A Steady Head at the Helm. country has a great deal of faith in Cooley and his presence, at the head inter-state commission, gives much oe that its conduct will be effective ntrolling the evils it was rai ed to L His action upon the commission iven strength to this feeling. The comre it takes them. It has not fusive in offering its opinions or rash ring its decisions. The chairman howbe advised that the commission takes no tin the idea that the law is going to k injury to trade interests. He has very nounced the undertaking of the de to prejudice public opinion ainst it, by raising their rates and berging it to the law; and embarrassing wed, with a pretense that the law does it.

Judge Cooley has just written a letter to ary Bayard to allay the apprehension of a United States commercial agent in Canada, who complained that the law was going to ruin trade. The judge, in solits but plain terms, advises the secremay that his commercial agent is a goose, and has fears which are wholly unjustified and will never be realized. It is clear enough that with the disposi on of the commission and the sound sense ch governs it, the law will be so construed as to effect the object which every one knows it had, namely to promote busiintere ta by depriving the railroads of arbitrary power over them and by giving Tan and every place an even chance prysper. The law was purposely drawn ut perfect definiteness, and deliberstely left to the commission the decision of many things according to the exigency of the case and in view of the develop ments of the law's working. It was known that a very delicate sub ject was to be handled and that cast iron rules could not be laid down for it in advance. The commission was created with power to deal with the issues and to control the railroads; and the measure of the control was left largely to its

The good or evil working of the law deands evidently upon the commission, and t was for this reason that the selection of dge Cooley as its head gave so much action, because he had earned a high repute as a judge and railroad elyer, and had the knowledge, capacity and temperament particularly adapting him to the difficult place that he consented to fill at a large sacrifice of pecuniary inter-The other members of the commission are good seconds to him and we may confidently expect from it the calm consideration, fair conclusions and energetic action needed to make its function what it cought to be. It is its mission to make the railroads of their normal benefit to the public; and to stop the administration of them against the public interest.

The Local Political Situation.

The INTELLIGENCER will on Monday blish an exhaustive review of the ent political situation in Republican in this county. The primary election which takes place next Saturday is very important to the people of the county the responsible offices of sheriff, prothonotary, register and county commisare to be filled. The nominees ben chosen are pracifically elected because of the enormous preponderance of the Reblican vote in this county. At great exsee and with much labor, the INTELLI-SENCER has obtained special advices from all points of the county, giving close ates of the results next Satand showing how the political tide is running. These advices are nearly all from well-posted Democrats who, occupying a neutral posi-ion, are well qualified to judge between the contending hosts. Where Democratic riess could not be obtained conservative ablicans, not allied with factional conwere questioned. Last year's foreof the situation by the INTELLIGEN. ER was a most accurate one, as subsement events proved. This year extra Maris have been made to secure reliable some in the highest degree interesting.

in the Married matter upon the part of the government it was not his, as he shows hat the case was negreti long after he left office. Mr. Brewster takes constion to say very warm words in laudation of the integrity and ability of Solicitor General Phillips, who served with him, and of Solicitor General Jenks General Jenks who is now in fice, which every one knows to be well

There are no better men in the country and it is quite certain that everything was done that should have been done by them. Mr. Brewster tells us, what is not generally known, that the solicitor general is the law offices of the government who appears before the supreme court preparing and ar-guing the cases of the government. The attorney general only appears before the court on special occasion ns by particular request of some officer of the government. He seems to be too bright a light to dazzle the court daily.

Chicago's Troublous Condition. The news from Chicago, unless greatly exaggerated, forbodes violent times in that excitable city. For years the bricklayers and carpenters have, by the strength of a well organized union, had things almost entirely in their own hands, and their use of this power has of late been so tyrannical that it has justified the formation of an equally strong union of the master builders, and an attempt by them to regain the supremacy.

The master masons and builders and the brick manufacturers have established an embargo on building material with the avowed purpose of preventing any building in Chicago until the question of their supremacy is settled. The carpenters and bricklayers are equally determined, but they seem to be the under dogs in the fight, as their unions have not the funds ready to support their men long in idle-

The men who are primarily responsible for this dangerous state of things are the hot-headed leaders of the labor unions, who, feeling themselves the masters of a little power, made reckless and despotic use of it in dictating the details of every building operation is the city. The unions had by long continued effort gained a position of great strength and in proper hands they might have used it for the good of laboring men of the whole city; but instead they have only proved that in bad hands the power of united labor can be as oppressive as the power of united capital.

In a few days there will be fifty thousand or more of idle men in the streets of Chicago and it is a little too much to expect of human nature that they will quietly acknowledge that they have been outwitted. It is more than likely that in such an army a fair percentage of cranks [will be found who will start a disturbance that may grow to a riot; and if there is not violence in Chicago, it will be a good evidence that by experience labor is learning that self control in these emergencies is half the battle.

