What Hart the Dog.

For the past few day a dog belonging to Mr. S. S. Detwiler has been acting in a very strange manner and the owner thought the animal was sick. A veterinary surgeon was called to examine the dog and found a rub ber band around its neck. The band had worn the fisch in a painful manner and was the cause of the trouble.

North Second street is the scene of great activity in the building line. East of Cedar, on this street, twenty-four brick dwellings are now in course of erection within one square. When Linden and Cedar streets are opened to Third and Third street extended to Linden, this portion of the town will Officer W. C. Prie's Assallants Arrested Yesterday Railroad Officers Gifbert and lames Kennedy went to Landieville, near which place they arrested Jacob and Joseph term, two of the men who are charged with having committed an assault on Officer Wash Pyle, on the care of the Pennsylvania railcoad last Saturday evening. Jacob is the man who struck Pyle and upon whose wrists a pair of bandcuffs were afterwards put. He admits that he struck Pyle, but says that he did not use a billy or any other weapon. He used his fists. He further says that after Pyle had been attacked the second time, at Dillerville, he (Sterm), his brother and several others walked home. They stopped at a blacksmith shop on the way and filed off the handcuffs which were on his arms. Sterm cays that he was very drunk when the fracas occurred. The two men gave ball for a hear-ing on next Tuesday evening before Alderman McConomy.

Two Accidents to Boys.

This morning David Muleheiser, residing at Monterey, drove to Lancaster with a load of tobacco. His two little boys accompanied him. They were riding on the wagon and, in crossing the Pennsylvania railroad, David, age ten years, was joited from the wagon. He fell under it and one wheel passed over his left leg. The boy was picked up and taken to the office of Dr. George A. King, who attended him. It was found that the large bone of the left leg was broken. After it had set the boy left for home with his father.

While the boy with the broken leg was in Dr. King's office John Lamparter, son of Jacob Lamparter, came in with a fish book in his lip. He had been out to the creek and in trying to throw his line in caught himself. The hook was taken out without much diffi-

THE AT A PRESE ABOV.

A jew days age three young fellows opened a fresh show next door to the postedios. Almong the attractions is a negro who, with so much paint as a Sudebaker w g m, is made up to look like a Zulu. The alligator boy, a queer looking object, may be made of wood, india rutber, or some other material. There is also a pair of puppets and a strong man. There is a good deal of difference of opinion as to the merits of the show. This of opinion as to the merits of the show. This morning a lively trade was done, and am those who entered was John Kennard, resident of this city. He looked at the curios ties, and when seked by some one what he thought of the show, he said he thought that it was of very little account, and be believed the Zulu to be a very common nigger. This roused the ire of the painted man who overbeard the remark, and he ordered Kennard out, at the same time blowing a whistle, which brought the other attaches of the show to him. They again ordered Kennard to leave the room but he refused, saying that he had paid his entrance money. He was then men struck him in the face with a cane Alderman Spurrier's and made compl against the men. They were arrested and he white men gave their names as Ed. F. Houston and Joseph F. Posten. The darkey insisted upon a hearing at once, which wa had. The alderman decided to hold the men to court. They were unable to give bal so they compromised with the prosecutor and was discharged upon payment of costs which amounted to something like $15. It was a rather high-priced experiment for them

Return of a Captured Sword.

There is now on exhibition at the store J. W. Isenberger, on North Queen street, the sword which was captured at the battle of Chickamauga, September, 16th, 18t3, from the late Captain John C. Shroad. Captain Shroad, Mr. Isenberger, John O'Brieter and Augustus Bryton, (the last three named are still living in this city), were members of prisoners at this battle. With a musket at als breast, Captain Shroad was with death if he did not surrender his sword. He first refused, but finally turned it over The man who captured it was Captain James P. Spear, now residing in Snow Hill, Wilcox county, Alabama. Some time ago he notified Mr. Shroad's family that he would turn over the sword to them, which he had just done

"Raltimore Joe" Wants Work

"Baltimore Jos" was recessed from the work-house this morning, after serving a entence of 30 days. Joe says that he is tired of being locked up. He likes Lancaster and could get a job he would be glad to work. He says that if some one will but give im a chance they will not be sorry for it. As long as he is not doing anything he is liable to fall in with bad company and again be locked up. Joe shows big blisters on his hands which were worn there while cracking stones in the work-house. The officers wh had charge of the prisoners speak in highest terms of Joe's honesty and good behavio while there. Joe thinks if people were as quick to give him a helping hand as officers re to arrest him he would do much better. He says he would like to have a trial, anyhow.

