the most during burglaries known by her a long time was perpetrated hour this morning when the Wilbert, on North Mulberry street, Benry H. Rohrer was "cracked." was done in an artistic and burmenner. The thieves effected an into the house from the yard in the hoy Seat tried to pry the door of the room with a Jimmy or chisel but most was the door was badly splingly and the property. They then went it would not give. They then went the state of the s al. The shutters were forced and the entches on the bottom were som the window sill. The window latch and was an easy matter for the thieves to enter, which they did, gover a sewing machine standing the of the window. The burgiar ena front bed room which was occupied O'Bryan, the well-known watch s of the Pennsylvania railroad, who boarder at the hotel. The

The burglar had no trouble there. A of pantaloons belonging to Mr. O'Bryan rifled and $1.75 in money was taken found on the stairway. From the stairway found the stairway from the burglar went into that tet. The pantaloons were after by Mr. and Mrs. Robrer, where he have been for some time. Mrs. Rohrer nelly awakened by the noise, and she the thief enter the spare room, which is to the bed room. She aroused her hus who jumped out of bed and lighted the The thief was still in the spare room, but kly ran down stairs, back through the ning-room and out of the kitchen door, nich he unlocked from the inside. As he down stairs he was heard stumbling over irs, and he cried, " Don't come down on you s — — or I will shoot on." Mr. Rohrer went down stales but it - or I will shoot s too late, as the burgiar had escaped. An was then made of the premises.

Mr. Robrer found that his cost and vest, ch had been hanging over a chair in his om, were gone. In these there was almost to in notes and silver. The silver was rapped in paper with the amounts on each taken. The notes were in a pocketbook. ug was afterwards found on Arch ley, near the Edison electric light works, was returned to Mr. Rohrer. The conhad been carried off. A revolver, which was in the bureau drawer in Mr. Robrer's m, was also stolen by the thief. On the floor of the barroom a heavy chair leg bout two feet in length was found. It had tobably been in the hands of the burglar hile he was upstairs and he dropped it i his flight. A bottle containing some whisky on the sewing machine near the kitcher window and the stopper was lying on the

SECURED A HUNDRED DOLLARS,

The police have been informed of the bery, but as yet have made no arrests of suspected parties. From the er in which the work done it is burgery was well acquainted with the sizes. Although there was but one man in the house he undoubtedly had a comon or two, who watched upon the outaide while he did the work. The thieves first entered the yard of Benjamin Dorwart, residing next door to the hotel on the south side. Here the foot marks of more than one person are plainly visible in the soft ground as well as on a pile s which stand near the fence. It was at this point that the thieves escaped over the ice, and made their way into Rohrer's yard. The chair leg which was found in the barroom had been taken from Dorwart's yard. Mr. Rohrer's dog, a rather noisy Scotch ter rier, was tied in the yard near the alley gate leading to Mulberry street, and close the point where the thieves scaled the fence. The animal was found dead this morning, and as there were no marks of violence upon him, it is believed hat he was given a dose of poison by the thieves before they began their operations It was probably very fortunate for Mr. Robrer and family that they were not awakened earlier than they were as the thief had the revolver, the only weapon in the house, in his possession besides the chair leg and he would unonbtedly have committed murder if pressed to the wall.

Shortly after Mr. and Mrs. Rohrer had con awakened they looked at the clock and ound that the hands pointed to half past hree. Between four and five o'clock this morning as Walter Costello, a track walker of the Pennsylvania railroad between Dillerwille and Rohrerstown, was walking along the milroad near the Little Conestoga bridge he met two men. He was coming east and the men were going toward Columbia. As soon as they saw him they ran across the fields to the Marietta pike. Costello thought little of the matter at the time, but it is now believed that they are the fellows who committed the burglary. One of the men wore a slouch hat, and the other a cap and both had overcosts on. Both were of medium size. Two men answering these descriptions had been in this city for some time past. They were strangers, and were seen together frequently. They were in the Ninth ward yesterday, and the man Penn during the day. He was also in Dickel's grocery store, at James and Mulberry streets.
The belief is that he was then looking for place to break in.

Back in the House of Refuge. Flora Foust, the girl who was arrested in this city yesterday, was taken to Philadel-phia last evening by Chief of Police Smith. Flora persistently denied that she was the girl wanted, or that she had ever been in the House of Refuge. She pretended to be un-acquainted, and did not know where the ination was. As soon as she was inside of the building the folks in charge identified her. The girl had been an inmate of the House of Refuge, but was indentured to a man residing at Lenni Mills, Delaware county. She ran away from his home neveral months ago, and was probably in this city for some weeks.

The young men interested in the organization of a hook and ladder company have determined to push the matter. An organiza-tion will be effected in a few days, and an attempt made to secure the requisite funds to purchase apparatus.

The Young Folk's association, of the Second street Lutheran church will hold a meeting this evening at the residence of Mrs. A. E. Weish, on Chestnut street. An interesting literary programme has been arranged for the evening. An iron railing has been put up by Meesra. Heckel & Paine in the opera house on the stairways leading from the gallery to the first floor. This is a necessary improve-

The first shad caught at the dam was se cured yesterday afternoon at the battery owned by a Wrightaville party. The town fishermen are ready to begin operations. The growth of the town during the past few years has caused a desire that a census of the borough should be taken. During the past year the matter received the attention of council and was in charge of a committee. By reason of those member's terms expiring, the matter was dropped. The subject will again be brought up at a future meeting of the council. A very large audience was in the opera last night to see "The Mountain Pink" presented by the Melville Sisters' Dramatic ompany. At the close of the performance, a silver basket was won by John Murray, holding ticket 2,744. To-night "Haze

ITS OPANING CONCERT. The Young People's Society of United Effort

Entertains an Audience. The first grand concert, with readings, under the auspices of the "Young People's Society of United Effort," was given Thursday evening at First Presbyterian church. The attendance was large, the programme well selected, and the amateur performers rendered their several pieces very satisfactorily. There was a full orchestra in attendance and one of Beethoven's fine overtures was given. Miss Bechtold and Prof. Wm. B. Hall sang solos very sweetly, and Mr. Aumman gave a declamation with good elecutionary effect, A quartette and several other selections were sung by the young people, all of which were highly appreciated. The object of the society is the promotion of general church work, especially among the younger members of the congre gation.