THERE are sixty-seven Republican candi dates for office in this county at the present

THE chief of the bureau of statistics, has submitted to the secretary his report on the exports of breadstuffs for April. It shows an crease of $574,491 in the values of exports for the month over the same month of last year, an increase of $36,647,127 for the ten months ending April 30, over the ten months ending April 30, 1886. Comparing the flour and wheat exports of these two periods, we find an increase of nearly forty-eight millions, but a decrease of corn exports of about ten millions, and of oats a decrease of nearly two millions. This shows how much our prosterritory develops this must become more and more the test of our prosperity. As long we can find a market for it abroad, and as long as the land continues to yield its present wonderful crop, that staple will emain our chief means of holding the trade balance with Europa.

It hoped that our manufactured products may in time have their fair share in the world's commerce, but our geography indisition will always depend most largely. The great lakes and the great rivers tapping a re-gion of unsurpassed agricultural wealthshould guarantee cheap transportation and make New Orleans and the lake cities the chief granaries of the civilized world.

A recent statement of the statistician of the agricultural department places the wheat crop of the world in 1886 at 2,031,322 285 bush els, of which all Europe produced 1,177,036, 148 bushels.
France produced nearly three hundred millions of bushels, and Russic only two hundred and fourteen million. India could muster but two hundred and fifty-eight million bushels, so that it is evident half grown America will in time furnish bread for them all, for her share in 1886 was 457,218,000.

PLUCKY WILLIAM O'BRIEN has been in formed by Lord Lanedowne that he may have full liberty of speech in Canada. Let the band play.

REV. DR. HOWARD CROSBY, who is a well known high license advocate in New York, approves this plan of treating the drink problem in the metropolis on Sunday Thousands of families in our city are ac customed to drink draught beer at their midday meal, and there is no reason why they should be deprived of it on Sunday any more than the rest of us should be deprived of our milk, which also, as a perishable article, is brought to us on Sunday. And this can be done by allowing the sale of draught beer only and for two hours only (from 12 to 2 o'clock) and not to be drunk on the premises. These restrictions should be made stringent with heavy penalties for their breach." ear the doctor means well, but don't know.

JEFF DAVIS told a Meridian, Miss., audience: "United you are now, and if the Union is ever to be broken let the other side break it." Truly the war is over.

SECRETARY BAYARD, having sent to the inter-state commission a letter from the U. S. commercial agent at London, Onta-io, representing the disastrous effects that were following from the inter-state commerce law, Judge Coolley, the head of the commission, writes to the secretary under date of May 9th, saying that he feels confident that the commercial agent's fears of disastrous results are excessive and will not to any great extent be realized. He says that his letter shows that "the consequences which he attributes to the law flow from the construction railrost manlaw flow from the construction railrost managers have put upon it, and which may or may not be correct. In a recent visit of the commission to the Southwest it was made very apparent in the testimony taken that some persons were excited by fears of the destruction of their business, which had no other basis than views of the law which were so erromeous that it would seem they ought not to be entertained by any one. I cannot help thinking that equally unfounded views have had much to do with the disturbance of trade of which Mr. Washington speaks, and that as these are corrected the disturbances will become comparatively unimpertant. I shall remain in that belief until further experience of the law shall show its care."

To show that Mr. O'Brien to in dead carnets in his Canadian trip it is only necessary to read the following extract from his Montreal speech:

But our great leader, Mr. Parnell, has enid he will never again beg the would for alms for Irish landlordism. We are now begging, not for aims, but to enable us to uproot that whole system of Irish landlordism. We do not come to sek you for £20,000 for charity any more, but to ask you to consider what use Lanadowne is making of the £20,000 a year which you give him, or which you enable him to get; and if that be put to a bad and inhuman use, we sak you to convey your censure of Lord Lanadowne, as you have a perfect right to do as the free citizens of a self-governing nation. Your Parliament passed resolutions in favor of home rule and strengthened the hands of Mr. Gladatone in his blessed work of conciliation and peace, and a thrill of gratitude went through Ireland the other day when the same body passed resolutions candemning the abominable coercion bill, which proposes to reduce our people to the coercion of negro slaves. The object of the coercion of negro slaves. The object is to render it safe for every rackrenter to desolate the home of Ireland as Lord Lanadowne has desolated the home of Luggacurran. Its object is to gag us if we don't lie down and submit to it like whipped hounds. If you don't want us to go down in the tight against powerful and cruel foes, if you want us to conquer, now is the day and now is the hour. The day you send Lord Lanadowne home with the stamp of Canadian disaffection on his brow, you will enable us to laugh at coercion and strengthen the arms of Gladatone, to put an end to evictions for all time.