The Cunning of a Thief.

Two weeks ago we gave an account of how a chicken thief who visited Preston's hennery on Second street, lost a finger and thumb in attempting to open the door. Last Wednesday night the coop was again visited. This time the thief was evidently acquainted with the premises. He did not try the door but gained entrance just the same. The next morning four fine Plymouth Rock hens were missing. Improvements were at once made on the chicken house, and if again visited, we will, no doubt, get a first class

TELLIGENCER of the suit begun by the heirs of Jacob Deliaven against the government for $4,000,000, the New Holland Clarion says If the above statement is correct, it may be a matter of interest to the members of the Deliaven family in this locality. We are intermed that the late Abraham Dellaven, father of George Dellaven, of this place, frequently spoke of this claim, when it was agitated about 1860, and claimed to be a decendant, but he was then far advanced in sge and did not do much in the matter.

- TRE PRIMARIES IN PROGRESS

The political managers have been busy the past twenty-four hours in arranging the closing details for the annual "carnival of fraud," If any one for a moment supposed that John H. Landis' anti-Corruption society prevented he use of mony illegally, that doubt would have been removed, if the movements of the ward bosses had been closely watched for half an hour before the polls opened, and up to the hour when we went to press,

The fine weather indicates a large vote. How the several wards were organized ap-In the First ward Wm. K. Beard is judge, C. F. Eberman and William Hartman inspec tors, Harry Rathfen and Al Rauch clerks. All are for Hartman. Philip Baker is lead-

In the Fifth ward Major Fasnacht (Hartman) defeated Frank Remley for judge by dozen votes.

In the Sixth ward there was a tremendous crowd, composed largely of heelers. The whole Hartman ticket was chosen without opposition as follows: Judge, Eph. Shaub inspectors, William Brown and Walter Samson; clerks, Ed. Bitner and Frank Calder. George Prentiss, a Democrat, was arrested for interfering and taken to the sta-

In the Ninth ward the crowd was large and several counts were necessary. Jas. 1rvin, (a Mentzer) was elected judge, with Weilington Rhodes and Jacob Amwake, ir., who are for Mentzer, inspectors, and Ira Kendig and Len Myers, clerks. In the Seventh ward there was no organ!-

Brothers Pight Over a Corner Martin Conners was taken to the county all in Rahway, N. J. He was arrested for disorderly conduct in the house where the dead body of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Alfred Conners, lay in the coffin. There has long been trouble in the family over some proper-ty and money left Mrs. Conners by her hus-band, Alfred Conners, when he died. Mar-tin immediately, upon hearing of his sisterin-law's death, went to the house and, it is alleged, exclaimed to the friends of the dead woman, "Now, perhaps I'll be allowed to do as I like here!" Then he began to pack up things, and at the same time ordered the things, and at the same time ordered the people to leave the house.

All this occurred quite over the body of his dead brother's wife. Daniel Conners, another brother, stepped up and ordered his brother to leave the house and a herce fight ensued. Everything in the room was upset, and the ceffin was saved from being turned over only by the efforts of several of those present. The candles about the head were crushed and the stools knocked from under the casket. The brothers fought thus for be casket. The brothers fought thus fo over a half hour, each receiving bad cuts and bruisea. Daniel succeeded, however, in ejecting his brother from the house and a warrant was afterwards issued.

Rev. W. O. Pearson preached the convention sermon of the diocesan council of the Episcopal church Thursday evening in Omaha, Neb., and caused a sensation. He said that attempts had been made in the name of Catholicity to foist upon the church a doctrine of Christ himself upon the altar in the form of bread and wine by those who fail to see that it it were really true that Christ's body and blood were upon the altar, the worship of them would be a blasphemous denial of the incarnation and an idolatry more awful than any that could be appeared. Omaha, withdrew, saying that the speaker had insulted members of the congregation by branding as idolatrous points of belief held by them as the most sacred features of religious life. As individuals congress public judgment. As individuals congress-inen have intelligent convictions, are capable, conscientious men, but as congressmen they do not attempt to form or direct the public mind. They respond to your will.
