMYRA, N. Y., August 19, 1886. I used one bottle of Athlophoros for neuralgis after being laid up eight weeks. The result was very satisfactory. R. S. Eddt.

Every druggist should keep Athiophores and Athiophores Fills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athiophores Co., No. 113 Wall street, Hew York, will send either (our riage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athiophores and $60. for File.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, in-digestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impuse-bloof, &c., Athlophoros Pilis are unequaled, apré-lwood