Many of Mr. Garland's friends do not hesitate to say that he has been almost discourteous to the president and his fellow-members of the cabinet by his total abstinence from the social duties that each resulter of the president's lungs gireless. each member of the president's inner circles of solviners should shoulder. THE QUEEN OF ROUMANIA fell into a throne by falling down stairs. When there was no kingdom of Roumania in existence she had laughingly said: "I do not want to marry unless I can be queen of Roumania." Running down the palace stairs at Berlin one day her foot slipped, and she would probably have been killed, but for Prince Charles of Hohenzollern, who saw her danger and caught her in his outstretched arms. When Roumania chose him for a ruler he claimed the princess as his bride.

CAUSES GEBAT ANXIETY.

The European Populace of Egypt Fear the Withdrawal of British Occupation.

LONDON, May 14.—A dispatch receive from Cairo last night gives a graphic picture of the state of consternation into which the European residents of lower Egypt have been thrown by the announcement that Six Henry Drummond Wolff has concluded Henry Drummond Wolff has concluded a convention with the sultan of Turkey settling the question of British occupation of Egypt. The terms of the sgreement are, of course, not known, but a deep-seated feeling pervades through commercial centres of Egypt that they involve the evacuation of that country by English troops and the unconditional surrender of the future of Egypt into the hands of the sultan's vasses, the khedive. To the resident of Egypt during the last ten years the inevitable result of British withdrawal and the consequent resumption of the old system, or able result of British withdrawal and the con-sequent resumption of the old system, or lack of system, in the conduct of Egyptian affairs, presents itself in the shape of a mili-tary revoit, a general exodus of Europeans and the financial ruin of everybody having anything to lose. The actual terms of the new agreement are awaited with great sox-iety, but the general opinion is that any change from the present state of things must result disastrously to European residents and investors Strike—Brickinyers, Carpenters and Mascons.

CHICAGO, May 14.—The great Building Trades' lock out went into partial operation this morning. Nearly all the brickinyers and a large proportion of the carpenters find themselves out of employment. It is estimated that there are 20,000 idle men in the city this movining. The Master Mascons' association has secured the support of a majority of the material men, architects and real estate brokers. Some material men in each line still hold out and bricks, lime and lumber will be procurable by such contractors as decide to keep at work. All the buildings in charge of members of the association have decide to keep at work. All the buildings in charge of members of the association have been put in condition to stand a long siege. Meetings are being held this morning by the builders' and traders' exchange and by the brickleyers' union. It is expected the brickleyers will respond to the lock-out tactics by ordering all their men to go on a strike until recognition of the union, Saturday and other demands are conceded to, or until the differences are settled by arbitration.

REPEARD TO TREAT. The Raier of Merocco Will Not Notice Eng

The Buier of Merocco Will Not Notice England, France and Germany.

London, May 14.—The refusal of Muley Hassan, suitan of Morocco, to sign commercial treaties with England, France and Germany led to the appointment of a British commissioner to visit Morocco with a view of overcoming that monarch's objections as far as England was concerned and the news of his arrival at the suitan's capitol was received at the foreign office yesterday. The reason given by the suitan for his refusal was that the abuses arising from the practice of giving foreign protection to natives were so numerous and fisgrant that the provisions of a treaty could not be carried out until the abuses were discontinued. Until they were removed he would entertain no proposal for treaties. The powers of the British commissioner extend beyond the negotiation and conclusion of a commercial treaty and include the reformation of the boundary lines of Morocco with a view to the surrounding Gibraltz with additional safeguards and preventing encreachments upon the interests of that stronghold. Should the sultan refuse to enter into negotiations respectinging these subjects it is intimated that insistance will be made of sufficient strength to induce him to comply.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., May 14.—The Walling mill in Milibury, Mass., run by James Walton & Co., was burned this morning. The total loss is estimated at $80,000, well insured. The mill was owned by the Millibury Savings bank. About $5 hands are thrown out of employment.

A fire broke out early this morning on the steamer Empire State laid up at Bristol, R. I. and spread so rapidly that in a short time the vessel was wholly wrapped in flames. The round house and car sheds of the Providence, Bristol & Warren railroad near by are in danger, and the cars have been drawn out.

A fire broke out at Needham, Mass., at midnight less night and destroyed the railroad depot and Odd Fellows' hall. The loss is $38,000.

Large Flour Mill Destroyed.

LAPAYETTE, Ind., May 14.—The Planet mills, owned by Frey & Landis, were totally destroyed by fire last night. The mill was four stories high, carried eight double sets of rollers and was one of the finest in the state. The loss includes 3,000 bushels of wheat and 800 barrels of flour. The fire originated in the third floor, among the machinery and its cause is unknown. The loss is estimated at $40,000 on mill and machinery and $10,000 on stock; insurance $20,000.