Ten and Cuffee Sociable. Last evening a tea and coffee sociable under the auspices of the Ladies Aid society of the First Reformed congregation was given in the church. There was quite a large crowd in attendance and coffee, ice crean and other refreshments were dispensed by the ladies who were kept busy attending to their many customers. This evening the affair will be repeated.

An Officer Accidentally Breaks a Window, Last evening two dogs began fighting in front of Dr. Long's drug store at Manor and West King streets. Officer Kiminger, who was near, separated them and after he had walked away from them some distance they again began. The officer threw a stone at them which struck the pavement and bounded through one of the large panes of glass in the window of the drug store. The fficer had the necessary repairs made at Last Evening's Cremation. The cremation of the body of John C. Kunkle took place last evening. The exercises were private, the only persons present, besides the attaches of the crematorium, being George Kunkel, brother of the deceased, John H. Ziegler and Dr. Marshall, of Harrisburg. This morning the ashes were taken from the furnace and sent to Shippenaburg, where they will be interred in the casket that brought the body here.

THIS IS ARBOR DAY.

The Exercises at the High School Make th Chief Public Dem A great many people are quietly celebrat-ing Arbor Day, to-day, by planting fruit trees and vines in their yards and gardens, and shade trees in front of their residences. The urserymen have done a very good business for a week past, and have disposed of thouands of trees to citizens of the town and rural districts. The only public exercises in this city were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the girls' high school room, the pupils and teachers of the boys' high school being present and par-ticipating in the exercises. Many directors Following is the programme of exercises.

Rev. C. E. Houpt read a very pretty written addresss on the "Trees of the Bible." He took his hearers along with, in imagination, and showed them the land of Palestine as it was a thousand years before the Christian era, and he threaded its beautiful valleys, its rising hills and lofty mountains, described its picturesque scenery, and about its fertile fields, and fruit trees and forests. He described many of these trees, among them the sloes, the lotus, the sycamore, the plane trees, the dole paim, the apricot, peach and plum, the cleander, the locust, Abraham's oak, the white willow, white poplar, the mulberry, lemon and the lofty cedars of Lebanon.

Many of these trees were symbolized as types of human character, as were also the llies of the valley, star of Bethlehem, the tulips, daisies and other beautiful flowers with which the hills and valleys were crowned. He discribed the Palestine of to day as being in many respects a desolate wilderness, and gave as a principal reason therefore the cutting away of the woods and forests, which had resulted in drying up the streams, wasting away the soil, and preventing the growing of crops. He held that Palestine might be renewed and again become a land of fertility by the planting of trees and the sowing of proper

JOHN P. ANGERT'S TRIAL A Shooting Affair That is Now Being Investigated in Washington.

The Washington criminal court was occupied Thursday in the trial of John P. Angney for assault with intent to kill John H. Wilmot in November, 1882, at the St. Marc hotel, in that city. A considerable number of witnesses were examined for the prosecu-tion, but nothing new was shown in the case. A very great deal of feeling was shown, the defendant's attorneys trying to show while Wilmot was on the stand that he had been guilty of many misdemeanors and was un worthy of credence. The police officers were then examined, as was the colored waiter and others, but the testimony for the prosecution was not concluded.

Wilmot was a resident of Columbia in 1874 and married there. Anguey is also well-known there. The trial began on Wednesday and Wilmot testified that on Saturday even ing, November 25, 1882. Angney walked into home of witness in Washington and shook hands with him, saying he had just got in town, and after some talk he brought ip the subject of a letter he had written. Anguey said he had been to see his friends to do him a special favor, but had failed, and he had come to him (Wilmot) as a last resort that he had an opportunity to go to Colorado if he could give bonds in $1,000. Inviting him to the St Marc's to see his papers, they went down and took a drink on the way. They went to the upper floor and after Anguey had lighted the gas witness went in and was handed a chair, which he took. Angney went to the satchel and the colored boy came in with the drink. Anguey handed witness a paper, which had no con nection with the matter he had spoken of, and he told him so. Angney then went back, saying he would find the paper, and the next he heard was the report of the pistol, one ball entering witness' back.

Prospering under the pressure of an increasing patronage, dazed with delight over cur success, driving the wheels of trade over a smooth and glided track, opening up this spring's trade with a blaze of triumphant glory, w. E. ARE THE PIONEERS FOR LOW PRICES and the GUIDING STARS FOR SQUARE AND HONE-TDEALING. No discouraging obstacles in our path to impede the progress of a live and snapping bosiness. Business men wonder at our growing success and deserving popularity. We show no stale goods at high profit prices. We are friends to the public and loss to high profit competition. Our aim is to benefit the people by offering bargains. Bayers are always delighted and surprised when they come to oustors and find Coffees marked 12k, 15, 18, 10, 22 and 23 cents, and last, but not least, Clarke's Famous Combination Coffee, only 25c. E. Guaranteed to be BETTER than any 25c. Coffee SULD IN THIS CIT I OR COUNTY. Sold only at
